Murder Suspect Under Arrest in Calgary, Can.

BRUMFIELD CONFESSES IDENTITY

Roseburg Dentist Found on Farm; Unmailed Letter Relates "Accident;" Will Give Out No Statement.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

CALGARY (Alta.) Aug. 12. C. M. Brumfield, the missing dentist of Roseburg, Or., wanted there on a charge of murdering Dennis Russell last July 14, under the alleged camouflage of a wrecked motor car which left a badly mutilated past recognition, for the supposed motive of having it appear that it was Brumfield's body, is believed to have been arrested here today.

The man, whom city detectives and Northwest mounted police are certain is Dr. Brumfield, was arrested in a cell here tonight. He was found south of Calgary, where working as a farm hand under the name of Norman Whitney.

He was traced through an unmailed letter he is said to have written Mrs. Norman Whitney in Roseburg, Or., from Lake Louise, where he had been ploughing and threshing. When Detective Sergeant Reed of the mounted police and Detectives Richardson of the Calgary police confronted him he is said to have quietly pale, then, without waiting to be told out his arms for handcuffs.

Turning to the officers, he admitted promptly he was Dr. Brumfield.

"I have no statement to make," he said.

The unmailed letter, believed to have been written by him, telling of a visit to Dr. Brumfield took near Roseburg with another man in the car. The letter said the car was wrecked and "the other man died" after which the wreck was set on fire. Then, the paper said, Brumfield changed clothes with the body of the "accident" and left the country.

PORTLAND (Or.) Aug. 12.—On the morning of July 14 the wrecked and partially burned automobile of Dr. J. E. Brumfield, a Roseburg dentist, was found a short distance from Roseburg, where the car apparently crashed down an embankment.

Beneath the automobile was a charred and bruised corpse which a coroner's jury later identified as that of Dennis Russell, a laborer, whom Brumfield was alleged to have employed to cut out stumps. The body was identified as that of Russell, who was killed by having been struck on the head with dynamite, which the doctor was known to have used for blasting stumps.

Brumfield's wife positively identified the body as that of her husband, but Sheriff C. W. Starmer of Douglas county, stuck to the theory that Russell was the victim and has since maintained an active search for Brumfield.

Burch Adept With Shotgun, Says Friend.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

CHICAGO, Aug. 12.—That Arthur Burch has been an expert with shotguns since his school days was learned today. Daily firearms practice, generally with a shotgun, was practically his only pastime while he was a pupil at Evanston Academy, according to one of his schoolmates at that time.

"His parents," said this former companion, "forbade him to participate in any of the academy sports and encouraged him to become expert in the use of firearms.

"Arthur had a veritable arsenal in his Evanston home. He had some rifles and pistols, but most of his weapons were shotguns, and he surely knew how to use them.

"Mr. Burch used to accompany Arthur on hunting trips in the Skokie marshes. They even riggde up a small shooting range at the rear of their home for target practice with small rifles and pistols. Most of the shotgun work—and that was the bulk of what he indulged in—was done on his shooting trips to the marshes.

"Arthur's parents also gave him the most wonderful layout of shooting and hunting outfits that any boy ever had.

"Shooting was Arthur's strong point. He never participated in any of our school athletics and in very few of our other activities."

IN PRISON, IS INNOCENT

DENVER, Aug. 12.—Homer R. Jones, Stratton (Colo.) motion-picture show owner, is serving a long term on perjured testimony of a 14-year-old girl, the State Pardon Board was told today. Attorney E. C. Beckman of Denver, appearing for Jones, said he had an affidavit from the girl on whose testimony Jones was convicted of committing an assault, admitting that she was coerced to testify against Jones to save others, and exonerating the prisoner.

IDENTIFY AMNESIA VICTIM

Found wandering about the streets of Long Beach and held by the authorities there for three days, a man said to be an amnesia victim was last night identified as J. Colyar of Santa Rosa. He was recognized by his sister, Mrs. H. M. Dansfield of 3756 Trinity street, Los Angeles, who will take him to her home, it was stated. She says he was on his way from Santa Rosa to Arizona, where he intended to stay for the benefit of his health. The man does not know how he got to Long Beach.

LINCOLN'S PEN STOLEN

CHICAGO, Aug. 12.—The quill pen used by President Lincoln in signing his first inaugural address has been stolen from the exhibit of the Chicago Historical Society at the Pageant of Progress, it was announced today. The pen was made from the feather of an American eagle which was killed by an admirer of Lincoln just before the latter's election.

TWENTY HURT IN WRECK

PUEBLO (Colo.) Aug. 12.—Twenty persons were injured, three of them seriously enough to be taken to a hospital, today, when passenger train No. 11, eastbound on the Atchison, Topeka and Santa Fe Railway, was wrecked at Devine, ten miles east of Pueblo

HUGHES IN BIG ROLE.

To Head Nation's Delegation.

Harding Puts Secretary of State in Charge of Disarmament Conference.

President to Take No Active Part in the Deliberations During Parleys.

BY GRAFTON S. WILCOX.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

[Copyright, Chicago Tribune.]

WASHINGTON, Aug. 12.—President Harding today announced the selection of Secretary of State Hughes to head the delegation to represent the United States in the Washington conference on armament limitation and Pacific and Far Eastern questions which menace international tranquility.

The President further announced that he passed on to his Secretary of State responsibility for the conference henceforth except, of course, the naming of the other members of the American delegation.

HAS DONE DUTY.

The President believes, according to his advisers, that he has done his full duty in bringing about the world conference which already begins to assume an importance as vital to the nations as the Versailles peace conference. The President does not believe that he, as the President of the United States, should push himself into the conclave further. He will, of course, in his capacity as President of the nation which invited the conference, address the delegates when they convene November 11, but after that his relation to it will be an advisory one.

Having implicit confidence in his Secretary of State the President, in striking contrast to the course of President Wilson in the Versailles peace negotiations at Paris, has informed Secretary Hughes that he is relying upon him for direction of American efforts in tending to bring about a settlement of world problems which will permit reduction of armaments. Negotiations with the powers over the scope of the conference, the details of the agenda and controversies that may arise in this connection with Japan or others of the participating powers will be in the hands of Secretary Hughes.

WILL KEEP IN TOUCH.

This does not mean that the President will not be in constant touch with developments and consult frequently with the Secretary of State, but it does mean that President Harding, having brought the allied and associated powers and China together for discussion of the vital problems outlined in his invitation is going to retire from the limelight and intrust the work of the conference to the men he will choose to represent the United States.

As head of the American delegation Secretary Hughes undoubtedly will be chosen to preside over the conference when it is organized, and in this capacity he will be elevated to a post of world prominence that will rank with the eminence of Clemenceau at Versailles. Who will be Hughes's colleagues on the delegation is yet undetermined. The President will not name them until negotiations have been concluded with the powers as to the size of the personnel for each. There will be no hard and fast line drawn, however. Inasmuch as all delegations will act as a unit, it will not be necessary to insist upon an equal number of representatives from each country. The wishes of the respective governments in this matter will be respected.

BRITISH DOMINIONS.

Great Britain, it is understood, will be represented by members from the dominions vitally interested in Far Eastern questions, as well as the representatives of the home government. This being so, the British delegation may number as many as seven or eight. Other powers may send only three or four. The President, it is believed, hopes to appoint at least five to the American delegation, and possibly six. Whether a woman will be one of them has not been decided, but agitation for such an appointment continues.

An administration official today, discussing the importance of the conference and its possibilities, declared that this government fully realized the difficulties of the undertaking and that the representatives of the United States would enter the conference determined to hold their ground in the discussion of eastern issues, which have been and the matters of international concern. The conference, he said, will be a practical, hardheaded one. The representatives of the powers represented must go there to look each other straight in the eyes. They must keep their feet on the ground and, above all things, "stop seeing visions."

MYSTERY IS UNSOLVED.

Murder of Priest Yet a Puzzle.

Suspect Who Led Police to Pastor's Grave Maintains He's Innocent.

Women in Case Not Found and Clews Take Officers to Blind Deductions.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 12.—William Hightower, itinerant baker, stoutly resisted today all efforts of the police to connect him with the murder of the Rev. Patrick Heslin, Colma priest, and after two days' questioning still maintained he had no knowledge of the crime. He was taken into custody after he had led a group of policemen and newspaper men to the priest's grave on the seashore.

Captain of Detectives Duncan Matheson, Asst. Dist.-Atty. Golden of San Francisco and Dist.-Atty. Swart of San Mateo county said tonight they were nearer a solution of the crime than ever before."

SPELLING SIMILAR.

Similarities of phrasing and spelling between a letter known to have been written by Hightower and an anonymous letter received by Mrs. Heslin demanding a reward for the return of the priest, were pointed out today by Carl Eisenschmell, police handwriting expert.

"Misspelling of two different words in both letters is identical," Eisenschmell said, "and phrasing and punctuation in the two is the same."

The latter, police believe, was written by Hightower, and they announce recovery of a typewriter formerly rented by the man and the type of which they allege corresponds with that in the letter.

TYPE HANDWRITING.

The "Aug. 3rd," at the top of the letter, was written with pen and ink as was the "of Colma" in the first sentence. The part referring to "Had-to-hitt him four Times And He is unconscious from Pressure on Brain So Better Hurry and no fooling. Tonight at 9 o'clock" also was written with ink. The remainder of the letter was typewritten, single-spaced with three spaces between the first and second paragraphs and none between the fourth and fifth.

The envelope in which it was received at the cathedral was mailed special delivery in San Francisco at 10 a.m., August 3, and went through the postoffice substation at the Ferry Building. The letter was addressed to "St. Mary's Cathedral, City."

SOBS AT NEWS.

Hightower was confronted by the police with information from widely different sources, tending, they said, to show he had knowledge of the priest's death, but remained undisturbed. He showed emotion only once, the police said. This was when handed a long-delayed telegram, which told of his wife's death in Stillwater, Okla., July 4.

The inquiry today developed conflict of Hightower's story of the use he made of a small automobile rented from a local garage the night the priest disappeared in company with a stranger to answer a "sick call."

Hightower said he took the machine from the garage about 4 o'clock, went to San Jose with Doris Shirley, with whom he said he was living at the time, and returned to San Francisco at 10 o'clock, but, finding no one in the garage, left the machine outside. Against this story is the testimony of a garage employee that Hightower did not leave the garage until 6 o'clock. The police were making every effort to trace the movements of the car between that time and 9 o'clock, the hour that the priest disappeared in an automobile known to have been of the same make.

The police have been unable to locate Miss Shirley and several

LETTER DEMANDING RANSOM FOR RETURN OF COLMA PRIEST CONTAINS THREATS OF DEATH.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 12.—The original anonymous letter received at St. Mary's Cathedral here demanding $6500 ransom for Father Patrick E. Heslin, and turned over to the police August 5, read as follows:

Act with caution for I have Father of Colma in bootleg cellar. A lighted candle will be left when I leave, and at bottom of candle are all chemicals necessary to generate enough poison gas to kill a dozen men, and as he is fastened down with chains you will see that he is in a very bad way, and if I am arrested, or bothered in anyway, I will leave him just where he is, and in two hours from the time I leave him he will be dead, for the candle will not burn more than an hour and a half after I leave him, for I cut it at that length.

SLAYING OF MEN IS NO NOVELTY.

If the door is opened to this cellar by anyone except myself it will ignite a bunch of matches, and upset a can of gasoline on top of him, and the entire police force, and all your damn knights would not be able to get the chains off of him before he would burn to death. SO THE BEST BET IS FOR YOU TO GET THE SIXTY-FIVE HUNDRED DOLLARS IN FIVES TENS TWENTIES FIFTYS AND HUNDREDS BUT NONE HIGHER THAN HUNDREDS AND BE SURE THERE IS NO MARKS ON THEM FOR IF ANYTHING AROUSES MY SUSPICION I WILL LEAVE HIM TO DIE RIGHT WHERE HE IS. I had charge of a machine gun in the Argonne and poured thousands of bullets into struggling men, and killing men is no novelty to me, besides it will be your own bunch that will kill him if you do not do just as you are told.

GET THE SIXTY-FIVE HUNDRED DOLLARS IN UNMARKED BILLS WRAP IN PACKAGE AND SEAL IT FOR THE TWO MEN WHO WILL HANDLE IT BEFORE IT GETS TO ME THINK THAT IT IS DOPE, so don't leave it unsealed or it might not reach me after you had sent it.

Have car ready with spotlight and you will get instructions what road to take and you will turn the spotlight upward and drive slowly until you see white strip across road, then stop, get out with the money, leave car and follow the string that is attached to white strip until you come to end of string, then put down package, and go back to town and remember your brother does not get out until I have the money and am in the clear.

PRISONER COMPLAINS OF THE PAIN.

And he is complaining of the pain, when he is not gagged so he cannot make complaint. Better have a doctor ready with you and be at the house where he lived, and wait the messenger with the instructions what road to take. REMEMBER JUST ONE MAN IN THAT CAR, and he had better be careful for if he looks suspicious, he will be tagged with a hand grenade, as have six of them ready for any treachery, and the waiting man will not be seen at all, and he will not see the man to whom he passes the package, and the second man gives it to me, but remember, if the cops are notified, or any move made that will be dangerous to me, I will not send you the instructions how to find him and release him, besides if this becomes public you will be seen how easy it is to trap your bunch of imposters, and others will go and do likewise. "Nuff said" "Its up to you."

You will get the message about nine o'clock, perhaps tonight.

Had-to-Hitt Him four Times And He is unconscious from pressure on Brain So Better Hurry and no fooling. Tonight at 9 o'clock.

MAY SHOOT RUM PIRATES.

Canada Rushing So Much Over, Price Comes Down; Armed Motor Boats Guard Detroit.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

DETROIT, Aug. 13.—Although Federal Prohibition Director Graham announced today that after a conference with Canadian customs officials he found that reports of the amount of liquor being cleared for the United States from Canada were greatly exaggerated, seven automobile trucks loaded down with whisky were counted on the municipal docks at Sandwich Friday morning while the conference was in session. Each truckload was placed aboard launches which, when loaded, headed for Detroit.

Launches were piled high with whisky and beer openly. Sandwich city employees worked near by and paid no heed to the liquor runners' operations.

At one of the Windsor breweries inquiries brought the announcement that eight or ten truckloads would be leaving Friday night, with beer consigned to Detroit by way of small river boats.

RESUME RUM RUNNING.

Rum running from Canada, which was well nigh stopped when Ontario went dry, July 19, has not only been resumed, but is assuming greater proportions than ever, following a ruling of Magistrate Gundy in Windsor Police Court Wednesday. He directed that Canadian officers had no right to stop shipments of liquor destined for the United States or any other point outside Ontario.

Canadian customs officers thereafter determined that since such shipments were legal, they had no right to deny them clearance papers. They are issuing clearance papers to anyone who asks for them, covering shipments of all sizes.

There was a tremendous increase in applicants Thursday and Friday, Canadian customs men said. Their statements were corroborated by broad smiles and signs of humming industry in the liquor centers.

PRICES COME DOWN.

The price of "good" liquor, which had soared in the case of Irish whisky to $18 a quart and was from $8 to $10 for Canadian liquor, is headed downward. Hearing on the temporary injunction restraining Federal authorities from interfering with shipments by Walker Brothers, Ltd., of liquor in bond through the United States for export, will be begun before Judge Arthur G. Tuttle in the United States District Court Monday.

Late tonight seventy-five troopers from the Michigan State Constabulary reported for duty to C. P. Campau, Detroit representative of the Michigan Public Safety Commission. The detachment will be divided into patrols, operating along the American side of the Detroit River and portions of Lake St. Clair for the purpose of suppressing the wholesale influx of Canadian beer and whisky.

Mr. Campau declared Friday night that he intended to "get every bottle of beer and whisky that is brought over from Canada." Three high-powered motorboats will be pressed into service Saturday morning, manned by State troopers armed with rifles.

POLES, GERMANS ARE PREPARING TO SEIZE LANDS

BY HENRY WALES.

[BY CABLE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

[Copyright, Chicago Tribune.]

PARIS, Aug. 12.—The creation of an autonomous state to include the disputed industrial region of Upper Silesia under the administration of an international control commission will be the League of Natons' solution for the plebiscite problem.

By their action in turning the problem over to the League of Nations for solution, France and Great Britain have averted the danger of an immediate rupture in their relations, as a deadlock had been reached and neither side wished to make concessions that would impair its dignity.

Well informed persons here, however, believe that partition of the disputed territory will be settled by force of arms between the Germans and the Poles long before the League even begins an examination of the problem.

DISQUIETING RUMORS.

Disquieting rumors are current here this evening to the effect that both the Polish insurgents and Gen. Hoefer are feverishly rushing preparations to seize the territory which their respective governments claim. Korfanty, the commander of the Polish insurgents, is due in Upper Silesia today and Gen. Lerond, commander of the French plebiscite forces, is en route to Oppeln.

Quai d'Orsay is worried over the position of the handful of inter-Allied plebiscite troops if the fighting between the Poles and Germans begins again as during the lull the Poles have brought up quantities of French manufactured munitions from Danzig and Gen. Hoefer, commander of the German volunteer forces, has been collecting considerable stocks of supplies for his army along the Oder River.

Should the Germans attack the French troops in Upper Silesia, France has announced that it will enter the Ruhr district without waiting to confer with the Allies in order to compel the German government to control Gen. Hoefer.

MAY BE TOO LATE.

Although Prime Minister Lloyd George and Premier Bonomi have promised to reinforce the British and Italian contingents if necessary the French point out that the danger period will have passed by the time the troops arrive in Upper Silesia as whichever side jumps off first and surprises the other very likely will be enabled to sweep over the entire disputed zone.

From the Italians came the proposal to pass the buck to the League of Nations when the Supreme Council became deadlocked over the problem yesterday. When Premier Bonomi made the suggestion to Lloyd George at a dinner last night it was greeted with derisive laughter, but when Italian Foreign Minister Della Torrente arrived from Quai d'Orsay and stated that Premier Briand welcomed the idea as the sole solution compatible with France's dignity and at the same time avoiding a break with Great Britain the British Prime Minister acquiesced.

STALL OFF DECISION.

No one from any of the delegations took the matter seriously and it was frankly admitted that the expedient was adopted to save the situation by stalling off a decision a little longer.

Lloyd George feared that Washington might regard the resurrection of the League of Nations on the eve of the disarmament conference as a defi, but his conferees assured him that the United States administration realizes as well as everyone

RUSS MUST GUARANTEE GOOD FAITH.

Absolute Protection of Food Supplies Demanded by Hoover's Agent.

[BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

RIGA, Aug. 12. — An absolute guarantee of the protection of food supplies sent into Russia is asked of the Russian government in a draft agreement presented Maxim Litvinoff, representative of the soviet relief committee, by Walter Lyman Brown, European director of the American relief administration, this afternoon.

The guarantee was asked following the receipt of a cable dispatch by Brown from Herbert Hoover, head of the American relief administration, authorizing Brown to proceed with the negotiations for relief, Hoover accepting the release of seven American prisoners in Russia, and the promised opportunity to other Americans to leave the country as evidence of good faith by Russia in meeting the demands of Hoover as a basis for aid for starving Russians.

On receipt of the cablegram, Brown arranged a conference with Litvinoff. He explained the details of the proposed agreement and made arrangements for another meeting with the Russians tomorrow, when the question of signing is expected to be settled. Besides the regular requirements for the receipt of American relief administration supplies, special proposals are included in Brown's draft agreement. Brown proposes that the relief administration deliver goods at ports from which the soviet government in Russia is to transport them to the famine districts. An absolute guarantee of freedom of travel and communication for relief administration workers in Russia is also requested.

"Immediately after signing the agreement some of our representatives will go into Russia to look over the ground," Brown said.

HOMICIDE IS VERDICT IN ALABAMA MURDER.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

BIRMINGHAM (Ala.) Aug. 12.—A verdict of unlawful homicide was returned today by Coroner J. D. Russum, who investigated the killing of Father James E. Coyle, dean of the Catholic church for North Alabama, yesterday, as he sat on the porch of his home. Coroner Russum announced that a warrant will be issued tomorrow charging the Rev. Edward R. Stevenson with murder.

TEMPERATURES IN PRINCIPAL CITIES.

Following were the maximum and minimum temperatures yesterday in various eastern cities compared with Los Angeles:

| | Max. | Min. |
|---|---|---|
| New York | 82 | 70 |
| Boston | 84 | 72 |
| Philadelphia | 80 | 72 |
| Chicago | 72 | 70 |
| Cincinnati | 86 | 68 |
| Indianapolis | 84 | 66 |
| Des Moines | 88 | 64 |
| Kansas City | 88 | 70 |
| Omaha | 88 | 66 |
| St. Louis | 88 | 72 |
| Winnepeg | .. | 48 |
| Huron, S. D. | 90 | 66 |
| Los Angeles | 79 | 57 |

Because of a difference in humidity there is an actual difference in "heat unpleasantness" of from 5 to 10 degrees in favor of Los Angeles as compared with the East, according to Col. H. B. Hersey, meteorologist for the local station of the United States Weather Bureau.

SAN JOSE POUNDING BADLY.

Vessel Working With Damaged Steamer Forced to Leave and Another Goes South.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

SAN DIEGO, Aug. 12.—With the steamer Griffdu on its way to San Pedro, which port it is expected to reach tomorrow night, and the steamer Newport rushing on its way south, after leaving San Pedro yesterday, to go aground steamer San Jose on San Pablo Reef, 450 miles south of here, at the mercy of sea and weather.

The Griffdu, which attempted to reach and pull the Newport off the reef, was running [illegible] and fuel, and left San Pedro last night. A message from the Griffdu received [illegible] by the Navy Department here, [illegible]

WHERE IS ABANDONED.

[illegible] to abandon further [illegible] to the San Jose. Am [illegible] ordered to San Pedro, according to conditions. San Jose [illegible] especially on [illegible] Advisable to [illegible] stand by for crew." [illegible] it is not officially announced, it is believed here that the Navy will send another vessel to where the San Jose is stranded. It is believed that the Newport will reach the San Jose in ample time to take off the crew should the danger of the San Jose going to pieces be as acute as is reported.

It is also pointed out that the Navy sent the Farquhar to save all lives and that the crew could have had passage on the Navy vessel, and also on the Griffdu, had it been necessary. The passengers from the San Jose, who arrived here yesterday on the Farquhar, were proceeding to their homes today.

It was announced that the Farquhar brought back $10,000 in minted gold coin, part of the treasure the San Jose was transporting. It is reported that the San Jose had an additional amount of gold aboard, the treasure being in gold bars. Reports concerning the remaining total are at great variance and the meager radiograms received here do not mention the amount.

RAILROAD BILL BLOCKED.

La Follette Spoils Chances of Passing Funding Measure Previous to Recess.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

WASHINGTON, Aug. 12.—Any remaining possibility of the passage of the administration railroad funding bill before Congress recesses went glimmering today when Senator La Follette of Wisconsin blocked action in the Senate Committee on Interstate Commerce.

After La Follette had insisted upon an inquiry relative to the manner in which the railroads have expended their funds, and then objected to any action without a quorum present, the committee adjourned until next Tuesday.

Administration Senators said that the bill probably would be reported from the committee next week, despite LaFollette's objections, but that it would not be pressed on the floor of the Senate until after the recess.

Senator Townsend of Michigan, who introduced the bill in the Senate, was in conference with President Harding during the day and is understood to have told the President the bill could not be passed at this session, which the President regrets.

Senator LaFollette urged that the Senate committee summon William G. McAdoo, former director-general of railroads, as a witness. He said that he had communicated with Mr. McAdoo over the long-distance telephone and that the latter is willing to appear before the committee if requested to do so.

The Wisconsin Senator said he also had cabled Walker D. Hines, former director-general of railroads, who is in Europe, inquiring at what date it might be possible for him to appear.

Beside getting the testimony of

SOVIETS JAIL HAYWOOD.

I.W.W. Head Who Jumped Bail Here Put Where He Belongs; He's Against Reds Now.

BY AMBROSE LAMBERT.

[BY CABLE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

RIGA, Aug. 12.—Bill Haywood, head of the I.W.W., now is being detained in Russia, according to information received by an American prisoner in Moscow a fortnight ago. According to this information, American penitentiaries possess far more attractions for Haywood than Moscow in its soviet glad rags. The same prisoner states Guy, formerly Litvinoff's secretary at Reval, now is enjoying an indefinite vacation in the soviet Cheka prison at Moscow.

A hitherto unheralded American prisoner in Russia has escaped and reached Red Cross headquarters here this evening. He said he had walked 300 miles in four nights and days. His name is Adams Karat of 375 Park street, Hartford, Ct., a machinist, born in Vilna, but a naturalized American for twenty-four years.

Karat left New York on March 16 and arrived in Moscow April 14, 1921, via Reval, where he left his passport with the American Consul. He says he intended to go to Petrograd to aid an aged uncle. He was arrested after three days in the immigrants' home at Moscow, where, he says, there are 300 Americans; this is regarded here as untrue, unless it includes the radical deportees from America.

Karat saw Joseph Sabitzky, with his wife and two children, who are from Harrison, N. J. Sabitzky was owner of a factory in Moscow, but there are no workmen in the factory. While Karat was in prison his baggage, containing $800, shirts and two suits of clothing, was commandeered. He was accused of being a spy. He says when he refused to confess he was beaten by Red guards. He was kept in prison for thirty days on rations of half a pound of bread and water. Then Karat worked in a factory, where he slept on the floor without a bed.

Karat says he saw Haywood, who was denouncing the "Bolshies," but who was nervous and wanted to get out.

KARAT RUNS AWAY.

Finally, Karat ran away from the factory with two companions, one of whom is Joseph Kodakewick of Detroit, who had only American first papers. Karat managed to take a train as far as Novosokolonika. Then he walked to Salukl, on the Letvian border. He supported himself en route by swapping extra stockings for food.

Kodakewick became footsore and was unable to continue. Karat

FAMILY MEN ARE AIDED.

Levy on Moderate Incomes Cut.

Single Persons, However, Must Pay Same Old Rates on Their Earnings.

Impost on Furs and Candy is Reduced; Bill Will Go to House Soon.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

WASHINGTON, Aug. 13. — Taxes were reduced for heads of families with moderate incomes by Republican members of the House Ways and Means Committee in whipping the revenue bill into final shape today.

The exemption applying to individual incomes was increased from $2000 to $2500 for those whose net income is not more than $5000. The action was taken on the motion of Representative Longworth of Ohio.

No change was made in the present exemption applying to single persons. The exemption for each dependent will be $400, as agreed upon earlier in the week, this amount being twice the present $200 exemption.

It was estimated that the $500 increase in the exemption to which married men with incomes of less than $5000 will be entitled, will mean a loss in revenue of about $30,000,000. The increase in the exemption for each dependent will mean a loss of $20,000,000, these two cuts representing a total loss of $50,000,000.

STANDS PAT ON SURTAXES.

The committee decided to stand pat on the present surtax rates on individual incomes below the proposed new maximum of 32 per cent applying to incomes above $66,000. The proposal of Secretary of the Treasury Mellon that this maximum be reduced to 25 per cent for income on the calendar year 1922 and thereafter was definitely rejected.

The increase in exemption is expected to mean that there will be no further agitation for any decrease in the present normal taxes of 4 per cent on net incomes of less than $5000 and 8 per cent on income in excess of that amount.

The committee reduced the tax on furs from 10 to 5 per cent and also cut the manufacturers' tax on candy from 10 to 8 per cent. The tax on works of art was reduced from 10 to 5 per cent.

It was decided to make no decrease in present taxes on tobacco and cigarettes.

REPEALS LUXURY TAXES.

The committee voted to repeal all of section 904 of the present law containing the so-called luxury taxes. This was in accordance with the desire of Secretary Mellon. Earlier in the week the portions of this section applying to clothing were voted out, but at that time taxes on carpets and rugs, picture frames, trunks, valises, purses, portable lighting fixtures, umbrellas and fans were retained. These levied under this section have been computed in amount in excess of certain prices.

As a substitute for the taxes in section 904 it may be decided to impose somewhat similar taxes applying to the manufacturer instead of the retailer. Whether such a plan as proposed can be administered successfully is under discussion. It is proposed that the manufacturer pay a tax of 3 per cent on the articles enumerated in section 904, the tax to apply only when the articles were designed for sale at retail for amounts above the prices as stated in the present section. The tax would apply on the entire amount of the manufacturers sale price although the probable retail price also would enter into the situation. The present retail tax is 10 per cent.

BILL READY MONDAY.

The committee decided not to repeal the capital stock tax applying to corporations, the members not seeing their way clear to make a further increase in the proposed 15 per cent tax on corporation incomes to make up for the loss in revenues.

Work was practically finished on all important features of the bill, but a few odds and ends remain to be disposed of. It was stated that the committee members have given up hope of being able to introduce the bill tomorrow. The bill will be introduced on Monday following a caucus of House Republicans called by Republican Leader Mondell today for 1 o'clock Monday. Some slight changes may be made in the draft by the caucus.

The full Ways and Means Committee, including the Democrats, will be called together on Tuesday. The committee will report the bill to the House at that time and it will be called up for action on the floor on Wednesday.

The House caucus will decide on a special rule under which the bill will be considered. It is probable that the rule will limit debate and give preference to committee amendments, but give opportunity for other amendments. The bill will be passed by Saturday.

the two former director-generals, La-Follette insisted that evidence should be obtained relative to the manner in which they have operated their properties since the roads were returned to private control.

"I venture to say that some railroads at the very time they have claimed to be hard pressed for money were increasing salaries," said Senator LaFollette. "If we go into this matter we will find that the New York Central was raising the salary of President Smith from $75,000 to $100,000 and salaries of other officials by additional amounts ranging from $5000 to $20,000.

"I think it is a pertinent matter to show that the roads have squandered their resources, instead of conserving them, and that they are now trying to get the government to relieve them from financial distress."

EX-WIFE OF JOHN BARRYMORE GIVES UP ALIMONY TO WED DIVORCED NEW YORK BROKER.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

NEW YORK, Aug. 12.—Mrs. Katherine Harris Blythe, 30 years old, who divorced John Barrymore, the actor, in December, 1918, for desertion, gave up $350 a month alimony when she married Alexander Dallas Bache Pratt, a broker, here today.

The marriage recalled the California divorce decree whereby she has been getting alimony "until death or remarriage."

Barrymore has since married the former Mrs. Leonard M. Thomas, who wrote "Clair De Lune" under the pen name of "Michael Strange."

Pratt's first wife was a daughter of William E. Benjamin and, when she had a tilt with her family over divorcing Pratt for cruelty, she sued to force payment of her share of a $2,000,000 legacy from her grandfather, the late Henry H. Rogers. She, too, got $350 a month alimony and the custody of her children "until remarriage or death," and not long afterward married Preston Gibson, playwright and society man.

CRIME MYSTERY IS NOT SOLVED.

clews to the present location of Dolly Mason, the woman from whom Hightower said he received first knowledge of the grave's location, have proved worthless.

A letter mailed Wednesday by Hightower to Dolly Mason was recovered today from the San Francisco postoffice, and read with Hightower's consent. It tended to bear out, it was said, his statement that an unidentified man had betrayed to Miss Mason the clews on which Hightower worked in locating the grave.

"I believe there is something in what that drunk told you," the letter said. "I am beginning to think it might have something to do with the priest. . . . See me at once when there is a reward offered."

The police said, however, this letter was a part of the plan laid by Hightower to substantiate a story he had devised when he determined to collect the reward of $5000 offered from various sources for the recovery of Father Heslin.

POSSESSION LOCATED.

A Sacramento angle of the case developed today, when it was reported some of Hightower's possessions were found there. They had been stored since last September. The San Francisco angles of the case have been about exhausted, Dist. Atty. Swart of San Mateo county declared tonight, and it is proposed to take Hightower to San Mateo county tomorrow. The inquiry would be continued there he said.

Similarity of string found in Hightower's room and that used to bind together some boards near the grave was noted at the inquiry today, Swart said, and evidence was brought to show that Hightower often had visited the cliffs near the site of the grave.

The two small sons of Policeman Michael Dolan had seen Hightower there, Swart declared.

"INFERNAL MACHINE."

Hightower has not been able to account to the satisfaction of the police for a contrivance they described as an "infernal machine," found in a search of his room, when a rifle and a strip of blood-soaked burlap also were brought to light.

The machine was arranged to fire simultanously ten shells loaded with buckshot. Hightower admitted he had taken this with him on a preliminary visit to the place where the grave was found, but did not indicate what use of it he had intended.

Examination of the contents of a trunk left in San Francisco by Doris Shirley gave no clew to Hightower's recent actions, the police said, nor did it reveal any clew to the woman's present location. Articles of women's apparel bearing Denver store marks were found, and the name "Mrs. E. H. Davis" was inked on a shoe. There were some photographs to which the police attached no particular value.

Commons Votes Bill to Protect British Trade.

[BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

LONDON, Aug. 12.—The government's safeguarding of industries bill, today was passed on third reading in the House of Commons by a vote of 176 to 4. Former Premier Asquith opposed it as a "half-hearted attempt to introduce a tariff without calling it one."

The bill provides for the levying of a customs duty of 33⅓ per cent ad valorem on importations entering the United Kingdom of optical glass, optical instruments, scientific glassware, porcelain instruments, magnetos, tungsten and its products, synthetic and organic chemicals, except dyestuffs; colors, coloring matters and fine chemicals and any articles not mentioned which the Board of Trade will have the power to specify.

Proponents of the bill argued that those articles were being sold or offered in the United Kingdom at prices below their production, or, owing to exchange depression at prices below what they can profitably be produced for in Great Britain.

JOYCE ALLOWED MORE TIME TO FILE APPEAL.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

CHICAGO, Aug. 12. — J. Stanley Joyce, millionaire lumberman, who is suing Peggy Hopkins Joyce, former actress, for divorce, was granted an extension of time until September 1 today by Judge Pam in the Superior Court, in which to file an appeal to the alimony order recently issued. The order gave Peggy $1350 a month temporary alimony and $10,000 solicitors' fees.

The opinion of the Appellate Court on the temporary alimony will probably be given during the October term, after which the hearing on the merits of the divorce will follow before a jury in Judge Sabbath's court.

DON'T RECOGNIZE SOVIETS.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

WASHINGTON, Aug. 12.—Dr. R. T. Estes, one of the Americans recently released from Russia, and who with other Americans has arrived at Reval, it was disclosed today, wrote a letter from his cell to Secretary Hughes expressing the hope that the American authorities let him "rot in prison" rather than pay the price of recognition of the soviet government for his release.

Dr. Estes, who ordinarily practices the profession of dentistry on the Pacific Coast, was one of a number of Americans who managed to smuggle communications to intermediaries in the Baltic provinces, who in turn passed them on to the State Department. These communications were sent at great personal risk to the writers. The fact that such letters had been received was withheld until today, after the men who wrote them were safely out of Russia. The Estes letter has not been made public by Secretary Hughes, but the fact that such a communication had been received from him was definitely established.

According to one passage in his letter, Dr. Estes was well aware of his danger, saying that "the apprehension of one copy will mean my finish." Naval action as a threat against the soviet regime was urgently suggested by Dr. Estes, who feared that unless release was effected before July 4 some of the prisoners might die of starvation and ill-treatment. Dr. Estes insisted in his letter that the prisoners would rather starve than see the United States government negotiate with the Bolshevik commissaries for their release. The writer declared that soviet promises were worthless and warned his government against entering into diplomatic negotiations with Moscow.

"These people," he said, "could talk the leaves off the trees."

The league will not attempt to divide Upper Silesia, but it will recommend the establishment of a free state wherein the German and Polish rights will be protected, railway and water transportation controlled without discrimination, and wages and the cost of raw materials standardized.

A period of thirty years' supervision of Upper Silesia's affairs probably will be suggested, as this is expected to materially strengthen the league's hold on life, and the creation of the control commission will provide some more fat-salaried jobs for league officials.

The league will not be able to enforce its decisions, however, as the French and Italians are insistent that they will not transfer their plebiscite garrisons under the league's orders. It is pointed out that the league needs some force, as it has not been able to handle the Zeligowski affair at Vilna, although it has been trying to do so for almost a year.

"This is what will happen at Washington in November when the United States wants them to make a decision on the Pacific problems and disarmament," said a millionaire American living at the Hotel Crillon, who has been following the discussions. "If we try to put over something that the other delegates do not like, they will threaten to go home and the matter will be referred to the League of Nations."

WASHINGTON NEWS IN BRIEF.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

WASHINGTON, Aug. 12.—President Harding today announced that Secretary of State Hughes would head the American delegation in the conference on limitation of armaments and that the Secretary would henceforth have full charge of all negotiations and affairs concerning the conclave.

Republican members of the House Ways and Means Committee voted to increase the exemption on individual income of heads of families from $2000 to $2500, but to make the increase apply only to those with net incomes of not more than $5000.

A joint subcommittee of Republicans of the Senate Finance Committee and the House Ways and Means Committee was appointed to work out a solution for the controversy over a dye embargo. A revised American valuation section for the Fordney tariff bill was approved.

Senator La Follette blocked quick action on the administration railroad bill in the Senate Committee on Interstate Commerce, insisting that the committee investigate whether the railroads have managed their properties in a proper manner.

Secretary of War Weeks said today that Henry Ford's proposal to lease and purchase the government's water-power project at Muscle Shoals would not be accepted unless there were material modifications of the offer.

The Cabinet today discussed problems growing out of the prohibition enforcement act involving seizure of liquor in bond in transit through the United States designated to some other country. The President is anxious that the enforcement statute should not be absurd.

UNITE TO SAVE STATE PRODUCTS.

California Congressmen Will Join Senators.

Seek Increase of Tariff on Several Crops.

Lemon Growers Find Hole in Present Schedule.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

WASHINGTON, Aug. 12.—Every Congressman from California will co-operate with the California Senators in securing increase in rates of duty over and above the House rates provided that the Fordney bill where the producers of these products have been able to convince the Senators that increases are necessary.

Not only will the Congressmen assist the Senators in every way possible in getting these increases provided for in the tariff bill in the Senate, but they will exert every effort to hold these increases in the House when the tariff bill goes into conference. This action was taken by the California delegation in session this afternoon.

PRODUCTS INCLUDED.

Some of the notable requests for increases are those of the almond growers and walnut producers, who have already presented their reasons for increases to the Finance Committee of the Senate. One of the other important demands for increased duties comes from the lemon growers on the by-products of their industry. According to present plans G. Harold Powell will present the arguments Monday before the Senate Finance Committee for increased duties on citric acid, citrate of lime and orange and lemon oils.

One of the most important factors in the protection of this industry was completely overlooked in the preparation of the Fordney bill and this Powell will seek to have corrected by the Senate Finance Committee. If the bill is not changed there is a wide open opportunity for importers to evade the duty on the most important of the lemon by-products and in effect ruin the lemon industry so far as the by-products are concerned in California.

Under the Fordney tariff lemon juice and sour orange juice are all on the free list. The proposal of Powell and his associates is to take these products in the free list and place them with other fruit juices under the paragraph which provides for a straight duty of 10 cents per gallon. If this is not done importers can import these juices duty free and convert them after arriving in this country into citrate of lime, citric acid and other by-products in competition with this part of the lemon industry of California.

George N. Hamilton of Claremont, who is here to urge increased duties for the by-products of the lemon industry, also will appear before the Finance Committee and urge substantial increases in the rates now collected in the Fordney bill. Hamilton has had several conferences with Powell and with the California Senators and Congressmen, and is now preparing his brief for submission to the committee after he had made his oral statement.

Efforts are being made to convince the Senators on the Finance Committee of the united and harmonious attitude of the lemon growers for a sufficient duty on lemon products to preserve the new and promising feature of the lemon production of California.

LETTER CLEARS UP MURDER MYSTERY.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

CHICAGO, Aug. 12.—A letter was found today which apparently clears up the mystery surrounding the deaths of Mrs. Fred Kolze, John Demmer, husband of Kolze's housekeeper, and of Kolze himself. The letter, which was written by Kolze on July 13, reveals that eight years ago he gave poison to his wife, and, shortly after July 13 this year, committed suicide by taking arsenic. Mrs. Demmer has been under arrest and only recently was released on bonds. A Coroner's inquest over the bodies has been set for August 15. Kolze, in his letter, declares that Demmer committed suicide. The handwriting had been identified by Mrs. Demmer, Elmer Kolze, an adopted son of Kolze, and John Seabrook, a boarder in the Kolze home.

Seabrook found the letter last night in a button box on his dresser. Kolze, during his last illness, was confined to Seabrook's room and died in Seabrook's bed. The finding of the letter confirms the suspicions Mrs. Demmer reported to State's Attorney and Coroner Peter M. Hoffman while she was in custody. She told them that several days before Kolze died she entered his room. Kolze showed her some papers containing a white powder under the bedclothes and was evasive when she questioned him concerning them.

Kolze's wife died 8 years ago. Her body was exhumed a short time ago. An examination by the Coroner's physician revealed a considerable quantity of arsenic in her stomach.

Remained on Narrow Ledge Eight Days Without Food.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

ST. PAUL (Minn.) Aug. 12.—En route to La Fayette, Ind., for burial the body of Dr. Winthrop E. Stone, president of Purdue University, who plunged to his death in the Canadian Rockies, near Banff, July 17, passed through here today.

Accompanying the body were Mrs. Stone, who was rescued from a mountain ledge after eight days' exposure without food; Richard Stone of Cleveland and David S. Stone of New York City, her sons, and Harlan F. Stone, dean of Columbia University Law School, New York City, a brother of Dr. Stone.

Despite the hardships she had endured, Mrs. Stone showed no lasting physical effects of her experience.

MONUMENT MARKS SPOT

Near the summit of Mt. Eanon, rearing its crest 10,860 feet above sea level, stands a small monument of loose rock, erected by friends in tribute to Dr. Stone, who was first to accomplish the ascent of the peak.

It was from this peak that Dr. Stone fell, while climbing. His brother, in telling tonight of the fatal plunge and Mrs. Stone's rescue, told how the party that recovered Dr. Stone's body had erected the monument, and in a flask set firmly in the mound, is a paper with this inscription:

"Friday, Aug. 5, 1921. This monument was built by the undersigned in tribute to their comrade of the mountains, Dr. Winthrop E. Stone, president of Purdue University, La Fayette, Ind., U.S.A., who, on July 16, 1921, with his wife, virtually completed the first ascent, reaching a point not more than fifty feet from this spot. Dr. Stone's ice ax crowned this mount."

The following signed the tribute:

SIGNED BY RESCUERS.

Albert H. MacCarthy, Lennox H. Lindsay, Edward Feuz, Conrad Kain and Rudolph Aemmer. The first two are members of the Alpine Club of Canada, of which Dr. Stone had been a member of years. Aemmer is the Swiss guide who rescued Mrs. Stone and recovered Dr. Stone's body.

While the inscription gives July 16 as the date of Dr. Stone's feat, his brother declared July 17 was the correct date. On that day Dr. and Mrs. Stone set out to climb Mount Eanon, which is about fifty miles from Banff.

Mrs. Stone, according to her experiences, recited by Harlan Stone, said she and her husband were ascending the mountain, roped together, with Dr. Stone leading. Near the top they came upon a rock chimney—a V-shaped cut in the mountain side, with frequent footholds, and Dr. Stone climbed up through this.

UNTIED ROPE.

Without her knowledge, he had untied the rope that held them and after climbing through the chimney called out to her: "I see nothing higher." Just a moment later crumbling rocks caused him to lose his hold, and he plunged past her to his death. This was at 6 p.m. July 17.

Mrs. Stone said it seemed to her that his body fell a full 3000 feet before it struck in a chasm. Too shocked to move, she remained in her dangerous position, all through that night and most of the next day without food or water.

Apparently the want of water caused a hallucination, as she thought she saw many people moving about a short distance down the mountainside. She espied a ledge about forty feet down, and began to lower herself to it in the belief that it led around the mountain to the people she believed there.

AT END OF ROPE.

Her rope came to an end about ten feet above the ledge, but finding she could not raise herself again, she released her hold and tumbled to the ledge, which was four feet wide at its greatest width and only a few feet longer.

Pocketed on the ledge, she discovered a tuft of moss and beneath it found water slowly seeping through the rocks. For two days she drank frequently, digging with a sharp stone a small hole to hold what water seeped in. Then fearing the water would play out, she wound her watch and timed herself to only one drink every two hours.

Two nights on the ledge it rained heavily, but Mrs. Stone declared she lost all reckoning of time and she hardly seemed to think. She suffered greatly from the rough character of the rocks, which prevented her lying in any position other than on her stomach.

For a little more than eight days she remained on the ledge, then her occasionally uttered cries for help were heard by Aemmer, the Swiss guide, a member of a searching party, who lowered himself to the ledge.

CARRIED BY GUIDE.

Aemmer spent two hours getting her in condition for the ascent and then with the assistance of William Peyto, a prospector, who was at the anchor end of the rope, Aemmer managed to get her on to the mountain side. There he strapped her to his back and carried her down to Trail Center Camp, about thirty-two miles from Banff. From there, the journey was made to Banff by easy stages.

Deceived by Mrs. Stone's impression that the body of her husband had fallen about 2000 feet, the first searching party failed to locate it. Then Aemmer and Peyto, starting at the point Dr. Stone had fallen from, slowly worked their way down until the body was found about 800 feet below. It took two days to get the body out of the chasm. It was brought into Banff Tuesday night.

Building Trades Getting Sick of Agitators' Lead.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 12.—A free-for-all fight was started in the assembly and recreation-room of the Building Trades Temple today by men who were denied the use of the auditorium of the temple for a meeting of the Rank and File Federation of Workers.

In the skirmish billiard tables were overturned, a large portrait of P. H. McCarthy, president of the Building Trades Council, was destroyed, and other minor damages done. No one was injured and the fight was stopped without calling the police.

Later the members of the Rank and File Federation adjourned to the Socialist hall where an indignation meeting was held to protest the action of the Building Trades Council in repudiating the general strike, branding the Rank and File Federation of Workers as an "illegal" organization, instructing all unions to sever their connection with the federation and denying the organization the use of a hall in the Building Trades Temple.

RETURN TO JOBS.

Union building mechanics returned to work on all "fair" jobs in obedience to instructions issued by the Building Trades Council last night, when the general strike and the Rank and File Federation of Workers were repudiated by an almost unanimous vote of the delegates to the council.

The Rank and File Federation of Workers, composed of building trades unions of the bay district, was branded as an "illegal" organization and the local unions were ordered to sever their connections with the federation.

Resolutions were adopted by practically unanimous vote in which the officers of the Building Trades Council were authorized to take full charge of the building trades controversy and to call a meeting of business agents of local unions and representatives of international building trades unions for the purpose of working out plans to end the controversy in the building trades of the bay district.

HEARD FROM DONLIN.

This action was taken following the receipt of a telegram from John Donlin, president of the building trades department of the American Federation of Labor, which reads: "San Francisco Building Trades Council: Local unions or council cannot call strikes without authorization of internationals and local unions and councils must immediately withdraw delegates from unchartered and recently formed Trans-Bay Federation of Workers and illegal bodies known as 'Rank and File' conference committee. Organized labor can only be lawfully and directly controlled through central councils and local unions acting in conformity with international law."

The action of the Building Trades Council last night sounds the death knell of the general strike and the Rank and File Federation of Workers, organized last Sunday at a mass meeting in the auditorium of the Building Trades Temple, when speakers declared that they "could hope for nothing from the political manipulating labor leaders," who were severely criticised, and resolutions were adopted calling for the removal from office of all union officers who did not support the general strike.

That the action of the Building Trades Council last night will hasten the end of the building trades controversy, which has tied up all building construction in San Francisco for the past three months, is the belief of building contractors as well as labor leaders.

WET GOODS RENTALS HIG

Thousands of Gallons of Liquor in Storage Cost More Than They Are Worth.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

WASHINGTON, Aug. 12.—The government is suffering from the embarrassment of riches, the riches comprising hundreds of thousands of gallons of wines, liquors and cigars, and the embarrassment arising from the heavy rentals the government is obliged to pay for storage of these wet goods.

This situation formed a subject of discussion at today's meeting of the Cabinet with President Harding taking the position that it should be remedied and also that there should be no absurdities in prohibition enforcement. On account of the President's consistent insistence upon economy in the administration of public affairs he thought that the government was wasting money in paying these heavy rentals. To his way of thinking a practical method should be devised to relieve the government of a drain upon its resources from which it obtained no benefit.

NEED ALL OUR MONEY.

The discussion had to do mainly with the enforcement of the prohibition law and it brought out a general opinion in the Cabinet that this was causing a heavy drain on the treasury at a time when the government needed all the money it could scrape together and when the people were feeling the burden of Federal taxation.

One of the statements made at the White House after the Cabinet meeting was that President Harding was opposed to all "absurd policies" in carrying out the provisions of the Volstead Act and the inference was plain that he believed it was the height of absurdity for the government to penalize to the extent of great amounts for the storage of wines, liquors and beverages when it could not realize a penny.

DAUGHERTY'S VIEWS.

Atty.-Gen. Daugherty discussed the matter by inquiring into the cost of the millions of gallons of liquor which the government has in storage. In the course of the discussion it was suggested that some method should be devised for disposing of all the wet goods in storage and thus relieve the government of paying rentals. One idea advanced was that the liquor be poured out in the road to Roosevelt Highway, and the streets of both cities and towns buried in places with wash from the hills. At Miami a large number of check dams, lately installed in the washes, proved effective in holding back the flood waters. In Globe a colored Baptist church and many walls were

The Cave Creek bridge, on the Verde River, has been deserted its underground course and flowed on the surface to the Gila, above Maricopa. It has had two and one-half inches of rain in twenty-four hours, but no damage has been done.

In the northeast the Little Colorado was a yellow torrent, overflowing its banks near Winslow and Holbrook. The overland highway was closed for several days, knee scores of stranded automobiles. All streams in the Petrified Forest section are flooded.

Building trades are active and there is a feeling of optimism that will be backed by cash. Building costs have fallen about 30 per cent. Contractors and laborers are doing more work at two-thirds their former prices.

Forces are maintained on the city's paving work and on the water-improvements, including the new water-supply system from the Salt River. # AMERICAN VALUATION W

Scheme of Assessing Duties on Imported G... Accepted by Joint Congress Conference.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

WASHINGTON, Aug. 12.—The American valuation plan of assessing duties on imported merchandise, with modifications and limitations proposed by Republican members of the Senate Finance Committee, was accepted today at a joint conference by Republican members of the House Ways and Means Committee and the program will be submitted to the Senate as a part of the permanent tariff bill.

An attempt also was made to determine whether the next tariff law would contain a dye embargo. Although no formal action was taken, it was indicated the Republican leaders would provide high protective rates for the dye industry, but probably would not favor the suggested three-year embargo. A joint committee composed of Senators Smoot of Utah, and Dillingham of Vermont, and Representatives Longworth of Ohio, and Frear of Wisconsin, was named to study the rate question.

The House members also agreed to an amendment by the Finance Committee to the Longworth resolution extending the life of the emergency tariff law as well as the dye embargo to January 1, or until superseded by the permanent law.

Even with the changes, Chairman Fordney of the Ways and Means Committee declared that a distinct victory had been won for the American valuation plan.

Challenges made by the Finance Committee Republicans, experts said, would make the valuation plan more workable and less likely to result in litigation. As soon as the experts and members of the joint conference, as a whole, would be assured of the protection to the American industries on all imports where the cost and competitive situation of manufacture are found, after investigation, it was believed, to about 75 per cent of the total.

Where no comparable competitive American product is found, the duty would be levied on the American valuation. No such basis existed, it was pointed out, where the imported commodity is of a distinctive character. In such cases the duty would be levied on the basis of the foreign value of the article in its home market at the time of export, plus transportation charges to an American port and a reasonable profit, totaling not more than 50 per cent of the foreign value.

If no basis is found for any of the three alternatives, the duty under the assessment would revert to the old valuation cost, plus the 20 per cent duty, basis of laying the duty on the foreign value in the country of America.

Chico Music Store Owner Denies Charge Involving Little Girl.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

CHICO, Aug. 12.—While police were seeking him on a charge involving a 9-year-old girl, Arthur A. Schell, owner of a music store here, was found shot to death late today, authorities assert, in his automobile near Orland, thirty miles west of Chico. He was shot in the chest and through the head and a revolver lay at his side, reports say.

Notes to his wife and his parents were found in Schell's clothing. A complaint against Schell was signed this afternoon by parents of the girl. Schell had declared he was guiltless and Chico business men had announced they would support him and furnish an alibi.

Justice of the Peace E. F. Dea of Richvale had issued a warrant for Schell's arrest after an all-day investigation behind closed doors in which dozens of witnesses were interrogated. Fifteen local people declared they had seen Schell in Chino on the afternoon when the impropriety is alleged to have occurred near Richvale.

Schell's body was found in his car, in a rice marsh by A. J. Simpson, a rancher, who heard the shots.

WOMAN WHO BELIEVES SHE IS FROM MICHIGAN LOSES CASH IN CHICAGO.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

CHICAGO, Aug. 12.—A woman who says she thinks her name is Mrs. Mabel Dansforth, and that she believes she came here from Dowagiac, Mich., is at the County Hospital today with her mind almost a blank.

The woman visited the municipal pier last night, where, she says, she made the acquaintance of a woman and two young men. They had several drinks. That is the last she remembers. She was found lying helpless in a vacant lot near Seventy-first street.

The woman said she had $135 when she reached Chicago. When she was found she had 50 cents. She says she cannot remember when she came to Chicago. She was employed on a farm near Dowagiac, she says, but cannot remember the name of her employers. Her husband is in Aberdeen, S. D.

NECK STRETCHING CAUSES HANGING

Boy's Exercises in Effort to Grow Bigger and Stronger Lead to His Death.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

BUTTE (Mont.) Aug. 12.—Physical culture literature describing methods of neck stretching is believed by police and county officials to have been the direct cause for the hanging of Charles N. Roberts, 15-year-old son of Dr. C. M. Roberts, a chiropractor, whose body was found hanging to the transom in his room by his father this morning.

A friend, Jess Daley, 19 years old, said the Roberts lad had an ambition to grow big and strong and that he had been reading closely physical culture literature describing how the neck could be developed. The father of the boy is being held pending additional investigations.

FOREST FIRES AGAIN ARE BEYOND CONTROL.

FLAMES IN NATIONAL FOREST GET AWAY FROM CONTROL OF FIGHTERS.

[BY A. P. DAY WIRE.]

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 12.—The forest fire at Big Pine Mountain in the Santa Barbara national forest which was reported under control, has broken out afresh, according to word received today at the office of hers of the United States forester for this district. About 1000 acres have been burned over the report said. The Kings river fire in the Sequoia national forest also is beyond control, according to messages received today.

VISALIA, Aug. 12.—Fighters have been unable to check the timber and brush fire burning in the basin below the junction of the middle and south forks of the Kings River. The crew of 200 has backed two miles away to the top of the run and will attempt to control the fire when it reaches the summit, and before it reaches into the redwood forests of Kings canyon or the Grant and Sequoia national parks.

A motion picture company on location in Kings River Canyon, joined the fire fighters yesterday. The men took their places on the fire line and the women donned aprons and cooked for the crew.

A call for more men has been issued and its thought there will soon be 500 men fighting the fire. The fire started Saturday when a mountain cabin burned.

AVIATORS UNINJURED BY DROP INTO LAKE.

[BY A. P. DAY WIRE.]

LIVINGSTON (Mont.) Aug. 12.—Ora A. Phillips and W. C. Brooks of Hemmingford, Neb., escaped uninjured when their airplane plunged into Yellowstone Lake in Yellowstone National Park Wednesday, according to word received here last night. They landed in shallow water and were able to reach shore without difficult.

This was the first plane to land within the park boundary. Congress has not made any regulations relative to the entrance of flying craft, and park officials are at a loss as to how to collect entrance fees for it. Authorities at the park said today they opposed landing of planes inside the grounds, claiming they would frighten the animals.

STEAMSHIP COMPANY HAS CHANGED HANDS.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

NEW YORK, Aug. 12.—Control of the United States Mail Steamship Company passed yesterday from Francis R. Mayer, who was the president, and Charles Mayer, his father, to Malcolm Chase, who is said to be a director of the Old Colony Trust Company, Boston, and Alexander Smith of the stock brokerage firm of Houghteling and Company, Chicago.

The purchase of the controlling stock of the company is the first move in a reorganization, it was learned, the ultimate aim of which is to purchase from the United States Shipping Board the nine steamers seized a month ago by board officials for alleged default of Charles R. Mayer.

MAY FORM ZONES TO ASSIST TRADE.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

WASHINGTON, Aug. 12.—A bill designed to aid and augment commerce by establishment of trade zones in American ports for the transfer and handling of foreign merchandise free of American duties was reported favorably by the Senate Commerce Committee, it was learned today. It is to be offered as an amendment to the tariff bill.

NEGROES WHIPPED; MARSHAL WARNED.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

ORLANDO (Fla.) Aug. 12.—Two negroes were whipped and the town marshal of Longwood, a small town near here, was requested to resign last night, by sixteen masked men, according to word received here. The marshal's activities in attempting to enforce the speed laws, prompted the request for his resignation, it was said.

The negroes were whipped for blocking the roadway in their vehicles, it was stated.

Ready For Peace With Hungary.

[BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

BUDAPEST, Aug. 12.—The Hungarian government has received a note from the United States government communicating the text of the resolution passed by the American Congress early in July, regarding peace with Austria and Hungary. The note adds that if Hungary adheres to the principles expressed in the resolution, negotiations for peace can be commenced immediately.

KEMALISTS' AIM NOW DEFINITE.

Will Solve Far East Problem With Their Army.

Want No Outside Interference of Any Kind.

Get Soviet Aid, but Fear Reds Like Europeans.

[BY A. P. CORRESPONDENCE.]

ANGORA (Asia Minor) July 12. The Kemalist government, with the aid of its army, is determined to solve the Near Eastern problems itself; a fact to which the Allied western powers are said to be blind. This is the chief impression the correspondent received after a trip of hundreds of miles by sea and land from effete, befuddled Constantinople to the clear atmosphere of this little city, situated on a wide plateau, where the Nationalists have pitched their political tents.

The stranger, putting his foot on the soil of Nationalist Anatolia, feels a new air. It is not a privilege extended to all and sundry; but once good faith has been established, the doors of primitive hospitality are opened wide, and the stranger may do what he will or go where he pleases.

NEW PURPOSE SEEN.

Revisiting the interior after two years, when the Nationalist government had just received its baptism by the declaration of rights of the Turkish people at Sivas, the correspondent found the same gray, beflowered, treeless distances, the same toiling peasants, the same dull villages and towns. But the air is charged with a new purpose.

The correspondent saw Mustapha Kemal Pasha, Halide Hanum, the woman Nationalist leader, and other personalities with whom he talked at length two years ago. Today they make the same declarations as then; they are fighting for their homeland and for national existence; they will have nothing more and nothing less.

They are also close students of American history; they compare their war to America's struggle for independence. "What boots poverty or ill-clad soldiery, if the heart be right and the cause be just?" they ask.

The correspondent put the question bluntly to Mustapha Kemal, to Yussuf Kemal Bey, his Minister of Foreign Affairs, and to other leaders: "Are you not unsportsmanslike to organize yourselves for the purpose of beating a just peace after you were whipped in the great war?"

BELIEVE CAUSE JUST.

The answer came: "No. We have given up Syria and Mesopotamia. We have left these former Ottoman countries to their own destinies. What further penalty should we pay for our defeat?"

It is the intention of the Nationalist Turks to live or die on the issue of national independence and the integrity of the soil inhabited by Turks with no interference from foreigners.

As regards Bolshevism, it is apparent that the Turks are securing arms and a certain amount of assistance from that direction; yet they are as afraid of Bolshevik contact as Western Europe is. The Turks do not desire any political foreign control from any direction.

The intention is to drive out the Greeks and then to retake Constantinople, make it their commercial capital and begin rebuilding Turkey on the basis of good roads, education and export trade.

Today they are refusing to issue Nationalist paper money for fear of debasing the old currency. The Turks declare that the Nationalist movement, which has historically been going on for half a century, but has been mothered by the greed of sultans and pashas, is destined to live.

TO SOLVE ISLAND LABOR SHORTAGE.

MAY GET PORTO RICANS AND FILIPINOS TO WORK ON PLANTATIONS.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

WASHINGTON, Aug. 12—Hawaiian labor troubles are apparently about to end and without the importation of Chinese coolie labor. The House committee on immigration has been considering proposed legislation to admit a limited number of Chinese laborers under definite restrictions to harvest the sugar crop of the islands and ameliorate the shortage of this class of labor.

To this proposal the Japanese who are dominant in the islands made forcible objections and in this were aided and abetted by the American Federation of Labor which is against the use of Chinese labor in any form in the United States.

It is now proposed by the committee to provide for a labor commission which will arrange to secure and transport to the islands Porto Ricans and Philippine labor in sufficient numbers to prevent labor shortage. California members of Congress approved of this proposed solution.

OFFICERS BATTLE WITH HOBO GANG.

FIFTY CAPTURED AFTER THEY ARE DRIVEN FROM TRAIN NEAR EL PASO.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

EL PASO (Tex.) Aug. 12.—Police, deputy sheriffs and provost guards fought seventy-five illegal train riders today after the men had refused to get off a train which was pulling into the city.

All available officers in El Paso went in automobiles to meet the train. Just before it pulled into the city limits the illegal train riders saw the officers approaching, fled from the train, hid under a trestle or fled into the hills, some of them firing as the officers approached.

Seeking cover, the officers took up the fire. Fifty men were captured. Among them were two alleged Army deserters.

The men were from the West Coast, they said.

Name Arizona Prohibition Agent.

[BY A. P. DAY WIRE.]

WASHINGTON, Aug. 12.—The appointment of M. E. Cassidy of Bisbee as prohibition director for Arizona was announced today by Commissioner Blair.

CANDLE TRIBUTE FROM ORPHANS.

Caruso's Memory Honored by Tallow Stick that Will Burn for Years.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

NEW YORK, Aug. 12.—An eighteen-foot candle that can be burned on every All-Souls' Day for 5000 years is being made here as a memorial to Enrico Caruso from the inmates of an orphan home to which the Metropolitan opera stars contributed $10,000 a year for many years. It will be placed in the Church of the Madonna of Pompeii at Naples, Italy. Antonio Agello, maker of the candle, has erected a derrick in his shop by means of which the candle is dipped thrice daily in boiling tallow. It will be completed in ten weeks and will weigh about 1000 pounds. Mr. Agello has figured that the candle would burn continuously for thirteen years and seven months.

PRESIDENT'S FATHER AND NEW WIFE HOME.

NO WORD OF CONGRATULATIONS YET RECEIVED FROM WHITE HOUSE.

[BY A. P. DAY WIRE.]

MARION (O.) Aug. 12.—Dr. George T. Harding, father of President Harding, who was married yesterday at Monroe, Mich., to Miss Alice Severns, his office attendant, arrived at his office shortly before noon today, accompanied by his wife. He announced that he intended resuming his professional duties immediately, and said that he and Mrs. Harding would reside, at least temporarily, in the residence which the doctor has maintained here for a number of years. Upon their arrival here last night from Toledo they went to their respective homes.

Dr. Harding announced at noon that he had received no word from the President since he had been informed of the marriage by telegraph late last night.

Newspaper men and photographers began arriving in Marion early today from near by points, and the doctor and Mrs. Harding confessed to be considerably annoyed by persistent photographers.

NEW LEASE SYSTEM EFFECTIVE IN ZION.

VOLIVA FORBIDS SALE OF PORK AND OYSTERS; ERECTION OF THEATERS.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

CHICAGO, Aug. 12.—Wilbur Glenn Voliva, overseer of Zion, today started a new system of leasing property of the village. The new leases will be for 1079 years, the seventy-nine years being added on to cover the period during which the Lord is expected to come and take his saints out of the world for seven years. At the end of seven years, according to Dowie's teachings, they will return to establish His rule throughout the world for 1000 years.

The leases forbid the sale of pork products; the erection or operation of theaters, cinemas, dance halls, secret societies and the sale of intoxicants or tobacco or drugs. The sale of oysters or other unclean food as outlined in the Fourteenth Chapter of Deuteronomy and the use of any property as the residence of a physician or surgeon also is forbidden.

The announcement of the new leasing system is declared to be a renewal of Voliva's attack on religious organizations, which have opened revival churches in opposition to the Zion Cathedral.

FORTY LOSE LIVES IN SWISS LANDSLIDE.

[BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

BERNE, Aug. 12.—Forty persons have been killed and many persons are buried in a landslide at the village of Klausun in the Eisack Valley of Austrian Tyrol. The disaster was due to a heavy rainstorm which caused the mountain streams to overflow and send torrents of water in the village. Fifteen houses were destroyed.

CANADA WHEAT CROP BUMPER THIS YEAR.

[BY A. P. DAY WIRE.]

OTTAWA, Aug. 12.—Canada's wheat crop this year will exceed last year's by more than 25,000,000 bushels, but most other crops show a decrease.

Estimates published today by the Dominion Bureau of Statistics give the 1921 wheat yield as 288,493,000 bushels against 363,189,300 bushels last year, based on conditions of July 31.

ATTEMPTED ROBBERY OF MAILS IS BALKED.

[BY A. P. DAY WIRE.]

SYRACUSE (N. Y.) Aug. 12.—Attempted robbery of a through fast mail train near here was frustrated yesterday by New York Central Railroad detectives acting under instructions of the railway mail service in Washington.

A negro, armed with a dagger, who gave the name of J. W. O'Bannon, of Seattle, Wash., was arrested after a struggle when he tossed a bag filled with valuable mail out of a car as the train stopped, and then jumped after it. The sack contained insured mail consigned to St. Paul and points in the Northwest.

QUALIFY AS ARMY OFFICERS.

[BY A. P. DAY WIRE.]

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 12.—Fifteen Californians qualified for appointments as lieutenants in the Regular Army in a recent examination, it was announced yesterday at the Presidio. They include Gerald H. Fitzpatrick, Riverside; Arthur J. Grimes, San Diego; Frank T. Honsinger, Fresno, and Ernest S. Moon of Arcadia. They are among 208 successful candidates throughout the country.

HELP GROWERS MARKET CROPS.

Government Aid Is Provided by New Measure.

To Enlarge Powers of War Finance Board.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

WASHINGTON, Aug. 12.—All California co-operative agricultural associations may be able to secure government aid in handling their crops in trade within the United States because of the turn down received by the Alfalfa Growers of California by the War Finance Corporation. An application of that organization for $250,000 to market the crop was made a few days ago by Jacob Mansar, president of the Alfalfa Growers of Los Angeles. The request was denied because the law limited the Finance Corporation to advances only for the purpose of exporting crops and other commodities. Failure to obtain government relief was brought to the attention of Senator Shortridge and the plight of the California alfalfa men brought to the attention of the First National Bank of Los Angeles, which is trying to give the hay men the necessary relief. In the plea made to the War Finance Corporation President Mansar said that the alfalfa men were without money to complete the growing of the crops and would have to shut down unless from some other source they should get the necessary financial advances to pay for power for irrigation and to meet current labor costs.

FORAGE FAMINE IMPENDS.

He explained that not only would it ruin the growers if the situation could not be remedied, but that it would cause a forage famine and greatly interfere with the dairy business in the whole State.

This critical situation of not only the alfalfa growers, but all of the other California co-operative associations engaged in agriculture were laid today before a meeting of the entire California delegation in Congress, and the difficulties fully discussed. After various plans had been suggested it was determined by all the Congressmen present that every man from California in the House would support and work for the immediate passage of a new bill to be introduced tomorrow in the House to remedy this defect.

WOULD AMEND PRESENT LAW.

The legislation will take the form of an amendment to the War Finance Corporation law authorizing and directing the corporation to make advances on proper security to any co-operative agricultural association for the purpose of developing the crop or marketing the same in the United States. This would enable such associations as the lemon growers, orange growers, almond growers, walnut growers, etc., to secure temporary financing for the purpose of distributing the crops throughout the United States. The bill extending the powers of the Finance Corporation to aid agricultural associations to dispose of their crops abroad as it passed the Senate does not take care of the domestic crops and distribution and the proposed amendment is to make the law apply to agricultural co-operative associations either for export business or domestic distribution.

Senators Shortridge and Johnson agreed to do all possible to have this change accepted by the Senate and there are good prospects that the proposed change will be accepted by both houses of Congress without delay.

UNUSUAL BUNCO TALE HAS UNUSUAL END.

GLIB STRANGER GETS COIN FROM CANADIAN; HONESTY SURPRISES OFFICER.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

CHICAGO, Aug. 12.—Alonzo Wilcox, 76, of Chapin, Ont., had an unusual experience in Chicago today. Mr. Wilcox, en route to Iowa to live with a daughter, had $350 in Canadian currency, and was wondering how he could get it changed into currency of the United States. A young man on the train volunteered to solve his problem for him. Wilcox turned the Canadian currency over to the stranger, who told him he would meet him at the Union Station with the United States cash.

Alonzo went and waited. Neither the stranger nor the money appeared. The old man told his troubles to Station Policeman Jerry Delaney. The latter, from long years of experience, told him he might as well give up hope of ever seeing that money again. But just then the stranger appeared with the American equivalent of $350 in Canadian money. The stranger wouldn't even tell his name and it was some time before Officer Delaney could be revived.

CATCHES SHARKS OFF COAST AT CAPE MAY.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

CAPE MAY (N. J.) Aug. 11.—Fishing with H. E. Derbyshire, a retired Philadelphia manufacturer, in his yacht, Cycle, off the Five-Fathom bank lightship, twenty miles at sea off this city, Emory Eyesman, a son of Julian Eyesman, general traffic manager of the Pennsylvania Railroad, caught two sharks that measured eight feet and eight feet, four inches long, and tipped the scales at 450 and 490 pounds, respectively. The boy is 13 years old.

He battled with the sharks for more than two hours before landing them.

SELF-DEFENSE CLAIM OF PREACHER-SLAYER.

MURDERER OF PRIEST SAYS HE WAS STRUCK BEFORE FIRING.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

BIRMINGHAM (Ala.) Aug. 12.—The Rev. Edwin R. Stephenson, Methodist minister, is being held awaiting the action of a special grand jury following the fatal shooting of the Very Rev. Father James E. Coyle, dean of the Catholic Church in North Alabama, pastor of St. Paul's in Birmingham. Stephenson, in the County Jail, is claiming self-defense, but seems more concerned over the attack made on him by a local Methodist dignitary, who states the man is a "shifty preacher."

The Rev. Mr. Stephenson, according to the statement made today, had bitterly opposed the desire of his 18-year-old daughter to join the Catholic church. Yesterday the daughter was missing from home and the father and mother went to the Sheriff to have a search started. A short while later Stephenson learned that his daughter had married a Catholic. Infuriated, Stephenson went to the home of Father Coyle, who had performed the ceremony. In the argument that followed Stephenson shot the priest through the head.

Stephenson then walked to the County Jail, where he surrendered. Stephenson told the police that he was walking past the parish house.

"He called to me and asked me to sit down," he continued. "We started to talk about my daughter's marriage," Stephenson then declares he called the priest a "dirty dog." The minister declared the priest told him not to make that remark again.

"I again called him a dirty dog and he struck me twice," said the minister. "He reached towards his back pocket and I fired."

Rev. Stephenson was at times called the "marrying Parson." He spent most of his time at the County Courthouse. In an interview Stephenson declared he was ordained in 1905.

MARKET IS SAVED FOR RICE GROWERS.

CALIFORNIA SENATORS BLOCK PLAN PROPOSED BY SOUTHERNERS.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

WASHINGTON, Aug. 12.—Californians today succeeded in blocking a move on the part of the Shipping Board, which, if carried out would have destroyed for California rice growers one of their greatest markets. For some time the southern rice planters have been trying to get a differential against the California rice in the ocean grain rates for shipment to Cuba and Porto Rico in order that they could control the market and dispose of all rice produced on southern plantations. The rate from Gulf points to Cuba and Porto Rico has been 48 cents and from Coast points the rate has been 52½ cents. Pressure was brought from the South on the Shipping Board officials to raise the rate on rice from Coast points to 70 cents.

Senator Shortridge and others of the California delegation discovered this attempt and by quick action prevented such an order being issued by the Shipping Board. At the meeting of the California delegation today it was decided to follow this matter up thoroughly in united action and see to it that the rice growers of California were in no way handicapped by rates, which would jeopardize so large and valuable a market.

FIND TUMOR AT BASE OF DAVISON'S BRAIN.

NOTED FINANCIER ON OPERATING TABLE FOR THREE HOURS YESTERDAY.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

NEW YORK, Aug. 12.—Henry P. Davison, member of the firm of J. P. Morgan & Co., was placed on the operating table at Roosevelt Hospital at 9 o'clock this morning and more than three hours later was removed to a bed, although the operation, although a delicate exploration of brain tissues, had not been completed. It was learned that a tumor had formed on the brain. It was not removed and a consultation of surgeons has been called to decide whether another operation can safely be undertaken within a few days, if at all.

The effect of the operation today, it was said, was to relieve pressure. It was discontinued because of bleeding and the depression caused by the anaesthetic.

Dr. Frederick Elsberg, a specialist in brain surgery, was in charge of the case, assisted by Dr. Evan H. Evans, and Dr. Franklin Llewellyn, professor of clinical medicine at Johns Hopkins University. Dr. Frederick Tilney, another brain specialist, was summoned from his Long Island home for the consultation held after the operation.

J. P. Morgan himself hurried to the hospital a few minutes after the first administration of the anaesthetic. He and another member of the firm, George Case, spent the whole morning there, with other friends and members of the Davison family. Thomas W. Lamont, another of the Morgan partners, was at his office, 23 Wall street, where a telephone wire was kept open to for him connected with the hospital so that news of the operation might be transmitted instantly.

For several months Mr. Davison had been confined to his home at Peacock Point, Glencove, suffering from severe headaches, nervous and sleeplessness.

HEAD OF DRIVERS' UNION INDICTED.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

CHICAGO, Aug. 12.—Four officers of the Milk Wagon Drivers' Union were indicted today on charges of conspiracy to boycott, to intimidate, extort and commit malicious mischief, in restricting the delivery of milk.

Sixty housewives had testified before the grand jury of intimidation after they had become dissatisfied with the service of certain drivers and had tried to change to others. The women testified that they had been refused service of any kind and were forced to go to the nearest dealers and bring home their own milk. It was brought out that when complaints were made of the delivery of sour, impure and dirty milk a boycott was placed on the patron by the drivers.

OREGON AVIATORS MUST BE LICENSED.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

PORTLAND (Or.) Aug. 12.—Aviators in Oregon who fly hereafter without carrying their State license are liable to be arrested.

Just how the arrest is to be made is not announced by the authorities, but the Oregon State Board of Aeronautics, which met Tuesday at Salem, announced that a fine of not more than $200 or imprisonment in the County Jail of not more than sixty days, or both, may be imposed on some aviators who are not yet licensed.

Today was the last day for filing application for licenses.

BETTER PRICES FOR PRODUCERS.

White House Statement Gives Reasons for Hope.

Reduction in Export Grain Rates Factor.

Europe Needs Vast Amount of Foodstuffs.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

WASHINGTON, Aug. 13.—Strong hope for better prices in the agricultural markets is justified by reductions in the railroad rates on grain for export, already in effect and proposed, according to a statement issued at the White House tonight.

Recent reductions in the export rate on grains between Chicago and New York, the statement said, will be followed by sweeping revisions of grain rates generally, including those from Mississippi River points and on the lines to the Gulf, in order that the entire agricultural interest may share fully in the benefits.

"In general," the statement continued, "advances in freight costs are passed on to the consumer by adding them to the selling price. But in grains, whose domestic price is dominated by the foreign price of the exported surplus, the producer suffers when rates go up and benefits when they go down. Therefore, though the exports represent a minor share of the total grain production, the lowering of export rates affects the entire crop.

JUSTIFIES STRONG HOPE.

"These reductions of rates, together with the arrangements for financial assistance to export trade and the assurance that Europe is going to need extraordinary quantities of American foodstuffs, constitute altogether a justification for strong hope that the tendency in the agricultural markets will for sometime be decidedly toward better prices."

Reductions of transportation rates on grain for export was described as "one of the most important measures the administration has initiated for the relief of agriculture and of general industrial conditions." The reductions, it was explained, were insisted upon by Secretary Hoover as a concession to the agricultural interests, when, on behalf of President Harding, he negotiated with the carriers the basis of settlement of their claims against the government, growing out of Federal control.

BASIS OF ADJUSTMENT.

"This was made the basis of the adjustment," the statement continued, "the railroads relinquishing their so-called 'labor inefficiency' claims, and undertaking to inaugurate reductions in the export grain rates, while the administration undertook to assist them by securing early settlement of their claims against the government."

Moreover, the statement declared, it was discovered under the old conditions, that the Canadian railways and ports were getting the lion's share of the grain movement to Europe, including quantities of American grain.

"To meet this condition," it said, "and insure that the American producer would not only get his full share of the sales in foreign markets, but would also get the highest possible price, a movement for reducing export rates was inaugurated by the administration."

Perpetual Black Eye Blamed on Husband by Wife's Lawyer

CHICAGO, Aug. 12.—"She has been wearing at least one discolored eye during the entire six years of their married life," Attorney Samuel B. Blankston told Judge Hugo Pam in Superior Court today in Mrs. Nina McGowan's suit for divorce from Cecil E. McGowan, a purchasing agent in a Loop store. The charge on which the suit is based is repeated cruelty.

CRITICISE SALARIES OF SHIPPING BOARD.

HOUSE DECIDES NOT MORE THREE OFFICIALS WILL GET OVER $12,500.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

WASHINGTON, Aug. 13.—Criticisms in the House today by both Republican and Democrats of salaries paid by the Shipping Board culminated in the adoption of an amendment to the bill carrying $48,500,000 for expenses of the board until January 1 next, that not more than three officials shall receive more than $12,500 a year.

The amendment was offered by Chairman Madden of the Appropriations Committee after the House had voted down an amendment by Representative Hardy, Democrat, Texas, to make the $12,500 limit apply to all but two officials.

An amendment by Representative Sweet, Republican, Iowa, to cut the amount carried in the bill to $35,000,000 was defeated by a vote of 69 to 52.

Repeatedly during four hours' debate, Chairman Lasker of the Shipping Board was the subject of debate. Representative Walsh, Republican, Massachusetts, chairman of the committee which recently investigated Shipping Board affairs, declared he was "pretty strong on promises but seemed to be pretty weak on facts," and Representative Oliver, Democrat, Alabama, said that the Shipping Board chairman indulged in "wild dreams" and was persistently "seeking notoriety in newspaper headlines."

Mr. Madden declared that Mr. Lasker had found things in a chaotic condition and urged that he be given "six months" to show what he could do.

Questioning the advisability of paying some of the salaries, Representative Wood, Republican, Indiana, said he knew of an attorney receiving $7500 a year from the Shipping Board who previously never had earned more than $2000, and wasn't worth 75 cents.

BOOTLEGGER GANG BLAMED FOR BOMBING.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

CHICAGO, Aug. 13.—A reward of $1000 for information leading to the arrest and conviction of the man or men responsible for the bombing in Waukegan, of the home of State's Attorney Ashbel V. Smith of Lake county, was posted by the Lake county Board of Supervisors today.

Police guarded Col. Smith's home during the day. He himself, reiterated his belief that the bombing is the result of enmity incurred by him through his hot prosecution of illicit liquor dealers throughout the county.

Following a meeting of the Lake County Bar Association, residents of Waukegan turned out en masse to attend a mass meeting called by the association. They unanimously pledged their aid in running down the bomber and the man or men responsible for the outrage.

"They can't scare me with bombs," Col. Smith declared. "I have been lenient in many cases. Hereafter it will be strictly business. I am going to redouble my efforts to wipe every bootlegger off the map in Lake county."

Mrs. Smith, who, with her husband was thrown from bed by the explosion which wrecked the front porch of their home, is recovering from the shock occasioned by the fright and the noise of the blast.

Dowie's Leases in Zion City to Undergo Change

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

ZION CITY (Ill.) Aug. 13.—Wilbur Glenn Voliva, overseer of Zion, renewed his attack today on religious organizations which have opened churches here in opposition to the Zion Church, with the announcement that the famous leases of Alexander Dowie will be changed to prohibit the transfer of property without the personal approval of the overseer.

The new leases will be for a period of 1079 years, the seventy-nine years being added to cover the period during which the Lord is expected to come and take his saints out of the world for seven years. At the end of the seven years, according to Dowie's teachings, they will be returned to establish His rule throughout the world for 1000 years.

Dowie's leases, made in 1900, were for 1100 years. The flight of the saints to heaven was to take place some time during the extra 100 years. The new leases, running 1079 years, will terminate, like the originals, in the year 3000.

SOVIETS WILL ACCEPT HELP.

But Will Bar Any Interference in Russian Affairs.

Litvinoff Gives Ultimatum to Newspaper Men.

Outlines Steps Already Taken to Relieve Famine.

[BY CABLE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

RIGA, Aug. 12.—"The soviet government will tolerate no interference in internal affairs of Russia; we gladly accept all purely humanitarian aid that will be offered us, but to any attempts to take away prerogatives of the soviet government or any part of its power, we reply non possumus."

Such was the firm statement by Maxim Litvinoff, who received foreign press representatives this morning.

He prefaced his remarks by a statement on the outcome, as representative of the central famine relief commission, that the soviet government had no political object, only a humanitarian aim to arrange foreign co-operation fighting the Volga famine which embraced ten governments, a total area of 600,000 square versts and population of 13,000,000 peasants and 2,000,000 townspeople.

GIVES DETAILS OF FAMINE.

Litvinoff then gave details already published regarding the famine.

There is not only actual shortage of over 1,000,000 tons of food for inhabitants and cattle, but nearly the same quantity of seed is needed for winter and spring sowing if a similar disaster is to be avoided next year. Especially pressing is need for winter sowing, which cannot be done later than the middle of September. For this upwards of 250,000 tons are needed. In view of transport difficulties—to say nothing of mortality of live stock for doing actual plowing, if seed is received—no efforts can be too great to avert disaster.

OUTLINES MEASURE TAKEN.

Litvinoff outlined the following measures already taken by the soviet authorities:

First, creation of a central soviet famine relief commission to coordinate and direct all relief activities.

Second, creation of a nonpolitical famine commission, including members of both Czarist and Kerensky cabinets, which has been given full freedom to act not only centrally, but locally on relief work without interference of any kind, and allowed to send its own delegation abroad.

Third, Volga area has been freed of food tax which has been estimated at millions of tons to be devoted to feeding urban centers.

LOOK AFTER CHILDREN.

Fourth, a special committee formed to look after children. Five trains already have been sent to the famine area, with food, baths, medicine, etc., to evacuate children to North and Central Russia. Thus, Toula, where food conditions are better, has agreed to take 15,000.

Fifth, special measures taken for evacuation of "fugitives" by whom Litvinoff explained he meant principally former inhabitants of Western Russia, who had fled to the Volga district from Germans and now are trying to return to their old homes, owing to the famine.

He attributed the "panic" to these elements, though he added, local peasants also joined in flight, but in an easterly or southerly direction. Government work will be found for the fugitives in the Don coal area, on Turkestan irrigation projects and Siberia. Finally, food, etc., is being collected in all available areas and all transport efforts will be devoted to its distribution in the Volga regions.

EXTERMINATE COLUMN OF SPANISH CAVALRY.

NEWSPAPER TELLS HOW HORSEMEN SACRIFICED SELVES FOR INFANTRY.

[BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

MADRID, Aug. 12.—Gallant action by cavalry under Col. Primo-Rivera, in protecting the retreat of a column of 400 men in Morocco, is described in La Libertad.

The column was pressed by the rebel tribesmen. Twice the cavalry charged and scattered the assailants, killing many of them, and enabling the column to retreat. The battlefield was covered with the dead and dying of both sides.

The Spanish troops then entered a narrow pass where other rebels awaited them on the heights. They expected the order to retreat, but instead came the order to charge a third time. Shouting "Viva Espana," the cavalry against attacked, sacrificing themselves to save the column. None of the men hesitated, and when the third charge was finished, few of them remained.

Col. Primo-Rivera by word and deed encouraged his men, and even ordered a fourth charge. The brave survivors spurred their horses against the enemy, but their animals were so fatigued that they reached the rebel ranks at a walk. Here, both men and horses were exterminated.

According to advices received here from Melilla, Gen. Navarro, head of the column which has been surrounded by the Moors on Mt. Arruit, is a prisoner in the home of the Arab chief of the Beni Cheilali, together with four captains, five lieutenants and several soldiers.

Gen. Berenguer, the high commissioner in Morocco, the advices say, is treating with the Arab chief for the liberty of the prisoners.

PECULIAR TRIANGLE TURNS UP IN DENVER.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

DENVER, Aug. 11.—Miss Nellie Phillips, 25 years old, today made a formal complaint to a probation officer against George Stoffel, garage owner, charging that she was his "love mate," that she had borne him two children, and that he took them and turned them over to his wife, who had no children.

Miss Phillips charges, according to court authorities, that Stoffel has maintained two residences for four years, one for her and one for his wife, by agreement between herself and Stoffel's wife. Stoffel was placed under arrest late yesterday following the filing of charges.

Earth's Passage Through Comet Tail Announced.

[BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

HEIDELBERG, Aug. 12.—Announcement is made at the Koenigstuhl Observatory that the earth passed through the tail of a comet on the night of August 8.

At sunset on August 7 a bright object was observed near the sun by W. W. Campbell, director of Lick Observatory, which is located near San Jose. It was described as brighter than Venus and was located three degrees east and one degree south of the sun. Reports from the observatory indicated that experts there believed it might be the nucleus of a bright comet.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 12.—Since the night of August 7 a special detachment of observers, directed by Commander F. B. Little of the naval observatory here, has been searching the sunset and sunrise skies without success for traces of the new celestial body noted at Lick Observatory, California.

PHILIPPINES REPORT EXPECTED SOON NOW.

GEN. WOOD MAY BE RELEASED FROM PROMISE TO ACCEPT UNIVERSITY POST.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

WASHINGTON, Aug. 12.—Nomination of Maj.-Gen. Wood as Governor-General of the Philippine Islands awaited today action by the University of Pennsylvania to release him from his promise to become provost of the institution, but his service in the islands may not last more than a year, Secretary Weeks said today that Gen. Wood had yielded reluctantly to urgings that he accept the Governorship, preferring to follow his original purpose of seeking private employment. It might well be, Mr. Weeks added, that should the university authorities consent to the change in plan, Gen. Wood would remain only a year in the islands, then come home to take up his deferred work at the university.

Although Gen. Wood's designation to head the island government is regarded among War Department officials as virtually settled, it was emphasized in high administration circles today that no nomination would go to the Senate until after receipt of the report of the special investigation commission of which the general is chairman. This commission was sent to the Philippines by President Harding to make a survey of conditions and to recommend what form of government was best.

The report is expected to reach the President within a few days, and although no official forecast of its tenor has been received, there have been many indications that it would suggest continuation of the present governmental provisions, so far as they affect selection of a Governor-General.

MORE MONEY NEEDED FOR FLOOD SUFFERERS.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 12.—Response of the American people to the call for aid of flood victims at Pueblo and La Junta, Colo., has not been adequate to meet the tremendous need for relief, according to a letter from the Chamber of Commerce of the United States to the San Francisco Chamber of Commerce today.

The American Red Cross estimates that $225,000 more is necessary immediately for imperative work of rehabilitating the homeless of which Pueblo alone has 7215 families, the letter states.

Los Angeles Bank Deposits Average Increase 153 Per Cent Per Year for More Than a Generation.

BY CHAPIN HALL.

By means of a remarkable and unusual group of statistics compiled by Jonathan S. Dodge, State Superintendent of Banks, it is found that in the State banking corporations alone doing business in the city of Los Angeles the percentage of increase in deposits since 1890 and up to July 1, 1921, reached the almost unbelievable total of 4750 per cent.

While the comparable tables of the national banks covering the same period are not immediately available, it is undoubtedly a fact that an equally consistent showing was made and, in the opinion of bankers who were shown this remarkable table, it has never been approached by any other large city in the financial history of the world.

This increase is at the sustained rate of 153 per cent per year for thirty-one consecutive years, although as a matter of course it was not as evenly distributed as that. For instance, the first decade falling under the keen analytical eye of the superintendent and embraced in the report reveals only an increase of 311 per cent, but in the succeeding twenty-one years it was 1527 per cent, while for the entire term involved in the review it shows a percentage of increase of 4750.

In the year 1890 there were in Los Angeles but eleven State banks; in 1900 there were fourteen, and in 1921, sixty-four. The full statement of these interesting figures, as released by Mr. Dodge, is as follows:

| | Jan. 1, 1890. | | Jan. 1, 1900. | | June 30, 1921. | |

NATION'S WHITE SPOT.

In every report made by the National Chamber of Commerce, and in many monthly reviews of authoritative publications or bank letters Los Angeles has been held up to the eye of the nation as the shining example of sustained business.

The complimentary allusion to this city as the white spot on the business map, backed as it is by irrefutable statistics, has been of inestimable benefit, in bringing to the attention of the country at large the facts in the case, emphasized by the adverse statements emanating from other centers.

It is probable that, at this time, Los Angeles is better and more favorably known to more people than it has ever been before. From 6000 to 8000 new and permanent residents have been added to the city's population every month this year. These figures are conservative and based upon estimates supplied by public utility companies, school and directory census. The more enthusiastic place the growth at double this total. It may, however, be asserted with reasonable accuracy that the population will show a legitimate increase of from 70,000 to 100,000 for the year. At the same time the remarkable growth of Long Beach, Pasadena, Glendale and other surrounding and contributing centers continues unabated.

It is perhaps, not so much the circumstance of growth, as that the growth is so readily assimilated, that stands out as the predominant feature, and indicates more than anything else the cosmopolitan character the metropolis has assumed. In spite of the remarkable access of population, and the fact that many of the homeseekers are wage earners, the unemployment problem has at no time been pressing, and today there are few idle men in Los Angeles who are conscientiously willing to work, and to take such employment as comes to hand.

HARD TO KEEP FACE.

The people of Los Angeles will be given, in impressive form, the chief reason for this happy condition in the trade exposition to be held in the Terminal Building next week. Industrial Los Angeles has grown so rapidly that even old time residents of the city are not fully informed.

We are bound to consider, too, in any discussion of the remarkable business achievements of the current year that they have been attained in the face of radical readjustment, curtailment, export hiatus, exchange rate weakness, lowering prices, and other conditions which have so materially aided in slowing up business in most cities throughout the country.

Also our principal industry, that of the production of moving pictures, has been seriously handicapped by and through these conditions, and the volume has fallen to a minimum, which in prospect, would have chilled the optimist.

Thus we have both a negative and a positive side to the story. Los Angeles has climbed the hill with the brakes set. She has gone forward with the business clutch in reverse. She has progressed in spite of rather than because of conditions.

CHANCE TO SCORE.

It so happens than an exceptionally opportune occasion to impress these and other pertinent facts upon a group of men who count very materially in the financial, business and industrial affairs of the nation will be offered when the American Bankers' Association meets here early in October.

These men, coming from every corner of the country, will be given an opportunity to see and to judge for themselves the causes and the effect of so unusual a condition. Facts and figures will be available. They will be told that Los Angeles banks lead the entire country in the percentage of increase of clearings, which are considered a barometer in testing the upward or downward trend of general business conditions, and the figures will prove to these hard-headed captains of finance that this is the only city of any size in the country able to show an actual increase in bank clearings for the first half of the year.

The advantages of the American plan will be presented, and in this connection the marvelous building record, proving that in the face of high construction cost, and serious labor troubles elsewhere, Los Angeles has led the country on a percentage basis and also in volume except for the two great cities of the East, New York and Chicago, numbering their population by millions rather than hundreds of thousands.

The delegates to this important convention will be taken to our manmade harbor and the astounding record of its growth and ever increasing tonnage laid before them; a record which has already placed us in second place on the Pacific Coast.

THE WHYS AND WHEREFORES.

In brief the bankers of America will learn for themselves when they become our guests six weeks or so hence that there is a vital, concrete reason underlying that white spot, represented not on paper, but by actual cash sent through the banks.

No propaganda is necessary to "sell" Los Angeles. The facts are all sufficient, but they should be carefully marshaled and succinctly presented so that the visitors may return to their respective communities convinced, not through a pleasant week spent amid delightful surroundings, but because they saw with their own eyes the where and whyfors of the white spot and will be able to carry their findings to a definite, cumulative end which will result in a nation-wide stimulation of business, and an increased respect for the city which has made the white spot famous.

THE COUNTRY OVER.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

KANSAS CITY, Aug. 12.—While business continues to improve in this section, it is difficult to point to any one development indicative of the change, because progress is slow and general. Oil men in the midcontinent field are anxiously awaiting action of the Federal Reserve Board on their request that oil paper be accepted for rediscount. Favorable action, they say, would go far toward helping them out of depression. Producing oil wells are now being shut down because the cost of production is exceeding returns.

SEATTLE, Aug. 12.—The basic industries in the Pacific Northwest—the canning of salmon and the lumber industry—now are coming into their own. The official statement of the West Coast Lumbermen's Association, just issued, shows that the production of the mills in Western Washington and Oregon is only 29 per cent below normal. This is a decided gain over the point two months ago. Japan is buying lumber heavily in this section, and lumber space in ships bound for the Orient is almost at a premium.

CLEVELAND, Aug. 12.—Conditions throughout this district are spotted. Following the low ingot production in July, there has been decided improvement in the steel industry in this section. Fourteen sheet mills and nine open-hearth furnaces were put in operation by one company in the Mahoning Valley this week, making sixty sheet mills now in operation there.

FOREIGN EXCHANGE FIRM.

Markets Mechanical With Call Money Still at Six Per Cent; Trade Shows Slow Improvement.

BY ALEXANDER DANA NOYES,
Financial Editor New York "Times."
[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

NEW YORK, Aug. 12.—All markets lapsed into a narrow mechanical movement today with only such fluctuations of prices as a few restless professional speculators could occasion.

On the stock exchange the professional activities pushed prices up in most cases; stocks sold for a decline earlier in the week being bought back on the approach of the week-end.

The statement given out in the afternoon by the bankers in charge of the Mercantile Bank of the Americas affair added little to what Wall street knew already of the matter, but the fact that a formal public statement had been made regarding the attitude of the bankers syndicate presumably had good effect.

The situation is at least no longer what it was two or three months ago, when the absence of authoritative statements in matters, which had perplexed and disturbed the financial community gave unlimited opportunity for extravagant Wall-street rumor.

Advances of a point or more were numerous in the stock market, both with industrial and railway shares. There were exceptions to the recovery, one or two shares regaining losses. Call money did not vary from the 6 per cent rate, at which it has stood unchanged since Thursday of last week.

Foreign exchange was firm again as a rule, with sterling fractionally higher, but the German rate distinctly weak. There was a disposition in the market to ascribe the lower rate on Berlin to doubt over the outcome of the disputed claims of Poland and Germany in the division of Silesia.

The week-end mercantile reviews indicate on the whole a slow improvement in the state of trade; based as the similar condition of recent weeks has been, on the halt in the long continued fall of prices. Yet the signs of betterment still seem to exist rather in the feeling of the trade than in actual business.

BUSINESS NEWS.

Continued activity in the oil stocks was manifested yesterday, and the softness was more pronounced than ever. Selling tendencies were in evidence, but the volume of actual trading on the local board was not heavy. The main cause for the slump in oils is believed to be the decline in crude prices, and not to any of the more sensational rumors which always attend a declining market.

Several small blocks and odd lots of Union were under the hammer within a price range from 129 to 128.50. Delaware Union again sold, down to 16.87½. There was fair activity in Republic Petroleum, which reached a new low at 26½ cents. Associated gained a point from an opening at 96, and General was stronger up to 82. Mines were still weak and the market as a whole closed uncertainly.

The rise of the Federal reserve rate in a declining market was said to indicate an improvement in the general banking situation, although frozen credits continue to clog.

Federal Reserve Bank report for the Twelfth District as of August 10 shows total reserves of $217,990,000, which compares with $215,306,000 for the preceding week, and $164,579,000 for the corresponding week a year ago. Total resources declined slightly from $407,218,000 to $407,083,000. A year ago they were $424,728,000. Deposits are about the same as last week, $120,303,000, against $120,075,000. For the corresponding week in 1920 they were $123,563,000. Federal Reserve notes in actual circulation totaled $227,221,000, against $229,626,000 the week before and $238,949,000 last year. Discount rates remain unchanged at 5½ per cent on all classes of paper.

The bond market continues up and coming, and both the $10,000,000 Philippine Island issue and the Western Unions, which were offered Thursday on a 6.60 per cent basis, were quickly oversubscribed. The Western Unions made an advance yesterday of 3-8 of a point. Among the participants in this issue are the bond departments of the Los Angeles Trust and Savings, the First National and the Citizens' National banks, Stephens and Company, Harris Trust and Savings Bank of Chicago, the Guaranty Company of New York, and Drake, Riley and Thomas. The telegraph company's bonds are of fifteen-year maturity, nonredeemable, and bear 6½ per cent interest They are offered at 99.

NEW BANK OFFICIALS.

An interesting announcement came from the First National Bank yesterday when the appointment of two new junior vice-presidents was promulgated. A. C. Way and W. H. Lutz were advanced from assistant cashierships to the executive staff. Mr. Way has been with the bank many years and is among the best-loved and most popular of the bankers' craft in Los Angeles. Mr. Lutz is a Pasadenan, and is also well known in financial circles throughout Southern California.

PHILIPPINE ISSUE.

A $10,000,000 issue of the government of the Philippine Islands twenty-year noncallable bonds was brought into the market yesterday and quickly oversubscribed. The bonds were priced at 98½, to yield 5 5-8 per cent, and carried the usual tax-exemption features of government bonds. They were offered by several bond houses, and most of the blocks held by Los Angeles firms were absorbed early in the day.

BOND OVERSALES.

Stephens and Company report heavy oversales on three of the recent issues they are handling. The Great Western Power bonds, the Philippine issue that came out yesterday, and the Western Union issue, all have met with a ready response.

The Western Union bonds were allotted yesterday by the Kuhn, Loeb and Company syndicate. Los Angeles dealers received from 10 to 15 per cent of the amounts that had been subscribed. This indicates that the issue was oversubscribed eight or nine times. The bonds were priced to yield 6.60 per cent, and their remarkable popularity among investors gives indication of the healthy state of the money market, and points to a probable early return of money rates to normal.

THE COMPLETE PRODUCER.

If present experiments in growing flax in California succeed, there will remain but one American crop which is not raised in this State—buckwheat. Every other fruit or vegetable raised in the United States is grown in California except these two, says E. H. Kaufman, crop reporter for the Department of Agriculture. Since the disorganization of Russia, which had produced most of the world's flax, efforts have been made by the Federal and State Departments of Agriculture to raise this crop in California. Last year 6000 acres of flax were grown in this country, but the price of flax fiber was so low that growers were discouraged, and the 1921 acreage is half that of 1920.

Before the war Russia produced 80 per cent of flax fiber used in making linens. Ten thousand tons a year are used in the United States, and most of it is imported. The office of fiber investigation is encouraging the production of flax in America, investigating new methods and machines and developing improved strains.

BIG SUGAR CARRY OVER.

More than 2,000,000 tons of sugar, or half a year's supply for this country, will be carried over into next year, according to the Federal Sugar Refining Company. The size of this year's Cuban crop, the promise of a large domestic beet crop, and the improved Luisiana cane crop, all necessitate a revision of the Federal estimate of last May, which then predicted a carry-over of 1,356,247 tons. The new estimate is 2,125,738 tons, and this, together with the 1921-1922 Cuban, Porto Rican, and other cane crops, declares the Federal, will make the problems of the sugar industry in 1922 unprecedented.

"In estimating the future strength of the market," says the Federal Review, "only sales of refined sugar for consumption should be taken into consideration. Prices have advanced on sales of raws to operators and refiners. Refiners' purchases indicate merely the necessity of running plants to supply the trade. From London the news comes that sugar prices are hardening."

TICKER TICKS.

Estimate of the American Petroleum Institute places last week's production of crude oil in the United States at a daily average of 1,315,240 barrels, a slight increase over the preceding week.

Imports of gold into United States for eleven days ended July 31, were $19,147,401, bringing total since January 1 to $410,251,843.

Value of exports from New York during June show decrease of $143,041,056, compared with June, 1920. Imports declined $215,302,143.

Average prices, twenty industrials 68.29, off .20; twenty rails 71.40, off .40.

MARKET FOR APPLES IS SLOW AND WEAK.

FIRMER FEELING DEVELOPING IN GRAPEFRUIT, BUT LEMONS ARE DOWN.

The apple market was weak yesterday and the movement slow, because of the heavy receipts of this fruit in lug boxes. Logs sold mostly at 50 to 60 cents. Practically all of the stock is of the green or white varieties, there being very few red apples on the market in lugs as yet. Packed Gravensteins sold from $2.65 to $3 yesterday on account of lighter offerings.

Cantaloupes and watermelons moved slowly, cantaloupes selling at about 25 cents a crate lower on local stock, while watermelons are about ½ cent a pound cheaper. Turlock standard 38s and 45s were hard to move at $1.65 to $1.75 a crate, and flats sold at 75 cents.

There is a firmer feeling in the grapefruit market. Market packs sold around $3. Lemons, however, continued weak, loose packs selling from $2.75 to $3 a box. Oranges remain firm at unchanged prices.

The pear supplies are heavy but there is a good demand, especially for ripe stock. Prices remain unchanged at 5 to 7 cents a pound for Bartletts. Peach supplies are still heavy and the movement is dragging, Elbertas selling from 50 cents to $1 a lug for fancy stock and as low as 50 cents for the No. 2's.

Eggplants and peppers are hard to move even at the present low prices. Eggplants sold at 2 to 4 cents a pound and Bell peppers at 3 to 7 cents, and Chilis at 4 and 5 cents a pound. Onions are firm, new White Globes from Stockton selling at $2.75 a hundredweight, and local whites in lugs marketing at 85 cents to $1.

DAILY MARKET REPORT.

These are the actual prices obtained yesterday by Los Angeles wholesalers from their sales to retailers, peddlers, hotels, restaurants, cafeterias, etc., as compiled by the U. S. Bureau of Markets. Terms—Cash on the walk:

Who Buys Bonds?

A Church in Long Beach

Several months ago the pastor of a church in Long Beach wrote to us saying that one of the members had made a very large cash donation to the church. The donor restricted the gift by the provision that the principal should be invested by the board of deacons in bonds legal for California savings banks.

The pastor had not heard of such bonds and wished guidance in making this investment. We explained the matter fully and submitted a list of recommended bonds legal for California savings banks.

In sending the board's acceptance of our recommendations, the pastor said he could conceive of no better restrictions that could be placed around a bequest.

This pastor is enthusiastic for the co-operation we gave him in this matter.

Bonds are admirably suited for the investment of trust funds, bequests and surpluses for churches, benevolent and fraternal organizations. We offer such organizations guidance in safe investment. Write for information.

The Attorney General of the United States, in his opinion as to the legality of this bond issue, states that:

"This issue and sale of bonds is authorized explicitly by the national power, and while in the strict and legal sense the faith of the United States is not pledged as a guaranty for the payment of the loan or for the due use of the proceeds or the observance of the sinking fund requirements, the entire transaction is to be negotiated under the auspices of the United States, and by its recognition and aid. There can be no doubt, therefore, that the national power will take the necessary steps in all contingencies to protect the purchasers in good faith of these securities.

"These bonds are issued under authority contained in Act of Congress approved August 29, 1916, as amended July 21, 1921, and in an Act of the Philippine Legislature approved February 5, 1921. Under the terms of the Act of Congress approved February 6, 1905, all bonds issued by the government of the Philippine Islands or by its authority shall be exempt from taxation by the government of the United States or by the government of the Philippine Islands, or of any political or municipal subdivision thereof, or by any state, or by any county, municipality or other municipal subdivision of any state or territory of the United States, or by the District of Columbia."

NEW YORK STOCK EXCHANGE.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

NEW YORK, Aug. 12.—Selling of stocks was resumed today, and for a time the decline made further headway. The movement was checked, however, before it attained wide proportions, and in the late dealings the market stiffened, with the closing steady. Sales were 830,000 shares.

As has been the case recently, pressure was directed against the industrials, and the standard rails were comparatively steady. In the early decline, Bethlehem Steel, General Electric, Royal Dutch, Sears Roebuck and various other issues were marked down a point or more. The shorts apparently were none too sure of their position, however, and hesitated to press their advantage.

A tentative drive at the coppers and motors in the afternoon gave temporary results, but the last hour brought a moderate recovery. Rails, oils, equipments, and shipping shares were in demand on the late rise in which there was considerable short covering.

The improvement in the action of the market, in comparison with yesterday's steady weakening, appeared to be due to nothing more than the stronger technical position, in consequence of recent selling.

Heaviness again predominated in the bond market. Total sales, par value, $7,850,000.

Foreign exchange rates were irregular, with a narrow range. Call loans carried over until next week at 6 per cent.

LARGE FILM FIRM WILL COME HERE.

Warren Corporation, Distributors, to Operate Mostly from This City.

Prior to his departure for the East after spending a month here in the heart of the industry's production activities, F. B. Warren, president of the F. B. Warren Corporation, yesterday announced that at least half of the home office organization of this big new company would be transferred to Los Angeles.

Local business interests for the past two or three years have been making an effort to induce one of the larger national picture distributors to operate from Los Angeles, where it would have all the benefits of closer association with the producers and directors at the time their pictures were being made. Up to now Los Angeles has been the production, but not the mercantile or sales center of the industry and the producers have had only long distance contact with the head of the sales machines which market the completed pictures.

The first transfers of the Warren sales staff will be made to the West Coast before the first of the year

In departing Mr. Warren announces the signing of contracts with Graf Productions of San Francisco, for the distribution of two new producing units, the first of which will be Lambert Hillyer pictures starring Hobart Bosworth. These productions will be made at the Pacific studios at San Mateo and the first picture made up north will be from C. Gardner Sullivan's story, "White Hands." Another director of international repute has also been signed and will make his own productions through Graf Productions, Inc.

William H. Clune, as president of Nell Shipman Productions, has signed a contract with the Warren organization for the international release in September, of the newest Nell Shipman picture, "The Girl from God's Country," directed by Miss Shipman and Bert Van Tuyle. The Warren organization also will distribute the Clune production "Ramona," in the thirty-five States where it has never been released.

Lois Weber has completed not only her first production, "The Blot," but her second production, as well, for distribution through Warren; Victor Schertzinger is beginning production on his first pictures as an independent producer, "Dollar Devils," and Reginald Barker and his staff are ready to start a big independent production from an important author's newest serial just completed in the Saturday Evening Post.

The Post Nature Pictures, previously distributed by Paramount, have switched from that organization to the Warren distribution, effective with the opening of the new season in September.

HEARST SLURS ARE RESENTED.

Reflections on Postoffice Women Are Condemned.

Inspector Declares Charges Made Out of Whole Cloth.

Postmaster "at Loss to Know the Basis" for Reports.

Bitterly resenting the slur cast upon the women employees of the local postoffice by the charges of misconduct on their part, published by the Examiner, little knots of clerks congregated at the Federal Building yesterday to discuss in emphatic language steps to be taken to clear the good name of the force.

Demands for a full investigation were made and talk of a mass meeting to protest against the unfairness of the Hearst reports, which cast suspicion upon all, were heard.

"The published stories concerning the relations between women employees and supervising officials were manufactured out of whole cloth," said Walter M. Cookson, one of the local postoffice inspectors who signed the confidential report which was alleged to have contained the charges.

"The story must have been given circulation by someone who had more imagination than good judgment and who has tried to make a mountain out of a molehill," the inspector declared. "I don't believe that there is a better class of women to be found in any business institution in Los Angeles than in this postoffice."

An investigation as to how the reputed charges in the confidential report were made the subject of publication will be asked for, Mr. Cookson stated.

"I have, in my desk, a copy of the confidential report signed by the inspectors," Postmaster O'Brien said, "but I can ask a loss to understand upon what basis the published charges were made. The only explanation I can give is that some employes who was asked to give the inspectors' information concerning possible misconduct on his part became vindictive and sought to stir up scandal from motives of revenge.

"There will be full investigation of the matter, as has been requested by a delegation of women employees. I told them that that I believed they were as fine a class of women as could be found anywhere in the city."

On behalf of the members of Federal Employees Local No. 62, Secretary-Treasurer H. M. Chapman made a formal protest yesterday against the publicity given by the Examiner to uninvestigated charges.

RUSH TRADE EXHIBIT BY NIGHT WORK.

Determined that the Industrial Trade Exposition which will open at the Los Angeles Union Terminal Building Monday shall be in readiness to fling open its doors at the appointed time, the Chamber of Commerce yesterday ordered that the building be kept open all night tonight and tomorrow night for the convenience of manufacturers who desire to place their displays in the booths.

Scores of beautiful booths have already been arranged and decorated, but there is still much to accomplish before the show opens. Telephones, gas, light and water were installed yesterday for the convenience of exhibitors. The exposition is said to be attracting attention for 1000 miles to the north, east and south. Buyers are on their way here from many cities in Mexico, to see the home products show.

The chamber closed a contract yesterday for the Reserve Officers' Training Corps band to play at the exposition each afternoon and evening. This organization is composed of high school students. The Community Service Players have agreed to give a free concert on the fourth floor of the exposition building next Thursday evening.

HUNT MISSING WOMAN.

Police Search for Mrs. B. Runston, Who Fled from Hospital.

Police yesterday began a search for Mrs. B. Runston, 35 years of age, of 123 Elilta Place, who is reported to have escaped from the French Hospital several days ago.

According to the authorities Mrs. Runston gave birth to a child in the hospital about a week ago and soon after developed a mental ailment. Escaping from her nurse, Mrs. Runston fled from the hospital, and, according to persons who saw her leave the building, was taken away in an automobile.

Officers investigating the case have been unable to find any trace of her.

FORESTERS PICNIC.

Court Columbus, No. 102, to Celebrate at Vaquero Club Tomorrow.

Foresters Day will be celebrated tomorrow at the Vaquero Club with a picnic and free barbecue under the auspices of Court Columbus, No. 102, Foresters of America.

Prominent speakers, games, racing and dancing are on the program. Prizes will be awarded. Music will be furnished by the Velasco Orchestra. The barbecue will be served between 12:30 and 2:30 p.m.

The Vaquero Club can be reached by taking a Sherman car to Crescent Junction and getting off at Oakhurst Station. The public is invited.

CLEARS WAY TO LIBRARY SITE.

Pershing Square Indicated by Official Action.

Only Ordinance Needed, Says City Attorney.

Board Asks Formal Opinion for Meeting Monday.

Steps looking toward the choice of Pershing Square as a site for the new Public Library were taken yesterday when City Attorney Stephens was formally asked by the library board for an opinion on the entire matter after he had given a semi-official opinion that an ordinance by the City Council would be all that is necessary to make available the Pershing Square site. By the use of this site, which would not diminish the space available in the park for the use of the public, the city will be able to use the whole sum of $2,500,000 recently voted for an adequate library building instead of having to devote from $700,000 to $1,000,000 for a centrally located site of sufficient size. That the whole $2,500,000 is needed for the building alone is the opinion of experts. It is admitted that there is scant likelihood of the people voting any more bonds for the purpose.

In connection with the request by the board of library directors for the opinion of Mr. Stephens, it became known that the proposition is expected to be taken up at the Monday meeting of the board. Although Everett R. Perry, librarian and clerk of the board, declined yesterday to discuss this phase of the situation, he admitted that some important facts probably will develop.

In the request for an opinion from the City Attorney, it is understood special reference is made to the following three points:

(1.) Is the proposition voted in 1904 that the city shall erect a library in Pershing Square (then known as Central Park) now mandatory on the board of library directors?

(2.) If this is not mandatory what proceedings should be followed?

(3.) What relation to the project has the Board of Park Commissioners?

When asked about these matters yesterday, Mr. Stephens asserted that he had gone over the situation informally and is prepared to submit a formal opinion that:

WHAT CAN BE DONE.

(1.) City charter provisions give the power to the City Council "to authorize and direct that any park or other real property owned or controlled by the city may be used jointly for library and other purposes."

(2.) That since the matter of park control is included in the duties of the Board of Park Commissioners, the matter probably should be referred first to that commission after the board of library directors decide on a policy. In such a case the probable procedure would be that the Park Commissioners would make a report to the City Council, thus bringing the matter officially before the Council.

(3.) As for the effect at present of the 1904 election when the people voted on "Shall the city erect a public library building in Central Park?" Mr. Stephens said late yesterday he still has that matter under advisement. It was his belief when seen yesterday, however, that regardless of this election, an ordinance by the City Council setting aside the site proposed would be necessary.

The formal opinion embodying all points mentioned in the communication from the library directors will be submitted to them before their meeting Monday. That this session will take up the matter of considering possible sites for the library building, assured in the last election when the people authorized the issuance of $2,500,000 worth of bonds for that purpose, is apparent.

SUPREME COURT DECISION.

In his opinion, Mr. Stephens is expected to point out that the legal question of erecting a public library in Pershing Square already has been decided by the State Supreme Court. The case which tested the legality of the plan was decided unanimously by the State's highest court Oct. 11, 1906, after an appeal had been taken by the city from a Superior Court decision granting an injunction in the suit brought by J. H. Spires, an apartment-house owner.

After dealing with the question of the dedication of the property as a public park the decision was in part as follows:

"We think that the erection therein of a public library for the use of the same public who are entitled to use the park is not only not inconsistent with the purposes for which the park was dedicated, but is really an aid and furtherance of its enjoyment by the public.

"That the establishment of a public library to which the visitors to the park have access is consistent with such public enjoyment and tends to enlarge it, we have no doubt.

"That among the buildings that may be erected within a public park in aid of and for the better enjoyment of the public, a public library is included, is settled by authority.

"It is not apparent that the erection of this library will tend to the destruction of the park at all; the site for the library is relatively but

AIR PATROL OF FORESTS IS RESUMED.

Long Trip from March Field is Shortened; Expenses Cut by Government.

The fire patrol of the Angeles National Forest Reserve, which has been delayed by the economic views of the national government that early in the season failed to supply gasoline for the aerial trips, has been resumed, although in a circumscribed way.

Last fire season, an airplane made the trip from March Field as far north as Santa Barbara, thence south to San Diego, over the Cleveland national reserve, and back to March Field, a round trip every day. That has been abandoned, and the airplane now flies only from March Field to the northern end of the local reserve and back again, starting at 1:30 p.m., each day, and returning at 3 p.m.

When the extended service was in operation the cost to the government was more than $700 a day for gasoline alone, the records showing that more than 700 gallons of gasoline were burned in the long trip from March Field to San Barbara, and thence to San Diego and return to March Field. The highest quality of gas is used and it cost the government 30 cents a gallon. The smaller area now covered has effected a large saving in the cost of fuel.

The Santa Barbara national reserve is patrolled by a machine from that place, and the San Diego district must be served by other means.

MILK MEN CONTINUE ARGUMENT.

Attorneys Assert Evidence in Case Was Obtained by Illegal Method.

Arguments on the motion to quash the second indictment returned by the county grand jury against the Los Angeles Creamery Company and a score of other defendants, on a charge of conspiring to violate the Cartwright antitrust law, and combining to control the local trade in milk continued until 4 p.m. yesterday.

The leading attorneys for the defendants, Lecomte Davis and John L. Richardson, made the point that the manner of obtaining the evidence, taken from W. H. Jackson, secretary of the Milk Dealers' Association by the process of the grand jury, was unlawful, no search warrant being produced, and that the act was a violation of the constitutional rights of the defendants.

It was also urged as another reason for the quashing of the second indictment, that under the provisions of the Cartwright Act, if a defendant is compelled to go before the grand jury to testify in a case in which he is interested, he cannot be prosecuted thereunder.

The record shows that nearly all of the defendants, either individually or as representatives of the various milk companies testified before the grand jury and took their books and records before the body.

At the close of the hearing Judge Reeve said he will decide the case next Saturday, but that he will present no written opinion at that time. The State was given until Monday evening to furnish a brief, and the defendants will have until Wednesday evening to furnish a reply brief.

The arguments attracted more than a score of milk producers and dealers, and some of the spectators took copious notes of the proceedings.

CLARK WILL FILED.

Edward W. Clark, late president of the Clark-Turner Piston Company, who died July 30, left $1000 in cash to each of his five children and provided that the balance of his estate be held in trust by the widow, Susie M. Clark, according to his will, which was filed for probate yesterday.

SELL BURCH COMPANY'S FURNITURE.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

CHICAGO, Aug. 13.—Office furniture of the Pathescope Company, of which Arthur C. Burch, indicted on a charge of slaying J. Banton Kennedy in Los Angeles, was vice-president and active manager, was sold today under the auctioneer's hammer to satisfy an attachment for $473 due the owners of the building for rent.

Sale of the office furniture took place in the company's former headquarters at 17 North Wabash avenue, amid much noise. Led by F. S. Kittoe, a group protested that the company's goods were being sold without proper notice. The furniture and fixtures, said to be worth $7000, were bought by another film company for $500. The protestants declared they will go before Federal officials to demand an investigation.

When the auction sale was ended the office which Burch occupied until he left hurriedly for California was in disorder. The contents of his desk were dumped into a packing box. On top of the office fixtures was a wall sign advertising the motion-picture film to which irony gave a double significance in the light of events of the Kennedy murder.

VICTIM IN SHIPWRECK IS FOUND.

Body of Man Wearing Belt Marked "Alaska" Picked Up by Ship Bound Here.

The body of a man, presumably a member of the crew of the wrecked steamer Alaska, was picked up off Blunt's Reef light ship on the 9th inst. by the Hammond Lumber Company's steamer Halco, which arrived at Los Angeles Harbor yesterday from Australia, according to Capt. Nelson of the latter vessel.

The body was sighted about two miles beyond the light ship in the early afternoon, a boat was lowered and the dead man was brought aboard, where it was discovered that he wore a life belt marked Alaska and was heavily tatooed.

The body was that of a man about 35 years old, who was dressed in overalls and a light shirt and had, judging from his tatto marks, served in the United States Navy in the Philippines.

The San Francisco office of the Alaska was notified of the discovery of the body, and it is expected that it will be identified within a short time.

"Lifer" Escapes Jail; Last Seen High in Tree.

After serving six years of her sentence, Polly Green, the only "lifer" at the County Jail, escaped yesterday afternoon by leaping through an open transom while Sheriff Traeger was eating an apple.

When last seen she was sitting on a limb of a tree near the Plaza. Last night a city-wide search for her was instituted, but it was fruitless. The hunt will be resumed today.

Polly has been in the women's department of the jail six years. She has been one of the brightest figures in the jail through all the weary years since her arrival.

She is deathly afraid of men.

If anyone sees a green parrot with red-tipped wings, Sheriff Traeger will be glad to know it. He will send out a sheriffess to bring her back.

BURCH IS CONFRONTED BY MYSTERY WITNESS.

Kennedy Murder Suspect Said to Have Been in Roadster at the Beach Soon After Slaying.

Arthur C. Burch, indicted on a charge of murdering J. Belton Kennedy, found himself face to face last night with a man who is said to have seen him on the beach on the night of the tragedy. A statement given by this witness to Dist.-Atty. Woolwine provided the investigating authorities with the first information which, it is believed, places the murder suspect in the vicinity of the ocean front shortly after Mr. Kennedy was slain in front of his Beverly Glen cottage.

One fact was apparent when the witness, whose name and identity are being zealously withheld by Mr. Woolwine, entered the County Jail late yesterday afternoon. He was accompanied by Deputy Sheriffs Nolan and Bright. He was the first person who has visited the County Jail since Burch's arrest whose appearance seemed to unnerve the prisoner.

The importance of proving that Burch was at Santa Monica soon after the slaying of Mr. Kennedy is that the murderer is supposed to have thrown the shotgun into the ocean there. The search for the shotgun, sought as the most important exhibit in the case, has been in progress since the speedometer of the automobile, said to have been used by Burch on the night of the murder, showed a probable trip from Los Angeles to Beverly Glen, plus an additional mileage corresponding to the distance from Beverly Glen to Santa Monica and return to Los Angeles.

Divers yesterday continued their search for the gun off the old long wharf at Santa Monica, but the rough sea caused postponement until this morning. The stock of a shotgun, said to have been found on the beach some distance from the site of the old wharf, at first caused the authorities to believe they had found important evidence. But from the condition of the part, it appeared it could not have belonged to the gun that killed Kennedy. It also was reported last night, without official confirmation, that the barrels belonging to the stock had been found, and that their condition further evidenced that it was in all probability not the slayer's gun.

The firing pins were worn with irregular points. The holes in the caps of the shells found near the scene of the murder were clean-cut. Also, the gun stock was found by William Wylie, a camper, from an eighth to a quarter of a mile from the long wharf at Santa Monica. It is considered questionable if the stock, of heavy wood and many metal parts, would have floated at all, much less been washed for such a distance along the beach after being thrown into the sea. It is also considered highly improbable that a man throwing a gun in the sea to prevent its being found would detach the heaviest part, the barrels, before so doing, as the barrels would insure that the gun would not float ashore.

The gun stock found by Mr. Wylie was an old piece, much rusted and of cheap construction. It was of take-down type—a piece whose barrels could be detached easily and quickly. The package that Burch carried from the hotel, witnesses say, was of about the length of an "unbroken" shotgun or rifle. Joseph Springer, a gunsmith, was called in by the investigators to give expert testimony.

BURCH AT BEACH?

The story of the new witness, The Times learned last night, was that he had been driving from San Francisco by way of Topanga Canyon and was skirting the beach between the bath-house and the long wharf. That was about 10 o'clock on the night of the murder. Mr. Kennedy was killed at 9:30 o'clock. The place on the beach is about eight miles from Beverly Glen.

The witness said his attention had been attracted to an automobile just ahead of him. This car, although the road was clear ahead of it, slowed down, and pulled up at the side of the road, to permit the other car to pass. The witness, it was learned, looked at the occupant of the car—a roadster—and is said to have told the authorities that it was Burch. The automobile identified by tire tracks as the one parked near the scene of the shooting that night, was a roadster.

Burch was talking with newspaper men when the stranger entered the County Jail. Burch appeared disturbed, and said, "Why don't you introduce me to callers?"

The witness was not introduced, and Burch was asked to put on the automobile goggles of amber-colored glass that he wears at times. He declined to do this, whereupon he was taken into another room and what transpired there could not be learned.

CONFERENCE HELD.

A few minutes later the new witness left the jail and went to the District Attorney's office, where, behind locked doors, he conferred with Mr. Woolwine. The District Attorney gave the witness orders not to talk to anyone or submit to an interview. The witness was then

MANY UNION SERVICES.

Vacation Period Brings New Preachers; Interchurch Co-operation Feature of Summer Season.

With a large number of the local pastors still on their vacations, new preachers will be heard from many pulpits in the city tomorrow. Another feature of the summer season is the increased co-operation between congregations, as shown by union services and by the opening of a revival campaign under the auspices of twenty-nine Los Angeles churches.

DR. W. S. MITCHELL.
FIRST METHODIST CHURCH.

Dr. W. S. Mitchell, pastor of Calvary Methodist Church, Philadelphia, who has preached four times at the First Methodist Church during Dr. Heim's vacation, will preach tomorrow morning and evening in place of Bishop Smith of India, whose arrival has been delayed so as to make it impossible for him to keep his pulpit engagement with that congregation for tomorrow. Bishop Smith missed his boat at Calcutta, and it is not known at this time just when he will reach Los Angeles. Dr. Mitchell will speak in the morning on "The Alternatives of the Cross" and in the evening on "The End of the Road."

UNION SERVICE.
WILSHIRE METHODIST CHURCH.

Tomorrow evening a union service, participated in by a number of the congregations of the Wilshire district, will be held at the Wilshire Methodist Church, Rev. M. Howard Fagan being the preacher. In the morning Mr. Fagan will preach in his own church, the Wilshire Boulevard Christian, on "Consecration Gleanna."

THE KENNEDY MURDER.
REV. R. P. SHULER.

Tomorrow evening Rev. R. P. Shuler, pastor of the Trinity Methodist Church, will speak for five minutes before his regular sermon on the Kennedy murder. His evening sermon will be on "The Knights of Columbus—an Old Wolf in a New Sheepskin." His morning subject will be "Jesus Christ the Son of God."

"BROTHER ISAIAH."
DR. G. A. BRIEGLEB.

Dr. G. A. Brieglеb will discuss "Brother Isaiah and His Healings" at tomorrow evening's service in the Westlake Presbyterian Church. He will also outline his vacation experiences and adventures. At the morning service he will speak on "Behold the Man."

DR. D. J. EVANS.
TEMPLE BAPTIST CHURCH.

Dr. D. J. Evans will preach tomorrow morning at the Temple Baptist Church on "For Men" and in the evening on "The Flooding Pass." At the evening service a motion picture, "Our Boy Scouts in England," will be shown. Special musical numbers will be given at both services.

REV. C. H. BODDINGTON.
ST. PAUL'S PRO-CATHEDRAL.

Rev. C. H. Boddington will preach at both services tomorrow at St. Paul's Pro-Cathedral, his morning topic being "The Imminent Christ," and that for the evening being "The Transcendent Christ."

"THE DEFINITE AIM."
UNIVERSITY METHODIST.

Dr. Will A. Betts will preach on "Spirit-Filled Men" at the morning service tomorrow at the University Methodist Church. His subject in the evening will be "The Man with a Definite Aim."

SPECIAL PREACHERS.
WESTLAKE METHODIST.

Dr. C. F. Seltzer, pastor of the First Methodist Church of Redlands, will speak tomorrow morning at the Westlake Methodist Church. In the evening Rev. Fred B. Carver will be the speaker. Mr. Carver will also have charge of the midweek services of the congregation.

NEGRO SUNDAY-SCHOOLS TO HOLD ANNUAL PICNIC.

The annual picnic of the negro Sunday-schools of this city and of Pasadena will be held Tuesday at Brookside Park, Pasadena. An attendance of several thousand is an-

DR. JOHN W. PHILLIPS.
FIRST BAPTIST CHURCH.

Dr. John W. Phillips of Mobile, Ala., will preach at both services tomorrow at the First Baptist Church, his morning subject being "The Pattern in the Mount" and his topic for the evening, "God's Thoughts." Dr. and Mrs. James A. Francis left on Monday for Honolulu.

UNION REVIVAL BEGINS TOMORROW.

The union evangelical camp meeting and revival, to be participated in by twenty-nine Protestant denominations, will begin tomorrow in the tabernacle which has been erected at the corner of Vernon and McKinley avenues. The structure will house 3000 persons. Preparations have been made for exceptional musical attractions and for handling the crowds efficiently.

CHURCH NOTES.

The following sermon subjects are announced by Los Angeles pastors for tomorrow:

Western-avenue Christian Church, Rev. M. C. Dorsett, pastor, morning sermon by Rev. J. N. Smith; evening, "The Great Awakening," by the pastor.

Bimini Institute, Dr. Frank L. Riley will speak on "Life in Old Atlantis" at the service at 7 p.m.

Echo Park Methodist Church, Rev. C. V. La Fontaine of Redlands officiating at both services.

First English Lutheran Church, Rev. W. K. Dyddings, pastor. Morning, "The Good Samaritan"; evening, "Ann, King of Judea."

First Christian Church, Rev. E. P. Ensminger, pastor. Morning, "Unfailing Attention"; evening, no service.

West Hollywood Presbyterian Church, Rev. Z. S. Sias, pastor. Members, "Ownership," no preaching service.

John's Episcopal Church, Dr. Harwood Huntington will preach at the morning service. There will be no evening service.

First Baptist Church, Rev. M. C. Dickinson, pastor. Morning and evening sermon by Rev. John Wesley Hill of Pasadena.

Hollywood Christian Church, Rev. F. W. Burnham, pastor. Morning, "Lambs"; evening, "Lambs in the Kingdom of Heaven," no evening service.

Hollywood Baptist Church, Rev. Frank Dyer, pastor. Morning, "Why I Believe in the Church"; evening, "The Story of Two Spirits in Prison."

Echo Park Congregational Church. Morning, "Transitional Period," by Rev. R. A. Beall; evening, "Marriage," by Rev. M. A. Shipman.

St. Mark's Lutheran Church, Rev. Jesse H. Ball, pastor. Morning, "Our Witness"; no evening service.

First Baptist Congregational Church. Morning, "A Pertinent Question," Rev. M. A. Shipman; evening, "Path in Finance," Prof. H. Shilock.

Spouse Cruel to Sick Wife, She Charges.

Mrs. Clara Charleson, who said that while she was bedfast her husband, Patrick Charleson, was cruel to her, sued for separate maintenance yesterday, asking alimony of $100 a month.

Among the charges contained in the complaint, prepared by Attorneys Fredericks and Hanna, is that Mr. Charleson ordered her sister, Miss Teresa Haley of New York, out of his home at 205 North Flower street last July 30. Miss Haley had come to this city to nurse her sister. Mrs. Charleson says there was no justification for the purported act.

He told his wife later that he was going to move, and, she says, did pack up his trunk. He returned later to his home and wanted to make up. He said he was going to bring back Miss Haley, expressing a violent affection for her, the complaint says. Subsequently, he telephoned from the beach, his wife adds, that he could not locate Miss Haley and was returning home to throw her personal effects out of the house, expressing a strong aversion to Miss Haley."

Mrs. Charleson says her husband returned under the influence of liquor, tore out the front window to make room for the removal of Miss Haley's trunk; went into the kitchen and tore down the gas stove, allowing the gas to escape; picked up a vase of flowers and threw it at Mrs. Charleson's sister, Mrs. Woessner, near by, striking Mrs. Charleson, and later made a lunge at the latter.

Mrs. Charleson says she was forced to leave her bed and seek refuge in another apartment.

NEW VAN RENSSELAER WILL FIGHT TO OPEN.

UNDUE INFLUENCE CHARGED AGAINST BENEFICIARY OF HARRIMAN'S KIN.

After a successful contest of the 1919 will of Mrs. Anna I. Van Rensselaer, sister of E. H. Harriman, railroad king, another legal fight is slated for September 16 over a 1911 will which has been offered in probate. In both wills Mrs. Van Rensselaer left a bequest of $10,000 to John D. Clarke. For many years, it is said, Mr. Clarke occupied the position of a son to Mrs. Van Rensselaer, although there was no formal adoption. The estate is valued at $150,000. The case yesterday was set for trial by Judge McLucas, sitting for Judge Rives. In both instances it is charged that Mr. Clarke unduly influenced Mrs. Van Rensselaer.

NORMAL HILL CENTER SAVED FROM FLAMES.

Considerable excitement was caused yesterday afternoon when a tiny flame appeared on the roof of the Normal Hill Center group and dared the whole world to come and get it. Six pieces of fire-fighting apparatus responded. The fire was extinguished before it had done any damage, but not before a fire-extinguisher had burst and sent a twenty-five foot spray over the roof, giving the crowd on the ground the only thrill of the fire. The cause of blaze is unknown.

KIRK FINDINGS ARE DELAYED IN NORTH.

Reports published here yesterday afternoon to the effect that the board of inquiry into radicalism charges against Maj. F. E. Kirk of the local National Guard, had exonerated the officer, lacked confirmation from Sacramento last night. It was stated at the office of Adjt.-Gen. Borres, who will make public the findings, that he is away over the week-end.

GNATS ARE WORTH WEIGHT IN GOLD.

How Scale is Routed by Insects Will Be Told in Sunday "Times."

The out-in-the-open vacationist, returning from his tour, may wonder what buzzing, pestering gnats are for, anyway. Reading the Farm and Tractor Section of The Times tomorrow he will learn, somewhat to his astonishment, that one species of gnat, the aphycus, is valued at more than $1,000,000 by the citrus growers to fight aphis and scale. The growers pay out more than $3,000,000 per year for scale control, and this little gnat, recently arrived from South Africa via Australia, has saved one ranch company alone $20,000 this year, by destroying black scale by the million.

Organization of truck crop growers of Southern California is told by Bert C. Vaughan, in two articles illustrated by the rotogravure process.

How the cattle raisers of California have reduced that flocks under pressure of low prices until, by Christmas, the porterhouse may be a rarity, is told by a prominent cattleman.

Inglewood High School's practical agricultural course is the subject of another illustrated article.

Henry Kruckeberg, poultry expert, writes on "Type and color vs. Performance," and Ernest Braunton's interesting Garden Beautiful page contains an article on the subject of street trees.

FINAL HONORS PAID.

Military Funeral for Capt. Leslie D. C. Graham, City Employee.

Military honors marked the funeral here yesterday of Capt. Leslie D. C. Graham, an attache of the City Engineer's office, who died last Tuesday, aged 42 years. The flag on the City Hall was draped at half-mast out of respect for the departed. The funeral was conducted in the Bramble chapel at 2 p.m. and burial took place in Forest Lawn Cemetery.

Capt. Graham was a native of New York. Coming here in 1905, he joined the engineering forces of the Los Angeles Aqueduct, and, upon the completion of that project, he was attached to the city engineering department. In 1918 he was commissioned as first lieutenant of engineers and sent to Washington, D. C., where he was an inspector of war materials.

Upon receiving his discharge early in 1920, he returned to the City Engineer's office, where he remained until the beginning of this year, when ill health forced him to take a leave of absence. He was active as a musician, being a member of the Gamut and Orpheus clubs.

He leaves a widow, Mrs. Adie Graham, and two children, Douglas, aged 8, and Augusta, 6.

NOTED ORCHESTRA WON.

Hickman to Direct All Dance Music at Ambassador, Alexandria.

The lure of Los Angeles has won Art Hickman and his celebrated dance orchestra away from San Francisco and New York. The contract which secured Mr. Hickman and his aggregation of musical artists for the Ambassador here was signed yesterday, and it is announced that the orchestra will be a feature of the entertainment in the Cocoanut Grove for many months to come. The Hickman orchestra played for seven years in the Bay City and in New York. Mr. Hickman will direct all dance music at both the Ambassador and the Alexandria. He sprang into prominence some years ago through his composition of "Rose Room" and several other popular dance numbers.

LIBRARY SITE IS INDICATED.

a small portion of it; and as we have seen, the erection of such a building herein is in aid of the public enjoyment of the entire park.

"The city has a right, notwithstanding it be conceded that Central Park was dedicated for the benefit and enjoyment of the public, to build a public library on it."

In addition to these points the court also held that administrative offices for the board of library directors could be included in the building but otherwise it could be used for no other purposes.

This case virtually satisfies all the legal questions that might arise from a decision to erect the new library building in Pershing Square, Mr. Stephens asserted.

The entire matter has been before him several days in an informal way, he said, and he has gone thoroughly in the various phases of the case, with the conclusion that an ordinance from the City Council would definitely clear the way for the final selection of the Pershing Square site.

DEATH CHARGE LIFTED.

Motorist is Held as Driver of Car While Intoxicated.

Justice Hinshaw yesterday dismissed the charge of manslaughter against Lee Mantell and held him to answer to the Superior Court in $500 bail on the charge of having driven an automobile while he was intoxicated. The evidence showed that early in the morning of last July 10, Mrs. Selma Shaver, separated from her husband, Henry Shaver, was found fatally injured on the road near Palms. Mr. Mantell was driving Mrs. Shaver. Both were hurried to the Receiving Hospital, where Mrs. Shaver died.

Witnesses, entertainers from a near-by cafe, testified they found a machine turned over and Mr. Mantell and Mrs. Shaver in the road. No explanation developed at the hearing as to how the accident happened. Dep. Dist.-Atty. Costello prosecuted the case. Attorneys Coles and Giesler represent Mr. Mantell.

THE BATTLE CRY.

The new kingdom of Hedjaz proposes to inaugurate a holy war. Our best recollections of a holy war are that it can be just as mean and snappy as the other kind.

SAVES THINKING.

One thing that may be said in favor of jazz music is that it saves a lot of people from talking about technique, phrasing, interpretation and a lot of other subjects that they know nothing about.

SEARCH FOR WEAPONS.

It is hoped that the program of world disarmament will progress far enough to include Lord Northcliffe and Lloyd George. With these gentlemen on a war footing the dove of peace does not have much of a show.

THE SMUGGLERS.

Ruling of the court that the Canada temperance act does not prevent the exportation of liquor to the United States has made the work of smugglers still easier. They only have the United States authorities to dodge and the border is a long and tangled one. Likewise there are some popular brands of whisky made in Canada and the distillers are all said to be working overtime to keep up with their American orders. Keeping America dry is going to be a full-sized job.

LOCKING 'EM UP.

Many cities now indulge in the idea of addicting substantial jail sentences upon offenders against the speed and traffic laws. It may seem drastic, but it is evident that it is becoming necessary if a wholesome regard for the law of the land and the safety of the people is to be inculcated. A sentence of a year or so in jail for some flagrant offender serves as a good eye-opener for others. Ten days in jail and a withdrawal of the license for six months will gradually subdue and make tractable the milder offenders.

RELIEF AND RUSSIA.

There is no authorization for subscriptions on behalf of Russia. So far as America is concerned the only relief for Russia should be that furnished through the agencies under Herbert Hoover and no donations should be made except as indorsed by him. Any other subscriptions being gathered in this country are apt to be for political rather than benevolent purposes and productive of more harm than good. When the time comes the Hoover organization will let the people of America know what is to be accomplished and what is expected of them.

GOOD SPENDERS.

The expenditures authorized for the first two years of Gov. Small's term in Illinois aggregate more than $81,000,000. For the last two years of Gov. Lowden's administration they were less than $45,000,000. Yet Gov. Small campaigned under promises of economy and retrenchment. When it comes to fulfillment he is spending almost twice as much as his predecessor. First thing we know Illinois will be getting in California's class in the matter of the high cost of State government. The new rate per capita in Illinois is over $12 a year. It is only twice that in California.

WORKING WONDERS.

The other day an automobile was driven through the streets of Dayton by unseen hands. It was an empty car and yet it threaded the traffic and responded to the police regulations at the corners with facility. One might fancy that the ghost of a Fulton was at the wheel. The machine, in fact, was under radio control from a car a hundred feet or more in the rear. The phantom itself was not equipped with wireless, so that the dominion of the pilot seems the more remarkable. Possibly the day may come when our street traffic can be operated and controlled by wireless and the men and women in the driver's seat will be as puppets. At that, it would be an improvement on what we have. What is wanted is a car that can be wound up like a watch and then run by thought transference. We may get it yet.

COUNTING THE BUGS.

After several years of intelligent and industrious application the State entomologist of Connecticut is able to announce that there are 6781 different kinds of insects in that little State—not including a couple of speed bugs at Yale. Connecticut is a small State and is probably as poorly equipped with bugs as any in the Union. Yet it has nearly 7000 variant species—to say nothing of some of the financial big-bugs of Hartford and the humbugs of Bridgeport. Probably in a rich and massive State like California we would have three times as many insects as Connecticut. People come here from all parts of the world and bring their favorite insects with them. Why don't we emulate the example of the Nutmeg State and take a census of our bugs? With a progressive entomologist at $10,000 a year and a thousand hardy bugologists at $10 a day per each we would be able to take a census of our bugs in time for the next election. If Connecticut is able to gloat over the work of her State entomologist in rounding up 6781 brands of bugs, think of what our beloved California could enjoy if the full measure of her insectivorous strength were realized.

THE DISARMAMENT CONFERENCE.

President Harding's formal invitation to the four great powers with whom our government was associated at Paris to a new conference to consider international armaments limits the discussion to questions affecting the Pacific area. There is to be no attempt to rewrite the Treaty of Versailles and no interference with the European settlements. But the experience of the last two years has demonstrated that satisfactory solutions of Far Eastern problems were not found at Paris.

World conditions were too unsettled at that time for a comprehensive view to be taken of all questions affecting international relations. The conference was held in the midst of the war area and European settlements were uppermost in the mind of the commissioners. The most important of all immediate problems was bringing the armistice to an end by a permanent peace. With the dust of crumbling monarchies still in their eyes and the horizons heavy with the smoke of battle it would have been too much to expect that all international differences should be composed. Neither was it to be expected that peoples could bury their animosities when they had not yet buried their dead.

Now the international horizons are cleared of the flame and smoke of battle. The active fighting forces have been demobilized and the nations have set to work to restore the things destroyed. But it is apparent that there are conflicting national aspirations in the Pacific area that must either be composed by peaceful conference or settled by force. And it is equally apparent that the present international rivalry for possession of the superior fighting force must be checked or the expense of increased armaments will be greater than the people can bear.

The President lays special stress on this point in his conference proclamation. He asserts that:

> Productive labor is staggering under an economic burden too heavy to be borne unless the present vast public expenditures are greatly reduced. It is idle to look for stability or assurance of social justice for the security of peace while wasteful and unproductive outlays deprive effort of its just reward and defeat the reasonable expectation of progress. The enormous disbursement in the rivalries of armaments manifestly constitutes the greater part of the incumbrance upon enterprise and national prosperity.

In that paragraph the President envisages the relation between national poverty and national armaments. If poverty is to be progressively lessened, if there is to come a time when no deserving person will be without food and raiment, it will be when an appreciable part of the industry of the world is no longer devoted to the creation of machines meant for human destruction. The cost of a modern battleship is as great as that of feeding 1,000,000 people for three months. The money our government will spend this year for the army and navy is more than eight times the sum spent in the country to relieve poverty. The limited resources remaining to the nations that engaged in the great war are not sufficient to feed and clothe all the people and, at the same time, to engage in an international armament contest.

By the terms of the Versailles Treaty Germany is not permitted to expend more than a very limited amount on armaments. Her people are relieved of the military burden that they carried before the war. Productive industry is unhampered by such waste; and the opinion is growing steadily among other peoples that Germany will be able to triumph industrially over the countries that continue to waste their substance on armament.

Germany is making substantial progress in the direction of economic solvency. Her national finances are in a better condition, despite the war debt, than those of France and Italy. The reason for this, however, is to be found in part in the fact that both the latter countries are making the taxes on the people as light as possible. By increasing the tax rate the governments could easily meet current expenses; but the policy pursued is for the government to take as little from productive industry as possible.

Our own country is in a better condition financially to bear the burden of increased armament than any of those to whom the President's invitation is extended; so it is apparent to the world that it is not by reason of our national weakness that we desire to limit armaments. It is not a case of a fox that has lost its tail. We are in a position to build as many warships as any other nation; but the President reflects the almost unanimous opinion of the country when he protests that continuing to spend such enormous sums for armaments will impoverish all the nations concerned.

But we must keep in mind that any plan for mutual disarmament will prove futile if the questions affecting the Pacific area, which might cause nations to go to war, are not settled by international agreement. If the germs of war are not eradicated they will increase and multiply until the cataclysm precipitated by the imperial ambition of the German military party will be repeated. There is an evident similarity in the present expansion of Japan to the policy pursued by Germany after the Franco-Prussian war. Japan is headed for the German goal; but she has not yet proceeded far on the road and the fate of Germany may cause her to turn back.

Yet we must not be surprised if Japan goes to the conference with a sword concealed in a bunch of chrysanthemums. It will be for the other nations represented to convince the Japanese commissioners that they are in the house of their friends, that there is no desire to take from Japan that which she can rightfully claim as her own, that the one object of the conference is to provide a machinery by which Far Eastern questions can be settled without resorting to war.

Japan has fought three wars in the last thirty years and her people are inclined to regard the sword as the emblem of her greatness. By calling the international conference President Harding has made plain to the world that we wish nothing but justice in the settlement of Pacific problems. We trust that Japan will come to the conference actuated by a similar spirit. If she does so the reduction of armaments can be quickly arranged. None of the five nations which will meet at the conference table has fought with any of the others in the last fifty years. They have fought side by side in a common cause. Why should they not meet in confidence and amity to perfect the machinery for peaceful settlements of all disputes arising in the Pacific or on its shores?

AN INDUSTRIAL EPIC.

The day of diversified manufacturing industry has dawned for Southern California and its strongest expression for the public eye will be found in the Industrial Exposition, beginning tomorrow and continuing for the week, to which not only our own public but as much of the world as can hear the summons is invited, to see something of what Los Angeles is doing as a universal provider.

As the first local exposition of manufactures on a comprehensive scale this will be an illuminating point for the concentration of interest during the next six days. While materially profitable to the manufacturers and traders who will display their wares it will be no less profitable to the thousands of visitors in broadening their conceptions of the place of the Southland in the new economic era now vitalizing its nerves and sinews for the momentum soon to test the speed and the staying powers of the peoples of both hemispheres.

Some of the things that have had an important part in the rise of our city from comparative obscurity to the primacy of the Pacific Coast, to tenth American position in point of population and tenth once more in point of productive industry will become clearer through the medium of this exposition to those who, having eyes, see; and, having ears, hear, the messages and calls of productive life. Even to those who look only for entertainment and enjoyment of the passing hours, this will be a full measure of relief from the inanities and boredom of the pointless and purposeless life of the times.

As the first of this kind it will be a subject of study for future improvement on the part of those responsible for the present effort. That it will encourage the establishment of a permanent Exposition Building in the business center for similar and varied displays throughout an all-year program is hoped by many and believed by some. That it will be the starting line for a broad jump to a bigger showing next year is certain. But at its best it will be a feeble portrayal of the remarkable manufacturing development that has begun and is increasing its momentum every year—indeed, almost every month.

To the general public and the absorbed commercialists intent on pushing their individual enterprises for needed dividends it will convey no adequate idea of the great port twenty miles from the commercial center nor of the world importance which this dream come true gives to Los Angeles and its commercial products.

Neither will it adequately express the tremendous significance of the 250-mile aqueduct and the waters from a thousand hills that have been turned to give life to a present million and more millions yet to come. Nor will it show, except to the seeker for causes of the obvious, the gigantic place in all development work, of the hydroelectric power that adds its yearly thousands to the horsepower for lighting, transportation and the operation of farms and factories as fast as the incoming hordes can make use of it.

It will be only one concrete expression of the coming true of these three great dreams of the present generation of Angelenos to be pushed to fuller fruition by the new generation which must take up the work and must dream new dreams for their successors also to vivify. The water and the power dreams have made the desert to bring forth fruit abundantly, transforming it into a land of milk and honey; are turning the wheels of countless mills and workshops and carriers of passengers and freight. The harbor dream, still but faintly realized, already spans the eastern and the western oceans and skirts the continental coasts with shipping direct from the city that was no port until the dreamers made it so.

The new dream to corral and hold for profit the results of the three big dreams of the past is a system of co-ordination that will bring orderly and well-defined progress and give intelligent direction to the mass of individual enterprises pointing in diverse ways and often conflicting and delaying needlessly, or failing, short of success, because of the lack of this co-ordinative and directive force. The co-ordination that turned a lost war into a victorious one is the lesson that must be learned and put into practice to create the Southern California empire now rounding out of the power, water and harbor dreams, without the needless losses, delays and frictions arising from the crossed wires of thousands of well-intentioned but sometimes insufficiently informed individual efforts.

Los Angeles has many civic and promotive organizations all doing excellent work—so excellent that they have created the white spot that has made economic history within the last six months. A Chamber of Commerce that heads the country in point of membership and doubtless heads it also in point of sustained intelligent promotive work. It is to co-ordinate the results of this work that need is felt by those who are studying the present industrial, agricultural, commercial and maritime developments at a seething point right now in Southern California.

This co-ordinative force must be one that visualizes tomorrow's empire instead of today's dollar; that works for the accomplishment of a worth-while end, instead of for the individual profit from any single avenue of investment. It must be found or developed in the financial organizations that hold, direct and disburse the sinews of development—sinews of war being no longer an fait—and it must study the resources and movements of Southern California until it knows every foot of ground and every potentiality of resource, production, distribution and transportation; so that conflict may be avoided, abuses corrected, discriminations abolished or where unfavorable turned to favorable operation.

Such a co-ordinative force will be new—and therefore it is a dream to be made come true—but it is the new thing that must come out of the unusual situation beckoning Los Angeles and its tributary territory to unique primacy in world affairs. It will hasten by a decade the fuller realization of the earlier dreams, and it will save from ignorant waste millions of capital that will otherwise inevitably be unintelligently invested. Who is to be the Marshal Foch in co-ordinating the advance of the Southwest Empire.

LEAVE TO PRINT.

The Congressional Record scores another scoop. It is the only paper in the country to print the government list of 17,000 slackers at one swoop. What is a libel suit against the Congressional Record worth?

WHERE SHALL AIRSHIP CENTER BE?

Los Angeles is urged to awaken to the possibility that it may not be the airship center of the United States, after all. It seems that local capitalists have not jumped at the opportunity to establish factories and we are told that Chicago and Detroit are preparing to take the place which, it is considered, rightfully belongs to this city. Detroit knows to what an eminence it has been raised, industrially and otherwise, by encouraging automobile plants and some of its far-sighted financiers believe that there may be a duplicate development in the manufacture of airplanes. Enthusiasts now in Los Angeles, who are deeply impressed with the advancement made in flying since 1914, are imploring this city not to lose the prize which every condition seems to show should belong to it. With climatic advantages far superior to those in the East and with labor so firmly attached to the American plan, it is pointed out that this city need fear no rival if it really goes after the airplane business. It may be noted that however keen the two eastern cities named as rivals may be to become established as America's airplane hub, this continent is far behind Europe in commercial aviation. Over there they have established so many international lines that it has been found desirable to issue a time-table, just as the Pacific Electric does here to record the hours of arrival and departure of its trains. Paris seems to be Europe's air-line metropolis. From there ships of the air run on schedule to London, Warsaw, Barcelona and even to great cities of the former enemy countries of Germany and Austria. What passenger-carrying air lines have we in this country which in any way compare with those of France?

RIPPLING RHYMES.

THE CONFERENCE.

The heavy nations soon will send their delegations here to thrash out schemes by which to end the present reign of fear. As things are now we're all afraid that war may hit us soon; we tremble when a dog has bayed its grievance to the moon.
Rhode Island hears a rumor fraught with trouble and dismay; New Jersey's built another yacht, and suffers for a fray. Rhode Island builds herself a barge her bulwarks to defend, and Jersey builds one just as large, and so on, without end. The voters raise despairing yips while digging up long green; the money goes for foolish ships that should buy gasoline. "We'll strike," New Jersey proudly cries, "until the foe expires," and socks more taxes on the guys who'd fain buy rubber tires. Rhode Island says, "Our dauntless souls defy those warlike boobs," and taxes eat up all the rolls that should buy inner tubes. And thus it is the world around; we can't enjoy a nap, for every time we hear a sound we think it means a scrap. Through all men's history there runs the same old crazy theme; we're building ships and buying guns, and peace is but a dream. And when the wise men of the world for peace are here convoked, may all the battle flags be furled and all the swords be soaked.

BIG AND LITTLE

BY ALMA WHITAKER.

A certain authority by the name of Ziegfeld has been making rude remarks about big girls. He says the day of the statuesque Junos is over, that the popular brand in the theatrical world today is petite and cutey. He also implies that the little ones have most of the brains and personality, while the big ones are mere clothes pegs.

He may be right as regards the masculine public taste and perhaps it is just as well for the men. They need just that sort of discipline. For it isn't the petite girls that go in for gentlemen-petting, sentimental devotion and masculine adoration—not on your life. Those little things are generally peculiarly sagacious and keep their romantic sentiment very well under control. And when they grow older—talk about being practical! They can be as hard as nails, as wise as owls and amazingly difficult to hoodwink.

But your big girl, no matter how Junoesque and imposing her appearance, is invariably a sentimentalist, oozing a childlike faith in and adoration of the lord of creation. It is almost impossible to find a mercenary specimen. She it is who holds the sweet and gentle ideals about home-making and wifely duties, who cultivates a positive passion for sewing on buttons and darning silk socks and thinking up inspirational dinners. The man with a Junoesque wife may smoke in the best room, put his feet on the couch, muss up the kitchen with his old home brew, leave his toothbrush in the wash basin and all his clothes for wifey to fold and put away, with impunity—but the little ones are stern martinets and hold the most imperative views on father's tastes and habits and general deportment.

Moreover, the big girls are seldom suspicious. Anyway, suspicion has to be driven in with a sledge hammer. When hubby phones that he is working late at the office her heart just aches for her poor, tired boy and she redoubles her efforts to make home a haven of placid restoration. But the petite cutey is just naturally suspicious. Ziegfeld says she has more brains, so that may account for it. Anyway, she can be counted upon to verify any such mournful information and hold a court-martial later for purposes of full enlightenment.

And the little one never accepts ultimatums. She may use various forms of exquisite tyranny from tears to cynicism, from wheedling to command, but she will invariably triumph or know the reason why. But the big girl is the meekest thing—the mere hint of an ultimatum leaves her shrinkingly apologetic, sweetly docile, saccharinely acquiescent. "Of course, you know best, darling—I didn't understand." And that settles it.

When the big girl is affectionate and sentimental the goods can be accepted on the label. But when the little ones embark upon this intriguing attitude, beware. It may, of course, be a weak and soft mood of the twenty-two-carat variety, but you never can tell.

"Beware of the baby stare,
The chances are it's a bluff.
If it is, she knows too much.
If it isn't, she don't know enough."

But the Junoesque damsel can never get away with a baby stare or anything fascinatingly babyish. Nature has condemned her to eternal dignity, poise and reserve. All too well she knows that any disposition to kittenishness on her part is merely ridiculous. Cutey can effervesce and gush, giggle, titter, smirk, pout and hop around to the enhancement of her cuteyness; but Juno, who forever yearns to do just that, must forever exercise a masterly self-control—or forfeit all claims to respect. On the other hand, if Cutey wants to assume dignity and hauteur she can get away with that, too—it is quite too utterly attractive and she knows all about it.

But as far as that goes the same holds good with the opposite sex. It's the little men who are the tyrants, the demons of efficiency, the shrewd, practical, show-me specimens of their sex. Even Cutey finds it hard to hoodwink them. It is the little men that cultivate the masterful stuff and uphold the dominating traditions of masculinity.

And haven't you noticed that when a big fellow does make a success of anything it is rarely his shrewd practicality that did it. The little ones can scheme, organize, plan, persist and fight, but the big ones are generous, easy-going fellows who work hard, perhaps, earn and deserve, but they are all-too-easy prey for the shyster. Like the big girls, there is no guile in them, their trustfulness is sublime. But because luck and human affection do still exist in a cynical old world the big fellow frequently makes good, of course—but it is in spite of his disposition, not because of it. Or the chances are that he has one of those practical, hard-headed, petite wives at home who supplies the necessary quota of suspicion and shrewdness. When she uses those qualities for him instead of against him Cutey may sometimes justify her outlook.

However, if it is true that Cutey has everything her own way just now it is obvious that the world needs Cuteys. Juno is too soft and sentimental for these strenuous times—and this is to be a feminine era.

A Vegetarian in Books.

There are still conscientious folk about who carry conviction into the slightest detail.

The experiment of Postmaster-General Hays to speed up the delivery of special-delivery letters by increasing the rate from 10 to 20 cents is commendable enough to be worth trying. The present rate is altogether too slow. The latter will doubtless double the department's revenue and maintain an argument that experts believe will increase the popularity of the service.

WIGGINS WISHES HARDING WELL.

Secretary Congratulates the Newly-Wedded Father of the President.

Indicating that in youthful spirit as well as rapid growth this city is still well in the lead, Secretary Wiggins of the Chamber of Commerce telegraphed his congratulations yesterday to Dr. George T. Harding, father of President Harding, who was married Thursday at the age of 76 years. The message follows:

"LOS ANGELES.
"Aug. 12, 1921.

"Dr. George T. Harding,
"Marion, O.

"Congratulations and best wishes on your marriage. I did the same thing myself recently at the age of 72, and am glad to have such distinguished association in proof that the Osler theory is bunk.

"FRANK WIGGINS,
"Secretary Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce."

Secretary Wiggins and Miss Anna Baillie, who was for many years his private secretary, were married at Santa Ana, July 7. Dr. Harding's bride was formerly a nurse in his office at Marion, O.

BOOST FUND DRIVE GETS NEW FORCE.

Drug Companies Prominent Among Concerns Pledged to All-Year Club's Campaign.

The All-Year Club of Southern California yesterday received pledges totaling $2113.35, to add to the fund through which the world may learn the delightfulness of the Southland as an all-year place of residence. The subscribers who gave this amount include the Owl Drug Company, the General Securities Corporation, the American Drug Company, the Dutton Drug Company, the Boos Brothers Cafeteria Company and the new Hotel Broadway. Their pledges were reported through Walter E. Smith of the special hotel committee and Daniel H. Jones of the executive committee.

In signing the pledge under which the Owl Drug Company annually will give $1000 for three years in support of the All-Year movement, N. M. Berg, secretary of the company, stated that he considered the all-year idea one of the best and most praiseworthy moves ever organized in Los Angeles. He said that the plans of the All-Year Club unquestionably would help in the more rapid up-building of Los Angeles and Southern California, and said that the company he represented was glad to help in so laudable undertaking.

"There is one thing, too, in this connection that appeals to me," said Mr. Berg. "It is that when Los Angeles starts a movement of this kind, her citizens don't give up until they put it over. I am glad to see that the All-Year Club intends to continue its fund-raising campaign until the full amount it set out to attain is subscribed."

Members of the Los Angeles and Southern California Retail Druggists' Association can be counted on to give very generous support to the All-Year movement, according to a statement made to the club executive comittee yesterday, at which were present six of the well-known druggists of the city. Their presence at the session, followed the unanimous indorsement of the All-Year Club by the association at its meeting Thursday night in Blanchard Hall, at which D. H. Jones told of the club's plans.

T. W. Jones, secretary of the druggists' association; H. A. Dutton, C. N. Ziegler, W. H. Guest, Paul Lemke and H. A. McKenna were the six who assured the All-Year committee that they and their business confreres could be depended upon to assist the All-Year advertising effort. They agreed to name committees to obtain pledges of the druggists. Mr. Ziegler volunteered to give a large part of his time to the work.

POISON PROVES FATAL.

Young Wife, Who Tried Suicide After Quarrel With Spouse, Dies.

Ethel Bovet, 21 years of age, who, on Thursday night swallowed a quantity of poison while in her rooms at Ninth and Flower streets, died at 7 p.m. yesterday at the County Hospital. The body was sent to the W. A. Brown undertaking rooms upon order of Coroner Nance.

The young woman is said to have swallowed the poison following a quarrel with her husband early Thursday evening. It was long after midnight when her groans attracted neighbors. She was rushed to the Receiving Hospital, where surgeons worked for hours in an effort to save her life.

The dead woman's husband lives at San Gabriel.

Inquiry at the bank which certified the check shows that it has never been cashed. Diligent inquiry, the report says, has failed to locate any person claiming a return of deposit from the city. The maker of this particular check was awarded the land by the Council so he has no refund coming.

The report further sets out that all receipts by the City Clerk are in order and that they show that all money received by the City Clerk from July 1, 1911, to January 3, 1921, a total of $9,953,918.72, were properly deposited in the city treasury.

In this connection it is fair to add that there never was any suspicion of any systematic "looting" of city funds.

WITNESS FACES SUSPECT.

placed in an automobile and hurried away through the traffic.

Mr. Woolwine announced that he was satisfied with the progress made during the day. He said nothing more of when the correspondence between the actors in the tragedy would be made known, because, he said, certain documents in his possession show the motive of the slaying. Mr. Woolwine sent for Chief of Police Jones and had a long conference with him.

FATHER ON WAY.

Burch was pleased with the intelligence that his father was on the way here, traveling on the same train with the former husband of Mrs. Madalynne Obenchain, jointly charged with the Kennedy murder. Burch, however, could not have been pleased with yesterday's dispatches from Chicago to the effect that the office furniture of the company of which he is vice-president and acting manager had been sold at auction, because of an attachment for the rent.

Deputy Sheriff Fox arrived in the afternoon from Arizona, where he was a witness in a murder trial, and hurried to the jail and at once saw Mrs. Obenchain. She was declared to have expressed herself as willing to "tell all" to Fox and to no other. It appears that she had been impressed with that deputy sheriff's consideration of her, he having been one of the deputies who questioned her soon after her arrest. Mr. Fox was with Mrs. Obenchain an hour and a half.

He declared later that Mrs. Obenchain had made no "confession," and had not altered her previous version of the incidents leading up to the killing of Kennedy.

Unofficially it was learned that Mrs. Obenchain's interview with Deputy Fox was satisfactory both to her and to the authorities. She is said to have told Mr. Fox that she would make her statement to him after the arrival of her husband.

DENIES OFFER.

"I did not send for Mr. Fox," Mrs. Obenchain said when told of the report that she requested his attendance.

"I made no confession, nor am I shielding anyone. I have no confession to make, nor anyone to shield. I want you to state emphatically that I never said I am shielding anyone.

"There is another thing I want you to deny strongly. I never sent a telegram to Mr. Burch saying, 'Things look bad. Come at once.' I did send him a night letter, fifty words, following our correspondence regarding his trip here and Selma Cullander."

Mrs. Obenchain was then told of the reported identification by the mysterious witness of Burch in the County Jail. She smiled and said:

"My faith in Mr. Burch isn't shaken one jota."

Burch, earlier in the day, when told of the report that Mrs. Obenchain sent for Deputy Sheriff Fox and was said to be willing to "tell all," smiled and said:

"If you brought me a signed confession from Mrs. Obenchain, I would tell you I believed it a forgery."

KENNEDY ARRIVES.

Soon after the interview between Mrs. Obenchain and Mr. Fox, John B. Kennedy, father of the slain man, arrived at the Sheriff's office. It could not be learned whether he had been summoned or had come to volunteer some information.

It was considered probable that Mr. Kennedy's father was questioned or had come to offer an explanation about the wedding ring—a platinum ring set with diamonds—that his son carried on a chain. Mrs. Obenchain, in interviews soon after her arrest, declared this ring was evidence that Mr. Kennedy had been trying to marry her.

Deputy Sheriff Johnson, one of the first to reach Kennedy's body, said the ring was on a chain. The elder Mr. Kennedy has declared he "knew all about the ring" and would explain the matter at the proper time. It was considered possible that he went to the Sheriff's office to disclose what he knew of the matter.

From the Sheriff's office Mr. Kennedy went to the District Attorney's office and was closeted with Mr. Woolwine for some time.

Dist.-Atty. Woolwine and Dep. Dist.-Atty. Keyes were absent for two hours in the afternoon on a mission that was not disclosed. Everywhere there was evidence of activity, and apparently on new clews.

FINDS BABY BEAR.

Lindsay Man Takes Home Live Trophy of Trip.

LINDSAY, Aug. 12.—Goldilocks and the Three Bears had little on H. R. McGee, brother-in-law of C. W. Widlund of this city, who tells of an interesting episode which occurred with a mother bear and two cubs on his ranch near Pinehurst.

Mr. McGee with a party of friends was driving along in his machine when he saw two cubs in a tree. Stopping his machine he started to climb the tree after the cubs. Then, looking down, he saw the mother bear in the bushes almost under the tree. One of the cubs immediately started down the tree toward its mother, scrambling over McGee on the way. He succeeded in capturing the other cub and, after the others in the party had frightened the old bear and other cub away with the car, he took it home with him. After playing with baby bruin for a time, McGee returned it to its home.

FOURTH FIRE VISITS BIG NATIONAL PARK

PORTERVILLE, Aug. 12.—Reports of a fire which has just been quelled in the vicinity of Tule River Indian reservation is that considerable damage was done. Lasting for twenty-four hours, the flames swept down the south portion of Cow Mountain, just north of the reservation, burning over an area two miles wide and four miles long. Thirty Indians from the reservation and a dozen white men from the foothills were recruited to fight the fire.

Cause of the conflagration is not known, but it is supposed that a smoldering log or stump from the fire of the week before broke forth into new flames which spread to near-by growth.

This is the fourth fire causing considerable damage in the Sequois forest this season. Owing to lack of funds, this portion of the forest has been without the United States air patrol for two weeks. It is not known if this protection has been definitely discontinued for the season.

ASKS PERMISSION TO BOOST WATER RATES.

Declaring that it is now supplying water at a loss the Laurel Canyon Land Company of Los Angeles asked the State Railroad Commission Thursday for authorization to increase its rates to 50 cents per 1000 gallons, with a minimum charge of $2 a month.

CEDAR TARIFF PLAN TO BE INVESTIGATED.

Chief Electrical Engineer Scattergood and Attorney Mathews of the Board of Public Service Commissioners were instructed by the commission yesterday to investigate and report on the proposed tariff to be placed on cedar poles, according to pending national legislation. It was declared at the meeting that a high tariff would have the double effect of increasing the price materially and also of using up the available cedar supply in the United States once the Canadian timber is put under severe restrictions. Whether the commission will submit a resolution to Congress on the subject will be decided next week.

TO BURY VETERANS TODAY.

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

SANTA MONICA, Aug. 12.—Funeral services for two World War veterans, killed in action, will be held tomorrow afternoon from the J. W. Todd undertaking chapel in Santa Monica with the Bay Cities American Legion post participating in uniform and Rev. C. H. Sutherland, pastor of the First Methodist Church of Santa Monica, officiating.

At 2 o'clock the services will be for Lester Schwenk, a corporal, who gave his life in the Argonne. He was the son of Mr. and Mrs. John Schwenk of Santa Monica. Burial will be in Woodlawn Cemetery. At 3 o'clock the services will be for Albert E. Richter, who was killed in action Aug. 1, 1918, and was the son of Mr. and Mrs Amiel R. Richter of Santa Monica. Cremation at Rosedale Cemetery will follow the service. Schwenk leaves a brother, Harry Schwenk; Richter has two brothers in Oakland.

TRAIN RUNS OVER BOY WITHOUT INJURING HIM

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

FRESNO, Aug. 12.—Death hovered for a brief moment this morning over 15-year-old Robert Stonewall, and then passed on leaving him unscathed between the rails at the Cherry-avenue crossing of the Southern Pacific Railroad. Something saved the youth from an awful death when Train No. 238, in charge of Engineer Joe Topham, knocked him down and passed over his prostrate body. The accident occurred at 7:48 o'clock.

The body was picked up in a stunned condition by horror-strikan witnesses and was cared for until the police patrol wagon arrived. Officers Wise and Wade brought Stonewall to the Emergency Hospital. Not a scratch was found on his body. The only mark of his narrow escape was a badly torn shoe. He was put to bed to rest until his jangled nerves quiet down.

Robert turned a bright open countenance and flashed a cheerful smile when asked if he could account for his failure to see the train.

"I don't know how it happened. I don't remember a thing until I saw the ambulance," he said. "I was on my way to the Guggenheim packing house to see my mother, who is employed there. I live at 2207 Kirk street with my mother and stepfather, Mr. and Mrs. Samuel R. Doty."

JUDGE H. H. CRAIG TO RESIGN, IS REPORT.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

RIVERSIDE, Aug. 12.—That Judge Hugh H. Craig, for many years judge of the Superior Court of this county, will soon place his resignation in the hands of the Governor in order to accept the position of general counsel for the Southern Sierras Power Company became known this afternoon. While the announcement is not official, those who are close to the judge vouch for its authenticity.

Before leaving for his vacation Judge Craig informed Judge George H. Freeman, whom Gov. Stephens recently appointed judge of the newly created Department Two of the Supreme Court, that he planned to file his resignation on his return, to be effective September 1. Steps to agree on a recommendation to the Governor for a successor to Judge Craig are being considered.

SUBDUING FOREST FIRE.

Allen and Fighters Get Control of Blaze Near Myers Canyon.

Supervisor Allen of the Angeles National Reserve and forty men are fighting a forest fire raging between Lytle Creek and Cajon Pass. The blaze started in what is known as Myers Canyon, and at last accounts had burned over about 500 acres of the watershed. The latest reports were to the effect that the fire had been stopped by the fire fighters and was well under control.

FUNERAL OF C. E. McKENNEY.

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

VENICE, Aug. 12.—The Venice Chamber of Commerce, the Venice Merchants' Association and the Santa Monica Bay Elks lodge were represented at the funeral services this afternoon in the Little Church of the Flowers, at Forest Lawn Cemetery, Glendale, for Charles E. McKenney, one of the best known young men of Venice, who died at the Pottenger Sanitarium in Monrovia last Monday evening. Mr. McKenney was the son of Mr. and Mrs Frank B. McKenney of Venice, and junior partner in the hardware firm of Frank B. McKenney and Son.

HUNTS FIRE BUGS.

TULARE, Aug. 12.—Detective Mulhill, who figured prominently in the case of Roy Gardner, California's most daring train robber, and in the arrest and prosecution of a number of the I.W.W. in the State of Washington recently, has been in Tulare investigating the recent garage fires. Mulhill, who was Deputy United States Marshal until recently, is now in the secret service of the fire underwriters' of the western States. He came to Tulare after a conference with Sheriff Court Smith at Visalia, and is said to still be busy with the cases.

SAYS SHE HAD TO SLEEP IN CRIB.

Wife Declares Husband Made Her Occupy Bed for Small Child.

"Being forced to sleep in baby's crib," was apparently too much for Mrs. Eliza M. Whenham, so yesterday she filed an action for divorce against William S. Whenham, stating in her action that the defendant came home late at night, made her get out of bed and forced her to sleep in the crib. And the little crib had not been used for ten long years.

Mr. and Mrs. Whenham, who have four children, the oldest 19 years of age and the youngest 14, were married in Canada twenty years ago.

Extreme jealousy of the male patients of the plaintiff, who is a practical nurse, is also cited as one of the failings of the husband which has occasioned the wife much mental suffering.

FREED OF FIRE CHARGE.

Mr. and Mrs. Carl Ubank, Clyde Jones and Mrs. A. M. Laudeman, mother of Mrs. Ubank, all charged with having left a camp fire which started a recent blaze in Topanga Canyon, yesterday were found not guilty in Justice Garrett's court at Santa Monica. Evidence submitted at the hearing established the fact that the number of the automobiles supposed to have carried away the persons guilty of the offense had been wrongly reported to the officers. Members of the Ubank party were able to prove they were many miles from Topanga at the time the fire was discovered.

COMMEND COMMISSIONER.

Officers and employees of the Department of Public Service yesterday filed with the Board of Public Service Commissioners a resolution expressing "appreciation of the business foresight in purchasing the Merchants Trust Building and in remodeling it." Special commendation for Commissioner Robinson is included in the resolution, which was signed by several hundred employees.

Hunger, The Third Horseman, Rides Unchecked In Russia

Not since the great plagues scourged the Egypt of the Pharaohs has any nation suffered such horrors as are reported from Russia, we read in a Berlin dispatch to the New York Tribune. All the wells and streams in the Volga region have dried up; whole villages are in flight, and "the vast steppes of Russia will be strewn with the bodies of men, women and children unless the world comes to their aid." Europe, continues this writer, "may witness a titanic invasion by Russian hordes such as has not occurred since the advance of the Mongols across the Russian steppes."

The Poles are naturally alarmed. One well-informed and highly educated Pole told a Chicago Tribune correspondent in Warsaw that "Poland is in mortal danger of another Russian invasion—an invasion by a mass of starving humanity which will sweep over the border like a pack of hungry wolves invading a lonely village in winter," and the editor of a Polish daily in New York City is not unnaturally moved by the reports of "exhausted, hungry masses, wandering in despair towards an unknown destination, marking their path by the corpses of their children, of their women and old people." The Kansas City Star calls the famine "the crowning indictment of Bolshevism."

If you would be informed on the actual conditions in Russia today you will do well to read THE LITERARY DIGEST for August 13th, the leading article in which presents a vivid picture of that stricken country.

HOTEL COMPANY HAS NEW PLAN.

Pasadena Organization Seeks Seaside Location.

Also to Add Mountain Lodge to Its Attractions.

Fight Looms on Question of School Districts.

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

PASADENA, Aug. 12.—That the California Hotel Company is to build or acquire a fashionable seashore hotel and also a mountain lodge, to be conducted as adjuncts of the Maryland, Huntington and Green hotels in Pasadena, was stated here today by J. B. Coulston, president of the company, when discussing extensive improvements being made at the Maryland and the company's plans for the coming season.

The company has been investigating sites for the seashore hotel at all the beaches from Santa Cruz to La Jolla, said Mr. Coulston, but no site has been selected yet. He said the beach hotel probably would be modeled after Pebble Beach Lodge at Del Monte. Some beach with a golf course available will be chosen, it was intimated.

The site for the mountain lodge has not been chosen, either. If an accessible all-year road into Big Bear Valley is made this year, the lodge will be situated there. It will be planned for winter excursions from the Pasadena hotels, as well as for summer use.

ALTERATIONS BEGIN.

Alterations at the Maryland Hotel which include the enlargement of the grill and its maintenance as a European restaurant and tea room for the winter colony at the hotels was announced by Mr. Coulston. The grill is on the ground floor of the Maryland. The patio gardens will be reconstructed to provide for windows looking from the grill upon terraces and fountains. Beyond these an open-air dancing court, with space for dinner and tea tables, will be constructed. Arcades will lead to the grill. On Colorado street, an addition to the hotel containing three stores and an extension of the dining-room will be constructed. Work has already started on the Maryland improvements.

Mr. Coulston left this noon for the East, to meet H. L. Thompson, vice-president of the company, and F. M. Crosby and R. J. Reid, managers of the Huntington and Green hotels. They will visit eastern resorts in the interest of winter travel to Pasadena.

"Advance bookings indicate a good winter season at the Pasadena hotels," said Mr. Coulston. "We are going to pay more attention to entertainment, both indoor and outdoor, than ever before. The seashore hotel and mountain lodge will not be ready this winter, but they will be made permanent adjuncts of the Pasadena hotels. We want to make Pasadena the greatest resort capital in the world."

LA CANADA OBJECTS.

The suburb of La Canada did not take kindly to the recommendation of County Supt. Mark Keppel that it be annexed to the Glendale High School district, and asked for a special election, to let the residents decide the question, it was learned here today. Many of the residents want the district annexed to the Pasadena High School district.

The request of the La Canada elementary school district board for a special election on the high school question has been granted and the election set for the 29th inst.

"We tried to save the county the expense of the election by asking Mr. Keppel to reconsider his recommendation to the supervisors until he had canvassed opinion in La Canada," said T. Fenton Knight of the La Canada board. "Mr. Keppel declined to reconsider, so our board asked for the election. Before recommending our annexation to the Glendale High School district, Mr. Keppel did not so far as I know, consult with residents of La Canada district, and I know he did not consult the La Canada board."

CITY'S BUDGET.

Pasadena's city budget for the fiscal year 1921-22 will be approximately $1,109,037, it was stated today by City Manager C. W. Koiner, following an all-day conference with members of the City Board of Directors and City Controller George Wood. This budget is about $500,000 larger than last year.

Not only are the city policemen taking gymnastics, as a part of their regular work, but the city firemen are doing likewise. Prescribed games and exercises at the Y.M.C.A. are held in addition to the regular fire department drills.

BURGLARS ROUTED.

Early morning burglars today visited the home of J. P. O'Connor, 53 North Fair Oaks avenue, and Mrs. H. Ahrens, 172 North Vernon avenue. In each instance, occupants awoke from their sleep and discovered the intruders, who hurriedly fled without securing anything.

Policeman J. B. Edwards did a life-saving act at Library Park today. He saved a number of the park goldfish, not from drowning, but from the reverse. He discovered the water in the fish pond had been left on and the pond was running over. Several of the goldfish had been carried over the edge of the pool and were gasping for breath on the lawn, as the water soaked in. Though they wriggled much against being captured, the policemen gathered them all and put them back in the pond before they died for lack of water.

RISING COST OF CITY GOVERNMENT SHOWN.

STATEMENT BY AUDITOR FOR RIVERSIDE REVEALS FACTS ON CONDITIONS.

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

RIVERSIDE, Aug. 12.—How the cost of city, no less than county and State government, is mounting in California, is strikingly illustrated in a statement prepared by City Auditor G. W. Prior.

In this "study in percentages" a remarkable agreement in the rate of population increase for the past ten years as compared with the increase in assessed valuation and receipts from taxation, is seen in the figures.

Riverside's population has increased 27 per cent, tax receipts, 26 per cent and assessed valuation, 28 per cent. On the other hand, the increase in expenditures during the decade has been 88 per cent.

The fact that the increase in expenditures is out of proportion to the increase in valuation and population, as ascribed to the growing tendency to saddle more and more burdens on taxes to provide for educational and humanitarian activities and funds for increased protection for life and property. As concrete illustrations of the latter are cited the revenues required to install and maintain overhead grade crossings and to meet demands arising from the operation of the Workmen's Compensation and Safety Act.

Co-operation with the State in a proposed investigation of the surface and underground water supply of the San Jacinto drainage area, is being considered in conferences being held here between representatives of the towns and communities interested and State officers connected with the division of water rights, Department of Public Works.

It is expected that the State will make an appropriation of at least $5000 for the work, contingent on the raising of a similar amount by the interested communities.

Corona, Elsinore, Perris, Ethanac, Hemet and San Jacinto are among the centers, whose interests in water rights are involved in the proposed investigation.

Firemen Will Judge Bathing Suit Paraders.

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

VENICE, Aug. 12.—Members of the Venice fire department will be judges of the Venice bathing suit parade, which takes place August 21. The police department judged the hosiery show held two months ago, and it now becomes the turn of the firemen to pick the winners in the bathing suit exhibition. The contestants this year must design their own costumes.

Mrs. M. J. Jury, a concession holder on the Pickering pier, appeared before the Commissioners in regular session this morning, requesting that "Brother Isaiah" be permitted to hold meetings on the end of the pier. The Commissioners informed her that it would be impossible to afford proper sanitary conditions there and that the request would be denied. They expressed themselves further to the effect that if there is any efficacy in his healing it should not be commercialized.

TO CELEBRATE MANILA DAY.

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

SOLDIERS' HOME, Aug. 12.—The twenty-second anniversary of the fall of Manila will be observed at the soldiers' home by the Spanish War Veterans tomorrow. There will be delegations from all camps and auxiliaries in Southern California. The plaza stars, from Los Angeles, and the Soldiers' Home teams, will meet on the base ball diamond at 2:30. The buildings and grounds will be inspected during the afternoon. There will be a cafeteria barbecue at 5 o'clock, and at 7 in the evening, speaking and other entertainment in the Home theater. The speakers will be Col. O. K. Marshall and Capt. Ernest A. Lane. Among the entertainers will be Miss Harriet Keena, St. Louis pianist, Prof. Edwin Brooks and a class from the Wallis Dramatic School.

SAN DIEGO TO UPHOLD TRAFFIC REGULATIONS.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

SAN DIEGO, Aug. 12.—The police department and the city operating department will jointly war on traffic violators here to enforce traffic regulations, and so reduce the number of automobile accidents in the city. City Manager Fred A. Rhodes is to co-operate with Chief of Police Patrick in the campaign. The streets will be marked into spaces, where cars can be parked in the business districts.

While the traffic ordinance prescribes the manner in which cars shall be parked in the congested district for some time, the cars have been parked in a haphazard manner, and the police say they have been almost powerless to enforce the regulations.

Street employees are to report any violations they observe, and the police will at once be notified, according to Manager Rhodes's plan. Automobile traffic in the business district has become so heavy of late that the police have need for assistance, and the street department proposes to help out all it can.

Last month there was a great increase of automobile accidents, due, according to Chief of Police Patrick, to violation of traffic laws and the failure of drivers to give traffic signals.

Art Commission More Powerful Than Council.

"Am I to understand the power of the Art Commission is paramount to that of the City Council?"

This was the question raised in Council meeting yesterday by Councilman Mushet and answered in the affirmative.

The matter came up when an opinion from City Attorney Stephens was submitted, quoting the City Charter to the effect that the design of no structure to be erected under the authority of the city upon any land under the control of the city shall be adopted by any board or commission until the design shall have been approved by the Art Commission. Since the Council had no alternative, the report was received and filed. The opinion was asked for in relation to the commission's power to approve or disapprove the design of brackets to be furnished the city by the Acme Signal Company.

FAIL TO FIND AGED MAN.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

AVALON, Aug. 12.—Searching parties returned this evening again unsuccessful in their hunt for William McNaughton, aged 80, of La Verne, who has been missing since Tuesday noon, when he started for a hike in the Catalina hills, according to Marshall Halstead of Avalon. The entire island has been thoroughly searched by hikers, horseback riders and planes. Little hope is held out that the aged Westonian is alive. It is feared that Mr. McNaughton has fallen into one of the numerous ravines as, according to his wife, McNaughton, who suffers lapses of memory, had a habit after dark of making a bee line for the nearest light. More large parties of searchers will leave again tomorrow morning, the search to continue daily until the body is found. A reward of $100 has been offered by Frank Dearden of the Dearden Furniture Company, 724 South Main street, Los Angeles, Mr. McNaughton's son-in-law, for the aged man's rescue.

Three Injured When Two Autos Crash Together.

Two men and one woman were injured late yesterday afternoon as the result of the collision of two automobiles on Western avenue near Eighth street. All of the accident victims were rushed to the Receiving Hospital for treatment and then removed to their homes.

Miss Dot Hunter, 19 years of age, of 1133 West Thirty-sixth street, the most seriously injured of the three, was treated for lacerations of the head and concussion of the brain. According to police surgeons, she will recover.

George Schooling, 33 years of age, of 924 West Thirty-fourth street, who was driving the automobile in which Miss Hunter was riding, was cut and bruised.

H. Jeffers, 64 years old, who was driving the other car, was cut about the head and face by flying glass. Mr. Jeffers is the father of W. P. Jeffers, secretary to the Chief of Police.

Police who investigated the accident stated that the cars crashed together while one of them was attempting to avoid a third machine. The accident, they declare, was unavoidable.

RECEIVER FOR INN.

Barker Brothers Take Action Against St. Ann's at Santa Ana.

U. S. District Judge Bledsoe yesterday appointed W. H. Moore, Jr., receiver of the St. Ann's Inn at Santa Ana, conducted by William Hewins, on the petition of Barker Brothers of this city, who, in their petition filed in the United States District Court, assert that Mr. Hewins is indebted to them for $3733.21.

They also say Mr. Hewins has valuable fittings and furniture in the hotel and a contract to purchase, a matter of $70,000, and that he has debts amounting to $40,000. The bond of the receiver was fixed by the court at $20,000.

Stepfather in Tears as Boy Goes to Parent.

Albert Ball, a farmer of Beaumont, wept when Judge Weyl yesterday granted Homer Cox of Burbank a writ of habeas corpus under which Mr. Ball's stepson, Vader Guy Cox, 10 years of age, was returned to the custody of Mr. Cox, his father.

Mr. Ball, who married the divorced wife of Mr. Cox, has learned to love his stepson. The boy is attached to his stepfather. He did not make an outcry when the court ordered him to leave the room with his father, from whom he had been separated for several years.

Mrs. Ball, who had been granted the custody of her boy at the divorce proceedings, gave Vader to her husband just before she died. He told the court she did not want Mr. Cox to have the lad.

An attempt was made to show that Mr. Cox was not a fit person to have the custody of his son. The court ruled that if the parent is competent, he has the legal right to his own child. Maj. A. J. Copp represented Mr. Ball. Attorney T. T. Todd was counsel for Mr. Cox.

Wm. Clayton, Vice-President and Manager of the Spreckles Co.—"I take a great deal of pleasure in recommending the San Diego Army and Navy Academy as an educational and disciplinary point of view. Miguel Sol has made quite remarkable progress, especially in the last six months. He not only made wonderful improvement in his studies, but what is more than that, a desire to continue to study and to help himself educationally. The officers of the Academy has been to give a boy a broad and constructive view of life. He sees the necessity of discipline and a value of obedience. I have had many letters in the life of every boy and I am glad to say that Miguel is most anxious to return to the Academy. It is the best school he had ever attended. This is a matter of congratulation to you. I am glad you chose things, and you may make any use of this letter you please."

SINGLE G DENT

[BY A. P. NIGHT W

NORTH RANDALL (Cleveland) Aug. 12.—A new season's pacing ecord for one mile was established here today when Single G equaled the mark of 1:59, made in Atlanta by Bill. Single G, driven by Ed Geers, Indianapolis reinsman, was paced by two runners. He went the first quarter in 29½ seconds, the half in 59½ seconds, the three-quarters in 1:29½, and paced the last quarter in 29½ seconds, finishing the mile in 1:59.

With six races, including one heat of the 2:10 pace undinished yesterday on the card, the races were delayed on the two-in-three heats plan which completes the program today. The track was wet in the early part of the program.

The free-for-all pace, the feature of the get-away card, went to Hal Boots, the favorite, but not until several heats had been raced. Dan Ardo was forced to pace the first heat, which furnished the most spectacular finish of the meeting. Five geers set the pace with Dan Ardo throughout, and barely

STRAIGHT SETS IS LOT OF THE BOSTON CRACK.

Davis Cup Committee Watches Coast Star Send Williams Down to Swift Defeat.

BY FRED HAWTHORNE.

SEABRIGHT (N. J.) Aug. 12.—William M. Johnston of [illegible], playing under the appraising eyes of members of the [illegible] cup committee this afternoon in the final round of the single[illegible] of the annual invitation tournament of the Seabright Lawn [illegible] and Cricket Club, administered a crushing defeat to Richard Norris Williams II of Boston, the sets going at 6-0, 6-4, 6-2. The decisive character of his triumph today and the tremendous power and deadly accuracy of Johnston's game as he mowed down his brilliant but erratic Williams down to swift defeat gave the [illegible] ample assurance that America's lawn tennis prestige [illegible] safely be placed on the slender shoulders of the little Californian. Johnston will more than do his part in the defense of the international trophy. I do not think there is a player in the world today who could have stopped the former national champion [illegible] he played against Williams.

[illegible] his victory Johnston won [illegible] to the artistic Seabright [illegible] bowl, which already bears [illegible] of William T. Tilden II, [illegible] champion, and of Watson M. [illegible], who won it last year.

ACE FIRST POINT.

[illegible] began the service and [illegible] and his opponent on the [illegible] crashing a forehand re[illegible] which sent [illegible] deep court. [illegible] never even got his [illegible] and then proceeded to [illegible] game at "love."

[illegible] through at the [illegible] Hill" kept going at dazzling speed and won the second [illegible] of the loss of a point. [illegible] did not seem to be able [illegible] the Californian's service [illegible] seeming to hit the ball [illegible] time and into the net [illegible]

[illegible] was missing his shots [illegible] in many cases, and [illegible] was not giving him much [illegible] to steady down. The [illegible] won the third game, on [illegible] aces, slicing his returns [illegible] opponent's feet, and [illegible] star was having [illegible] the ball away clean[illegible]

[illegible] almost inconceivably short [illegible] Johnston had won [illegible] at "love," piling up 25 [illegible] Williams 7, none of the [illegible] having earned points. [illegible] Williams' turn to start [illegible] in the second set, but [illegible] broke through, [illegible] his opponent's shaky de[illegible] such resistless speed and [illegible] Williams could only pile [illegible] The Californian was not [illegible] the set position often, [illegible] forcing shots off [illegible] making this unneces[illegible]

PEACH IS VICTORIOUS.

Australian Wins First Singles Contest in Davis Cup Tennis Games With Denmark at Mayfield.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

PORTLAND, Aug. 12.—Norman [illegible] of Australia, won the first [illegible] match in the Davis cup tennis [illegible] between Australia and Denmark at the Waverly Country Club [illegible] this afternoon by defeating [illegible] in straight sets, 6-3, 6-4, 6-2. [illegible] had the advantage in his [illegible] of the grass courts while Tegner showed lack of experience on the grass. Tegner played an excellent net game, while Peach was better on the long-distance shots.

J. O. Anderson of Australia defeated Vagn Ingerslev of Denmark, in straight sets, in the second match of the day by scores of 6-0, 6-1 and 7-5, giving the Australians a clean sweep in the first day's play of the singles.

CHARLIE DEAN'S VERSION.

[illegible] days ago an afternoon publication printed a flashy story about [illegible] football team, captain and back-field star of the University of Southern California football team, being jailed [illegible] for fouling in a "prohibition [illegible] beer," July 24. [illegible] was made to appear in the story [illegible] and the athlete and the [illegible] which he is an undergraduate [illegible] were shamed. Dean was [illegible] in which he is an under[illegible] version of the story, [illegible] herewith, as wired by [illegible] to the office of The Times:

"[illegible] was an exhibition [illegible] at stake on account [illegible] being an amateur.

"[illegible] was put up to go [illegible] as a prize, which I [illegible] received, he being [illegible] amateur. I did not re[illegible] any money. If any [illegible] it went to other sources [illegible]

"[illegible] promised me that he would announce between bouts that on account of my amateur standing I was to appear in an exhibition only, with the watch as a prize.

"I cannot say if the referee made this announcement.

"As to the jail sentence. This was nothing more than an appearance before the judge and deposit of $50 which was demanded. The money was put up by the Chief of Police of Calexico and was returned the next morning without any court action.

"No charge was lodged against me. The whole thing was a misunderstanding on the part of the Mexican officials.

"As captain of the U.S.C. football team and knowing the acceptance of any money would put me in the professional class I surely appreciated my position and had better judgment than to do anything that would bring shame upon the university, the football team or myself."

SINGLE G DENTS RECORD.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

[illegible] RANDALL (Cleveland) [illegible] new season's pacing [illegible] one mile was established [illegible] single G equaled [illegible] of 1:59, made in Atlantic [illegible] Single G driven by Ed [illegible] Detroit horseman, was [illegible] two heats. He went the [illegible] in 2:04, second heat in 2:04, the three-quarter [illegible] second, and passed the last [illegible] in 2:04 seconds, finishing the [illegible] lasted to beat the fast-coming Hal Mahone a head, with Frisco June a like distance back.

San Ardo again set a terrific pace in the second heat, but had nothing in reserve when challenged by Hal Mahone in the stretch, and was beaten a length. The third heat was practically a repetition of the second. The summaries:

Walter Cox and Tom Murphy each drove their fourth winners of the meeting. Cox was behind Hilda Fletcher, which took the 2:18 trot.

RUTH AHEAD OF RECORD

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 12.—Babe Ruth hit his forty-fourth home run of the season here in the eighth inning of today's game with the Philadelphia Americans. The ball went into the left-field bleachers. No one was on base.

Ruth made his forty-fourth homer in 1920 on August 26 off Kerr of Chicago in a game at New York. He is now fourteen days ahead of his last year's record.

HOGAN RALLY JARS OAKLAND.

Tigers Come Through in the Ninth, Copping Game.

Trio of Howard's Pitchers Are Bruised in Crisis.

Chadbourne Triples Just at the Proper Moment.

BY HARRY A. WILLIAMS.

Vernon went out and won a ball game, 5 to 4, for itself, and the best theory as to what happened is that the Oaks cracked in the ninth.

It was one of those last-minute rallies which originated in the days of the late Hap Hogan, and have become a tradition with the club.

NEEDED THREE.

They needed three runs to win, and got them by pulverizing three Oakland pitchers in the last ten minutes of play. During those ten minutes everybody thought that a couple of pin wheels had been touched off in a dark corner of the Oakland dugout. What appeared to be pin wheels were merely Firebrand Mitze's eyes whirling around in his head, denoting great astonishment.

Up to the ninth it didn't appear that there would be much to write about or pertaining thereto. It had been just an ordinary dog-day ball game, with two yawns to every bark, and Ray Kremer leading Tony Faeth, 4 to 2. Even the feathers in Bill Essick's victory bonnet looked wilted.

FIRING BEGINS.

Then all of a sudden the Tigers began compiling history. Kremer was flattened by the first to two batters, Hank Allen pitched to two more, Buzz Arlett pitched to the same number, and the game was won almost before you could say scat with a start.

All was unexpected. In the eighth, Essick had experimented with a pinch-hitter for Faeth, and Duke Cross, lone survivor of a bow-legged dynasty, pitched the last round.

Scotty Alcock, who is sitting in at third base temporarily, launched the big doings by opening the ninth with a single. Chet Chadbourne then changed the entire complexion of the game with a triple to center that counted Alcock. Chadbourne, on third, ably represented the tying run, and the once pale pastime now looked florid from our standpoint, and flooey from Oakland's.

JARS HIM LOOSE.

Chet's clout jarred Kremer loose, and Hank Aiten went in to face the victory music. He experimented by passing High, but didn't seem wholly satisfied, so Ham Hyatt changed Hank's system of hitting him for a single. This brought Chad to port, and High went to third when Cooper clawed the ball around some in center.

Coop then threw late to third, and Ham, with a sudden burst of speed, coasted into second base on his massive chest. Hank had enough and to spare by this time, and Buzz Arlett went in with both ears cocked to hear them bustin' overhead. There was a moment of great suspense while Buzz passed P. Samson Schneider, giving the bases a complete cargo.

Truck Hannah and Arlett then fussed and fiddled back and forth until the count stood 3 and 2. Truck then turned the park into a species of poultry yard by fouling off a dozen or so of choice ones. Finally, with the Oak infield drawn in and huddled up in a small grove, Truck touched one fair.

It was a grounder directly at White. Looked like a force-out at the plate with a double on Hannah at first, but the Oakland shortstop fumbled, and had just recovered the ball by falling on it, when High slid through with the winning run. Del Howard was dumfounded and positively refused to talk in a manner fit for publication.

BOTH IN FIRST.

Both counted one in the first, Oakland on Pinelli's walk, Cooper's double and a sacrifice—Vernon on a glittering galaxy of singles by Chadbourne, High and Hyatt. Oaks annexed a pair in the second, White's walk, Pinelli's single and a brace of errors by High and French doing the business. Cooper and Wills walloped a run in the fifth, with Schneider, Hannah and Faeth fashioning Vernon's second run in the sixth.

J. Carlisle Smith, the famous pie pirate, was still nursing his mangled food mitt. Mr. Smith has not yet fully recovered from his recent punitive expedition into the pantry. The score:

JACK TO FIGHT HIS LAWSUITS.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

NEW YORK, Aug. 12.—Jack Dempsey arrived here today from Chicago to do battle with some lawsuits, which are on the docket and which the champion hopes to get a decision over. For some reason or other Jack slunk off immediately after his arrival and frequent calls at the Belmont failed to find him in. Jack Kearns was also among the missing from his usual haunts and it is believed that the champion and his manager went to a law office to figure on their defense.

Tex Rickard was in hopes that Dempsey would drop in on him today to talk over another match with Jess Willard, but Jack had not put in an appearance up to a late hour tonight.

Oxy May Lose Two Stellar Football Men.

A rumor is roaming around these parts to the effect that big Jean Cory and Red Jones will be among the missing when Occidental's football men gather on Patterson Field for the first practice of the season. If such is the case, Oxy's hopes for the long-looked for conference championship will suffer a relapse, for it was largely the work of these two gentlemen that made the left side of the Tiger line almost invincible last year.

Both Cory and Jones played their first season of varsity football last fall, and will be eligible for two years more. Cory, holding down the right guard position on the Occidental squad, was unanimously picked for all-southern guard in 1921, while Jones nailed down a position on the all-conference team by hard fighting as Oxy's left tackle.

If these two linemen do not return to bolster up the Tiger football collection, Oxy's chance to do anything startling next season will undoubtedly go glimmering.

WORM TURNS AND ANGELS GRAB ONE.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 12.—San Francisco failed to take advantage of numerous chances, and Los Angeles won today's game 3 to 1. Statz scored twice, coming in on a sacrifice by Crawford and later stealing home from third. Yelle made San Francisco's only run. The score:

CITY DADS ARE PROMISED THE SERVICES OF GEORGE THOMAS IN MODELING MUNICIPAL LINKS.

BY PAUL LOWRY.

George C. Thomas, the wizard who laid out the new north golf course of the Los Angeles Country Club, is the latest to proffer his services in aiding the construction at Griffith Park of two eighteen-hole municipal courses.

Though he is busy at Uplands exploring humps and hillocks that will serve as natural hazards for the Red Hill course, Thomas says he will devote as much time as possible to the municipal links proposition. He offers to make the plasticine models, from which it is no trick at all for a good superintendent to lay out a course, and to give advice where advice is needed.

This is a proposition which the city dads ought to accept. Thomas is a man that knows the game from A to Z. He has been playing since Hector was a little doggie, and has augmented his playing experience by keen study of architecture of links all over this country and abroad.

Anyone who has strolled over the north course at Los Angeles can well appreciate George Thomas's real ability as an architect. He has taken every advantage of the natural contour of the land, and modeled a links surpassed by few—one that calls for every shot in the bag.

Apropos of the announcement that strides are being made to build two new turf courses at Griffith Park comes a letter from a San Diegan signing himself John S. C. Shaw. The gentleman from the city south of Los Angeles says he is horribly interested in municipal links and makes a plea for a stiff course at Griffith Park. He says that municipal courses are the nursery of future golf champions and that the man who learns to play on a difficult course will always play a sounder game than the man who has picked up a game where wide fairways and unprotected greens are the rule.

The only thing for Los Angeles to do, says Shaw, is to hire the best architect obtainable, regardless of cost, and give him carte blanche to do as he pleases.

Speaking of southern golf courses, the gentleman writes as follows:

"Wilshire is quoted as an example of a difficult course. It is difficult to the point of being impossible. Its hazards are not golf hazards, and it should in no way be accepted as a criterion as what is good or bad, for it is not a golf course. I would suggest that the new Hillcrest and Ambassador courses represent better than any others the modern idea of golf architecture."

Too much tennis at Del Monte, a long auto ride, and being off his game made Maury McLoughlin prey for Harry Minor at Wilshire yesterday by the huge score of 1 up. Both parties to the match admitted that they played poor golf, but confessed they enjoyed the keeness of it very much. Minor was forced to sink a seven-foot putt on the home green to win the bacon, giving him a 4 and putting him in the semifinals of the president's cup tourney.

Golf magazines are blooming just like daisies these days. The Country Club, edited and published by Sherman A. Paddock of Pasadena, is to poke its head above ground the latter part of this month. Paddock says the announcement that a rival is about to start up has not disconcerted him in the least, and he wants his friends to know he is going right ahead with the publication.

Roy Tufts wishes to correct a sad error appearing in these columns. When he sailed a mashie pitch shot into the thirteenth hole at Hollywood some time ago the ball did not trickle across the green and drop in. Rather, it hit the flag, and did the shimmy down the pole into the cup. Roy wishes to preserve this record for future generations to shoot at.

Clare Kemp of the Hollywood Country Club is bulging with pride these days. He defeated an opponent in the summer tourney now going on at Hollywood, and actually made the eighteen holes in something less than 100 strokes.

SAN FRANCISCO MEN TO PLAY FOR TITLE.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

SEATTLE, Aug. 12. — Charles Stickney and Irving Weinstein, both of San Francisco, will fight it out tomorrow for the final event in the men's singles as a result of semi-finals today at the Washington State tennis championships here. After Weinstein had eliminated Marshall Allen, Northwest international titleholder, Stickney defeated Carl Gardner, another San Francisan, 6-2, 9-11, 6-3.

CRUISER RACE TO LADY LUCK.

Commodore Brown's Craft is Motor Boat Victor.

Alert Crosses the Line First in Drifting Race.

Calming of Winds Spoils the Arbitrary Handicap.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

SANTA BARBARA, Aug. 12.—The God of the Winds played the regatta a merry prank today, leaving the yachts entered in the arbitrary handicap with flapping sails after a lively get-away and splitting the main sail of the Galliano. When the schooner race was started the winds let the Henrietta show her racing speed, only to leave her and her sister boats in the race becalmed in the channel, and she had to be towed in because she had no other motive power to rely on.

The arbitrary handicap race was only partly run, on account of sudden calming of the winds, and with half the course finished the Alert, a Santa Barbara boat, crossed the home line first, her time being 1:55:36; the Gretchen was second, time 2:27:58, and the Mischief third, time 2:35:53. The Trilby, of the San Diego Yacht Club, finished in 2:35:53; the Mah Pe, of San Francisco, turned back before half the course was run, because of the winds falling, and the Galliano, with torn mainsail, dropped out immediately after the get-away, disabled.

BRAVE SHOWING.

The schooner race late this afternoon started off with a brave showing, the Henrietta starting out to win. She tacked out to sea in an easterly direction, while the Zahma, Invader and other schooners headed a course almost parallel with the coast. The Henrietta, as a result, held her wind power longer than the others, which soon dropped back into a ripplelss sea and the race was called off. Before the Henrietta could be signaled that the race was off she was far down the coast, and only stopped when the wind had died utterly. The other schooners returned on their own power, but a motor boat had to be sent out to tow in the Henrietta. The attempted race the Zahma made a poor start, but had soon overhauled the Invader.

In the power cruiser race this morning the Lady Luck, owned by Commodore Walter Brown of the Los Angeles Yacht Club, won; the Ardath was second, the Corsair third. The Iris chugged in fourth, and Dustin Farnum's Ding came in fifth. The Ding got a poor start, being seven minutes late in getting over the starting line, but she was rapidly moving to the top of the speeding column when the race ended with laurels for the Lady Luck.

END REGATTA.

The events today concluded the regatta. Tomorrow morning all the visiting craft will weigh anchor for a sail to the islands off the Santa Barbara coast, but no race will be made there. The southern boats will sail on to Avalon, while the northern boats will start at once for San Francisco, according to the program tonight.

The final social feature of the regatta took place tonight, with a dance, distribution of prizes and buffet supper at which Commodore John T. McCurdy of the Santa Barbara Yacht Club paid tribute to the visiting yachtsmen as the trophies were passed out.

The regatta has immensely stimulated the movement here for a breakwater. Petitions are now in circulation, addressed to the City Council, asking that the Council take steps to finance the first units of a protected harbor.

DAVIS CUP TEAM NAMED.

NEW YORK, Aug. 12.—The American Davis cup defending team will consist of William T. Tilden II, William M. Johnston, R. Norris Williams II and Watson M. Washburn, the United States Lawn Tennis Association announced tonight. The players were selected tonight by unanimous decision of the Davis cup committee. Its choice was made known on the last day permitted by the cup regulations.

The challenge round will be played at Forest Hills, N. Y., September 2, 3 and 5. The cup committee consisted of Robert R. Wrenn, George T. Ade, Beals C. Wright, Samuel Hardy and Harold Hackett.

"There was no question of Tilden and Johnston making the team," Samuel Hardy, captain of last year's Davis cup team, declared. "Tilden's condition on his return from England caused considerable uneasiness, but he has been resting most of the time since the Rhode Island State championship and ought to be in good shape for the matches in September. Johnston is playing well and apparently is following his usual course. His season is timed so that he will reach his best form about September 1.

"With two singles players of such ability the committee's problem was to select the combination that would best support them in singles in case Tilden or Johnston should be incapacitated, supposing that they are named for the singles matches. From every point of view Williams and Washburn stood out as the obvious selections. They are players of known skill and experienced in international tennis. As a doubles combination they have won the best tournaments of the year and in singles they have done very well."

West to Have New Golfing Champ Today.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

DENVER, Aug. 12.—A new trans-Mississippi golf association champion will come out of the West tomorrow. He will be either George Von Elm, the 20-year-old Salt Lake City star, or L. D. Bromfield of Denver, Colo., State champion. Von Elm and Bromfield won the right to compete for the title by annexing their semi-final matches today, Von Elm defeating J. C. Ward of Kansas City, Mo., association medalist, six up and five to go, and Bromfield eliminating the fast Texas player, T. B. Cochran of Wichita Falls, Tex., 2 up.

While the Salt Lake City youngster played the best golf of the day, playing so well that in the thirteen holes of the afternoon round, Ward was one down to him, despite a score by Ward of one under par, the thrills were furnished by Cochran, who showed an iron heart and a deadly putter to the crowd that watched the finish of his match.

In the fifteenth, sixteenth and seventeenth holes of the afternoon rounds, Cochran had to seek long putts as Bromfield was playing a steady game.

On the fifteenth Cochran sank a twenty-foot putt, but got only a halved hole. On the sixteenth, after playing out of a bunker to a disadvantage, Cochran holed a fifteen-footer. On the seventeenth, when he was two down and two to go and win the hole he sank a ten-footer after Bromfield had gone to the rim of the cup, but at one up and one to go he could not square the match. His first shot was into the bunker. He recovered nicely but shot his third into another bunker and was on the green in four, while Bromfield was on in two. Bromfield holed a four and Cochran conceded the Colorado man the match.

Von Elm tomorrow will be fighting for his third golf title. He is the holder of the Utah State championship and the Pacific Northwest championship. He won the latter title this June at the Waverly Country Club course in Portland, Or. He won his first title when he was 15 years old, taking the Utah championship. He repeated the following year and won it again last year.

YANKEE MARKSMEN WIN INTERNATIONAL SHOOT.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

LYONS (France) Aug. 12.—American marksmen have won the team championship of the world in the international rifle shooting tournament held here this week. W. R. Stokes of Washington, D. C., won the individual championship of the world, his score of 1056 breaking the previous world's record. He also won first place in the standing, kneeling and prone-shooting event.

The teams' scores follow:

The United States, 5015; Switzerland, 4931; France, 4608; Italy, 4581, and Holland, 4249.

GIANTS TO TAKE ON SUBMARINES TODAY.

The Alexander Giants will have to step some this afternoon when they take on the fast Submarine ball team. The Sub Base is the only team this season to take the Giants' number and they will try for a repeater today.

Tomorrow the strong Standard Oil nine of El Segundo will tangle with the Giants in the fourth game of the five-game series.

Both games will be played at Alameda Park, Thirty-second and Long Beach avenue.

HUGH HALSELL VICTOR ON LINKS.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

DEL MONTE, Aug. 12.—Hugh Halsell of Dallas, Tex., won the qualifying round today of a golf tournament, which is a preliminary to the State championship tourney next month. Halsell's score was 79. Jesse Childs, Sacramento, was second with 81, and Lauren Upson, Sacramento, and Eric Pedley, Del Monte, tied for third honors with 84 each. G. W. Towland won low net with 70.

Miss Edith Cory of Fresno led the women's tournament play today with 99, and Mrs. A. L. Cheney, Los Angeles, was second with 100.

AGGIES AND CARDS SIGN A CONTRACT

Football Teams Play at Palo Alto This Year With Return Game at Corvallis in 1922.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

PORTLAND (Or.) Aug. 12.—James J. Richardson, general manager of student activities at Oregon Agricultural College, announced today the signing of a two-year football contract with Leland Stanford University, the first game to be played at Palo Alto, Oct. 29, 1921, and the second game at Corvallis, Oct. 28, 1922.

Stanford was reluctant at first to enter into a two-year agreement with the Oregon Aggies, but when Richardson conferred personally with Athletic Director Powell and Graduate Manager Fletcher on his recent trip to California, they agreed to the contract. The contracts were received here yesterday and after being signed were returned to Stanford. The signing of Stanford for a game at Corvallis in 1922 gives the Aggies two big conference games at Corvallis next year. The 1922 University of Oregon-Oregon Agricultural College gridiron classic will be played at Corvallis November 18. This season the University of Oregon-Oregon Agricultural College game will be played at Eugene November 19.

MIDDLEWEIGHTS BOX TO A DRAW.

Young George vs. Kid Mexico a Tame Battle.

Richards and Hunefeld Scrap Even Stephen One.

Big Crowd Witnesses Opening of Legion Arena.

Young George and Kid Mexico mulled to a fast draw last night at the opening of the new boxing arena of the Hollywood Legion before a large crowd. Dynamite George had it on the Kid in the early part of their scrap, but took several wallops on the jaw in the two rounds which evened up matters, and the only decision possible was a draw.

In the opening round George took the aggressive, reaching Kid Mexico several times with his powerful right. The Kid countered frequently with a left hook, and the pugs fell into clinches at the end of almost every exchange of swats. The round was a fifty-fifty affair.

Kid Mexico started things in the second verse by rushing George, and if George had been awake he could have ended the fight right there with a lullaby poke. Mexico was wide open. After several minutes of tame clinches, in which the boxers shoved each other around the ring without enthusiasm, George lifted one to Mexico's chin, but failed to follow up his advantage and they clinched again. The Kid forced George to the ropes with a rush, but lost the round when George battered him around in the latter part.

The last two rounds were slightly in Kid Mexico's favor. Mexico had the edge by beating George to the punch. He again knocked George to the ropes in the last frame, but George rallied and put over his right several times before the final gong.

The semi-wind-up also resulted in a draw, Tommy Richards and Willie Hunefeld going it nip and tuck for the four rounds.

Mike O'Leary's bout with Danny Stiles was the best exhibition of the evening, both men standing toe to toe throughout the fight, and exchanging swats with reckless abandon. The decision was a draw.

In the other preliminaries Willies Hunt outpointed Eddie Martin, Bud Souls knocked out Eddie Mason, Gus Williams defeated Ted Frenchie, Frankie Munroe trounced Casey Smith, and the Halbert twins put on a fast exhibition bout. George Blake refereed all bouts in his best manner.

PHILLIES COP BOTH.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

BOSTON, Aug. 12.—Philadelphia hurt Boston's pennant chances by winning both games of a double-header today, 10 to 5, and 4 to 0. Scott and Smith started both games, but the former was hit hard and finished neither, and Smith did not finish the first. The Boston team made twelve hits off Smith in the second game, but could not score. The scores:

When a bride's castles in Spain give way to a practically managed and perfectly run household, the main consideration in her mind is to prepare the best and most nutri- tive meals possible at the least pos- sible cost. And here it is that she discovers—with untold delight—the cottage cheese made by the Los An- geles Creamery Company. Cottage cheese can be made into the most tempting of salads or desserts. Try mixing stuffed olive, finely chopped, into the cottage cheese, then stuffing a tomato with it—garnishing the whole with shredded green peppers. The combination is delicious. Call the Los Angeles Creamery today.

During this warmly depressing season, when hot weather and hot foods seem to be particularly antagonistic, along comes the Ar- rowhead Syrup Co. with its won- drous fruity beverages, as cool and brisk as a morning breeze—to add a zest, unusual and satisfying to the whole day! Arrowhead Syrups are made from the real fruit juices— and are, therefore, not only de- licious, but highly nutritive as well. Concentrated flavors include almost any fruit—one gallon of which, add- ed to four gallons of water, icy cold, makes a drink supreme for all oc- casions. Arrowhead Ginger Ale or Sweet's Root Beer, are also prod- ucts of the Arrowhead Springs Co. Telephone South 331—27965.

To cut fresh bread heat the blade of a knife in hot water. That will prevent crumbling.

Los Angeles mothers, do you know that one carton of Los Angeles Creamery Company's cottage cheese contains as much protein as a pound of beefsteak, and is twice as easy for the little stomach to digest? Children, underweight or with jaded summer appetites, will bail with delight the advent of this palatable dish. They love the rich- ness of it, and desserts—that favorite with all children—can be made the balance wheel of the meal, as well as the treat, if Los Angeles Creamery Company's cottage cheese is temptingly placed before them.

Your appetite needs a vacation as well as you! Give it a real change by taking home some barbecued ham, or spareribs, from 145 N. Main.

After all is said and done Castruccio Brothers Olive Oil (with the red cross on the can) is the real secret of that "finishing touch" to make the salad perfect. Castruccio Brother Olive Oil is packed in sanitary cans and is sold to you in the original can. Every can guar- anteed. Your grocery has this king of imported olive oil, or telephone to the Castruccio store, Vignolo- Giacomino Co., Pico 130, 12811.

Be it ever so costly—no dinner can be truly charming if the ap- pointments are in poor taste. The cool glisten of china—well chosen and in the correct sizes and shapes adds not only beauty, but distinc- tion, even the ordinary family af- fair. Know then—busy homemak- er—that such dinner sets can be purchased from $3.90 up at the Great Western Glass Co., 320 W. Fourth.

Just as the decorative beauty of a room hangs in the treatment of floors and walls, so its cleanliness depends upon the care of these back- ground surfaces. The Acme Clean- ers, 143½ S. Broadway, have gained a reputation far and wide for their skill in cleaning, waxing and polish- ing floors. They also do house- cleaning—"from garret to cellar"— in a day.

Think of it! Over fifty happy years ago the ambitious Home Sewer dis- covered her harbor of dreams come true in the wondrous accomplish- ments of the New Home Sewing Ma- chines. And today it still hums its song of content in the homes of many satisfied millions. Rapid, si- lent and sure, it brings two dresses into the home where one was pos- sible before. The New Home is sold on easy terms—no interest on de- ferred payments—by the Eastern Outfitting Company, 620-626 South Main. Call today.

Haven't you often wished from the very bottom of your heart that you need never see another ant—or moth —or flea—or mosquito or cockroach —again? And if you knew that one remedy—constantly used—would clear them all out—bugs, eggs, lar- vae and all, wouldn't it please you mightily? Then go to the store of Horace Moll, 720 W. 9th, and secure a bottle of Anti-Pest. Be assured, it will do the work.

One has not really seen California unless one has visited the Unique Flower Shop of Lichenberg—at 913 West 7th. Built in quaint imitation of the famous Old Missions, there is nothing quite like it in the whole country. It's worth a whole day's trip to see it—don't miss it!

To test the freshness of an egg, place in a pan of salt water (1-2 cup to 1 quart water,) and if it sinks it is fresh.

To get the maximum of nourish- ment with the minimum of work is what every housewife desires this hot weather—and is what Young's wish to help you accomplish. Two- in one dishes—where the meat and vegetables are cooked together, is one of the answers they submit. Go to one of Young's many markets and secure a nice thick cut of ham and some potatoes. Put the ham to boil for twenty minutes, then place in baking dish, cover with sliced pota- toes, sprinkle with lump of butter and cook in a slow oven forty min- utes.

That, together with a fresh veg- etable salad—the vegetables also to be secured at Young's—will make a perfect meal.

Supposing something goes wrong at your house and all the men folk are away? You really should check up your home tool supply before go- ing to town this morning and be sure you have everything such as hammers, shears, screw drivers, pliers, nails and tacks, or Yankee tools—that you might need in an emergency. You can get them all, priced reasonably—at Mower's Hard- ware Store—933 West 7th.

Wide, cool porches, a game of pool—an impromptu dance—a de- licious home-cooked dinner—just a wonderful "homey" time at Eagle Rock Lodge. Service by appoint- ment. Phone Garvanza 492.

Dinner on Saturday evening is apt to be a sketchy affair unless it is carefully planned in advance. A good dinner doesn't "just happen." It must be planned, course by course, and finally crowned with some nutri- tive and refreshing dessert. Realis- ing this the Hughes Ice Cream Co. has prepared a "Sunday Special," containing layers of vanilla, maple, strawberry and fresh fig. Purchase at a Hughes dealer and take home tonight.

If all is to go well in "the heart of the home" the sink must be in good working order. You can ac- complish nothing—can you—if the sink is stopped up, or slopped up? To remedy such conditions is what Pronto is for. Sprinkle it often down the drain pipes—and your plumber's bills are forever elimi- nated. Order from your grocer.

No matter how tempting the salad may appear—it will lack the defini- tion and accent which are decidedly essential, unless it is crowned with Jevne's mayonnaise. Jevne's mayon- naise is made from the yolks of fresh eggs—whipped into the cream- iest of fluffiness, and bottled ready for instant use. Better even than "mother used to make" and no trouble at all to prepare. Of a cer- tainty your grocer carries it, so or- der some today.

The hostess will anticipate guests with perfect tranquility if she knows she can take them to dine or to tea in the spacious dining and tea room of the Elite Cafe, 641 South Flower. There the Elite's chef prepares the most tempting of crisp salads and dainty sandwiches—frozen de- serts and French pastry—besides delicious dinner dishes, such as chopped chicken and other luscious meats and fish. Take tea or dinner here today.

Is there anything more appe- tizing than the odor of bubbling coffee mingling with the scent of the pines and fern brakes in the depth of some cool, green woods? Espe- cially if one has the all-important knowledge that that coffee is Jevne's? There is nothing like it for that wayside picnic, or for that mat- ter, no other brand can reach it for every day home use.

Left over berries, parsley and let- tuce leaves keep better in the re- frigerator if they are put in air- tight glass jars.

Even though you had not planned to shop today, it will more than pay you to make a trip to the Western Hardware and Arms Co., 513 S. Main, to secure one or more of their special offers in aluminum today. One and one-half-quart percolators, 98 cents; one and one-half-quart double boilers, $1.78; one and one- half-quart tea pots, $1.58; five-quart tea kettles, $2.58; tube cake pans, 98 cents, and four-quart convex ket- tles for $1.69.

Long ago the careful home- maker learned to measure the cost of a loaf of bread by the quality— not by the size. So imagine her joy upon discovering both qualifica- tions included—most emphatically —in the Bear Bread. Finely grained and beautifully browned this "staff of life" has won many a home in Los Angeles. Order it today from your grocer.

How the White House cook cooks fish: Her fish is boiled and placed in a pan, and over it is poured butter and beaten egg. Then it is baked until just a little crisp and served with her own sauce, made from cream, butter, onions, a bit of mashed parsley and a dash of pa- prika.

Try this on your husband! Egg homsette; split and toast English muffins. Butter liberally. Place on each slice a thin piece of ham, then a carefully poached egg. Cover with a light cream sauce.

Choose the flowers for your en- tertainment from the gorgeous ar- rays on display at Lichenberg's, 913 West 7th.

L.A.A.C. BOXERS ARE DISAPPOINTED.

The boxing clash between the boys of the Athletic Club and the Olympic Club in San Francisco next Wednes- day night threatens to be something of a flivver, due to the withdrawal of some of the Winged O boxers.

Opponents for Tanni Stassi, John De Rita, Ad Allegrini and Ad Geyer have pulled in their horns, and so these classy boys will not go north. Six L.A.A.C. scrappers will make the trip—Ed Woolman, 108 pounds; Aug Gotto, 115 pounds; William Zukle, 125 pounds; Joe Gomez, 135 pounds; Charles Jenkisson, 145 pounds, and Max Spindler, 175 pounds,

CATARACT FAILS TO WORRY TYRUS COBB.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

DETROIT, Aug. 12.—A cataract that has developed on his right eye is causing Ty Cobb, manager of the Detroit American League baseball team, little inconvenience, he said here today. It is of only recent de- velopment, Cobb said, adding that until it became more serious he would make no plans for its re- moval.

BIG FRUIT SHIPMENTS.

YETTEM, Aug. 12.—Two and three cars of Thompson grapes have been shipped each day during the last two weeks from the Pacific Fruit Exchange packing-house here. The house will close this week and reopen in about ten days, to handle the Malaga crop. L. C. Campbell is the manager. The Martin ranch at Rayo is shipping a car of Thompson seedless every day and are also erecting a large modern packing- house, which, when completed, will be one of the finest in the valley.

Tanlac Keeps Entire Fam- ily in Excellent Health.

Mrs. Hernberger Gained 15 Pounds After Taking It.

Daughter and Little Chil- dren All Receive Benefit.

"Tanlac just keeps me feeling fine all the time, and I think it's the grandest medicine on earth," said Mrs. Jennie Hernberger of 826 Lu- cile Ave., Los Angeles. Mrs. Hern- berger also owns a home at Hermosa Beach, where she spends a great deal of her time, and is highly es- teemed by a wide circle of friends.

"It was a little over two years ago that I first used Tanlac, and I got such wonderful results from it that I have taken a bottle every few months since just as a general tonic. Before I began taking the medicine I was so weak and wornout I could hardly look after my housework. My appetite was so poor I could scarcely eat anything and what I did man- age to eat seemed to give me no nourishment. I felt tired out and miserable all the time.

"All my efforts to find anything to help me failed until I tried Tan- lac, but I commenced improving right from the day I started taking this medicine, and four bottles built me up fifteen pounds in weight and made me just as healthy as I could ask to be.

"My daughter had a real nervous breakdown and the way Tanlac helped her was simply astonishing. As I said, I take the medicine every once in a while now as a tonic, and give it to the children, too, and it keeps us all in good health all the time. I just can't praise Tanlac enough for what it has done for us."

Tanlac is sold in Los Angeles by the Owl Drug Co. and by leading druggists everywhere.—[Advertise- ment.

Accused of Manslaughter in Diphtheria Case.

Failure to Provide Medical Aid Also Charged.

Remains of Burbank Child Exhumed; Inquest Today.

James W. Salsbury of Chestnut street, Burbank, was arrested yesterday, charged with manslaughter and with failure to provide medical attention for a minor child. The complaint was issued by the District Attorney's office and sworn to by Dep. Dist.-Atty. Burke. In it, Mrs. Salsbury is jointly accused.

Salsbury was held in $5000 bail, which he provided before Judge Reeve. According to Constable Stensland, Mrs. Salsbury will be arrested today, the delay being caused by the fact that she has seven children from whom the constable did not wish to take her last night. Though she was not in custody, $5000 bond for her was also provided before Judge Reeve last night.

Wilma Salsbury, 5-year-old daughter of the pair, died on the 8th inst., and the complaint recites that the child died of diphtheria without having received medical attention of any sort and that after the death a physician was called in, a death certificate issued and a "Diphtheria" sign posted on the house.

Yesterday at 4 p.m. the body was exhumed by order of Coroner Nance. Dr. A. F. Wagner performed an autopsy and stated that death was caused by diphtheria. The autopsy was held at the undertaking establishment of A. C. Fillbach and was attended by Dr. A. E. W. Yale, city health officer of Burbank. Dep. Dist.-Attys. Hunter and Jones investigated the case. An inquest will be held at 10 a.m. today.

DE MILLE WILL PIONEER.

Director-General to Hunt in Wild Forest Section.

Vacationing in earnest for the first time in many moons, Cecil B. De Mille will leave for the high Sierras in a few days intent upon the acquisition of at least one grizzly's scalp and whatever incidental game that may fall before his gun.

Accompanied by his business manager, John Fisher, he plans to invade a portion of the State of California practically unknown to white men. The place in question is a lost canyon that was recently discovered by forest rangers and which they report to be teeming with big game and trout.

According to the report of the forestry officials, the entrance to this canyon was recently opened by a landslide. Two who investigated discovered that the fishing was unusually good. Their sport was marred, however, by the appearance of a grizzly, a brown and a black bear within a single day.

Messrs. De Mille and Fisher will spend two days at the De Mille ranch testing out their guns before starting. This precaution is necessary because of the formidable reputation which the grizzly bear carries.

PIANIST TO GIVE FAREWELL RECITAL.

Preliminary to his departure to the East to continue his musical studies, Harry J. Nielsen, pianist, will give a recital tonight at the Friday Morning Clubhouse. He will be assisted by Adele von Kiss, soprano.

Mr. Nielsen has been a pupil of Vernon Spencer and Julian Pascal in this city. He plans to leave for New York the 30th inst., there to continue his schooling with Sigmund Stojowski. His intention is to remain about two years in the eastern metropolis, and then to go to Paris, where, if possible, he will continue his student career under the instruction of Isidor Philipp.

For a young man Mr. Nielsen is highly regarded for his interpretations of the moderns, like Debussy, Ravel and Scriabine. On his present program he will include one number by Debussy, "Danseuses de Delphes." He will also play several compositions by his teacher, Mr. Pascal.

His main group will be made up of Chopin numbers, including preludes, waltzes, etudes and Fantasie-Impromptu.

Miss Von Kiss will sing compositions of Giordani, Bizet, Gounod, Tosti, J. Rogers, Zeller and others.

MANY YEARS MARRIED, NOW SEEKS FREEDOM.

After twenty-seven years of married life and with three children, all older than 21 years of age, June E. Guard yesterday filed a divorce action against William B. Guard, charging that he deserted her Nov. 20, 1919. Mr. Guard, who is now in Northern California, is the son of the late George C. Guard, who, twenty-five years ago, held the position of United States Marshal in Los Angeles. Attorney Henry E. Carter filed the complaint for Mrs. Guard.

EULOGIES FOR CARUSO.

Signor Giovanni Piuma, Italian Consul to the city of Los Angeles, and G. Andreini, editor of La Patria, the Italian newspaper of this city, will deliver three-minute eulogies on Enrico Caruso at the Caruso Memorial Concert which will be rendered at Grauman's Theater tomorrow morning. Signor Piuma, a friend of the immortal tenor, will deliver an address on the beauty of the singer's life, of his love for music and other appropriate subjects. Mr. Andreini will speak of the career of Caruso. Signors Ettore Campana, baritone, and Carlo Bravo, tenor, will sing solos from grand opera made famous by Caruso. In duet, they will render "Solenne in Quest' Ora," a favorite of Caruso and Scotti.

KATHLEEN NORRIS HERE.

Kathleen Norris has arrived here to confer with Samuel Goldwyn, president of the Goldwyn Pictures, and Paul Bern, scenario editor, regarding a story of hers which will soon go into production. It has not yet been decided whether this will be written directly for the screen or whether it will be an adaptation of one of her published stories. Mrs. Norris, who was accompanied by her husband, C. G. Norris, came from their ranch near San Jose. Since returning in April from an extended tour of Europe, both have been busy with their literary work. Mrs. Norris is the author of numerous short stories and novels, among them being "The Rich Mrs. Burgoyne," "Poor Dear Margaret Kirby," "Saturday's Child," "Martie, the Unconquered," "Undertow" and "Sisters."

Efficient Housekeeping

BY Laura A Kirkman

WHAT RUG SHALL I BUY?

Several of my readers have asked to write an article on rugs. Rugs are classified according to weave, as ingrain, pile and tufted.

Ingrain rugs are woven like cloth, with a warp and woof, and they may be used with either side up. These are inexpensive and give splendid service in bedrooms, but most housewives prefer a pile or a tufted rug for living room and dining room.

The pile weave includes both Brussels and Wilton rugs. A Brussels has only one usable side. It is woven with a look stitch in which one thread is woven over the next, the woolen thread which constitutes the pile being looped in the warp and held in these loops by steel wires; when the rug is almost completed, these wires are drawn out and the loops thus left make the pile surface. There are two grades of Brussels—"body Brussels" and "tapestry Brussels;" the former is the better choice, as the latter has a good deal of sizing in it and must, therefore be dryecleaned rather than steam-cleaned.

A Wilton rug is simply a cut Brussels. That is, the pile (the looped surface) is cut, thus giving a velvet-like surface. Brussels and Wilton rugs are a fine choice for either dining room or living room.

The Tufted weave includes Axminster, Chenille and Oriental rugs. An Axminster is more reasonable than a Wilton rug but less serviceable because the tufts loosen easily. They are more trouble to clean, as they shed much lint. But they do fill a very real need in the homes of people who cannot afford a Brussels or a Wilton rug; they are equally as effective on the floor and enable many a financially limited young couple to obtain decorative harmony at low cost.

Chenille rugs are a little beyond the financial reach of most of us. They are the most expensive of our domestic, or of European, rugs. They are like Wilton in weave and like Axminster in appearance. Many persons use them in place of Oriental rugs, although of course they are not a good substitute from a standpoint of art or durability. The cost of a Chenille rug depends upon its depth of pile and the richness of its coloring. Cotton Chenilles are frequently seen on bathroom floors; these are inexpensive and are reversable and washable.

Oriental rugs are perhaps the one thing that we'd all like to own! They are the most expensive rugs in the world. They are hand-tufted and are made by stretching the warp thread in a frame and then looping in short or long threads of wool filling; before finishing the rug, this filling is sheared down so as to make an even surface to the rug. A genuine Persian rug is never even in shape. For no Persian will make a perfectly symmetrical rug because he says that "nothing is perfect but Allah."

Before finishing this article, I must mention the splendid new linoleum rugs, the hemp and grass rugs, and the rag rugs. These inexpensive and easily cleaned rugs are a blessing to the housekeeper, and no little bride should overlook them when planning the floor coverings of her rooms and porch.

[All inquiries addressed to Miss Kirkman, in care of the "Efficient Housekeeping" department, will be answered in these columns in their turn. This requires considerable time, however, owing to the great number received. So if a personal or quicker reply is desired, a stamped, self-addressed envelope must be inclosed with the question.—The Editor.

ATTEMPTS TO KILL?

Wife Says Husband Chased Her and Nagged About Expenses.

Elizabeth Monroe complains in a divorce action filed yesterday against Claude Monroe that the defendant complained about the expense incurred when she attended at her father's funeral and that he continuously nagged her about money. But the basis of the action is the citation of three purported attempts upon her life. The defendant is said to have chased his wife with a butcher knife down a flight of stairs, knocking three men over in this pursuit. He was arrested later and fined $60 for disturbing the peace. Another time it is represented that he flourished a shot gun and that the action by the mother of the plaintiff in locking her in a room probably saved her life. The defendant is said to have threatened to commit suicide on two occasions.

OCEANSIDE IS LOSER.

Decision Denying Houk Bequest is Upheld by Supreme Court.

The Supreme Court has affirmed the judgment of the Superior Court of San Diego county, in favor of the administrator and executor of the estate of George Houk, the millionaire, who accumulated a large estate making the Houk wire wheel, relative to a gift of the deceased to the city of Oceanside, amounting to $100,000.

In the Houk will there was a provision for a gift of $100,000 to Oceanside, provided the municipality raised a similar amount, for the construction of a pleasure pier at that place. The money was never raised by Oceanside, but suit was brought by the city to get the Houk money. The lower court held against the city. This view is affirmed by the Supreme Court.

WILLIE IN BAD AGAIN.

Disappears in Father's Car While on Parole; Faces Simple Life.

"Wild" Willie Teasley of Glendale, 15 years of age, who took a shot at his father and wounded him in the hand, then fled to the hills and lay concealed until hunger drove him out, has added to his adventure.

After the Juvenile Court had released him in the custody of his mother, who is separated from his father, Willie left home, taking his father's automobile. When he did not return a bench warrant was issued for him. He came back after several weeks and yesterday was before Judge Weyl, who read the riot act to him.

On Willie's promise to be good, he was again released to his mother. The case was continued for a week. Meantime, the court will try to find a ranch where Willie may be sent to work off some of his enthusiasm.

WAR HEROES WILL BE PASSION PLAY GUESTS.

Fifty disabled veterans of the World War will be guests of the Pilgrimage Play Association at El Camino Real Theater this evening to witness the Passion Play. Cooperating with directors of the play in their hospitality to these soldier heroes is the Lady Bountiful, who has entertained large groups at the play, but who has never permitted her name to be mentioned. She is supplying a large sightseeing car for the transportation of the soldiers. Three "special nights" for the Pilgrimage Play for next week have been announced as follows: On Wednesday the Chamber of Commerce will entertain several hundreds of visiting delegates to buyers' week; Pasadena will have a night on Thursday; Long Beach residents will attend many hundred strong on Friday.

The Daily Fun Hour.

BY HONOR WALSH.

RUN, BACON RUN!

Two parallel lines are drawn about forty feet apart. Beyond these lines the players are safe. The center space is called the Pen. One player, counted out as Possum, stands in the Pen, and calls: "Ham, Ham, Chicken!" or "Ham, Ham and Yam!" The players do not run for any of these. It is only when the word "Bacon" is uttered by the Possum that they must all rush across to the opposite line with the Possum chasing them. Any one he tags becomes a Coon and must remain with him to help chase the other players whenever the real starting signal is given, thus "Ham, Ham, Bacon!"

The Possum tries constantly to trick the others into making a wrong start, for any one who begins to run at a false alarm becomes a Coon and must go into the Pen. Thus the Possum may call out "Ham, Hahn, Bakery!" or "Ham, Ham, Bayonet!" and some player hearing the first syllable of the signal word "Bacon" is apt to start, and is so captured. The first player caught, either by tagging or by a false start, becomes Possum for the next game.

Another tantalizing feature of Run, Bacon, Run! is that any of the captured Coons has the privilege of calling the signal "Ham, Ham, Bacon!" but a player who begins to run on any call not uttered by the Possum himself is gathered into the Pen.

WHY

DOES A BOY'S VOICE "BREAK"?

[Copyright, 1921, by The Wheeler Syndicate, Inc.]

One of the striking differences between the sexes is the fact that the vocal chords or the voice-box of the male enlarges comparatively suddenly, when the boy is about 14 or 15 years of age, while that of the female grows gradually along with the rest of her body. Boys' voices, therefore, "break" or suddenly alter their pitch, while those of girls are not subject to this peculiarity.

This difference in development is due to the fact that the larynx of the male is much larger in proportion than that of the female, thus giving men deeper and more bass voice than women, whose larynxes have grown gradually, and have not been subject to any sudden enlargement. But, while girls go along year after year using their vocal chords with the ease of long practice, the boy of 14 or 15 usually finds that a change has taken place in his voice, almost overnight. As a matter of fact, his larynx has enlarged, and, as he is not familiar with the right way in which to use it, his voice frequently "breaks"—he will use the treble notes of childhood and the bass notes of young manhood in the same sentences. As soon as he becomes accustomed to this change in his throat, he is able to control his tones, but until he learns to do this, he suffers from a vocal complaint common to practically all males of his age.

Tomorrow—Why do sparks follow the striking of stone with metal?

Asserted I.W.W. Facing Trial as Syndicalist.

W. I. Fruit, charged with criminal syndicalism, must stand trial under the indictment returned against him by the county grand jury.

In Judge Conley's court yesterday after a long argument of the demurrer to the indictment, the court overruled the motion and fixed next Tuesday as the date for the setting of the trial. Fruit pleaded not guilty.

It is charged that he with others were the active agents of the local I.W.W., and that he circulated leaflets, magazines and other publications extolling the virtues of the Industrial Workers of the World, and decrying orderly government.

The following prisoners pleaded guilty as charged:

Miguel Contreras, burglary; Victor Casanora, burglary; C. A. Stevens, grand larceny, and Louis Torres, grand larceny.
